

A Cheerful Personality.

There is no power so strong, so potent, so dominating as the power of personality. When the members of a household bring this power in the fullest charm to bear on the household of life, the household at once becomes the home. No resources of wealth can give, no limitations of poverty can take away, this all conquering force. And while charm of personality is to some extent, indeed to a very great degree, a natural gift—it can also be very successfully cultivated and it is the duty of every human being to endeavor to cultivate it. Brightness and gloom effectually shut out all the gladness and sunshine of life; and taking those away there is also taken away the working force, the energy that forms the motive. In a happy and peaceful frame of mind all work, or even cares, are comparatively easy to bear; in momentary, or bitterness, they are quite the reverse. It is just as easy to have the manner of pleasantness, ease, for response, as it is to go out in a very atmosphere of the hidden and repellent. Thought is the one and only force, and it is perfectly easy to think on those things that are pleasant and lovely and of good report. It is largely a habit of mind, and good habits, as well as bad ones, are to a great extent a matter of formation for one's self. Good spirits, as they are called, are half the battle. Any work half done already if entered upon with a cheerful frame of mind. A most important part of the education of children lies in cultivating the habit of looking on the pleasant side of things rather than reverse. There is moral efficacy in a joke, and humor are the salt that keeps the savor. To be able to take light of the little ills and accidents of life is to hold the controlling power over them. There is no experience more disheartening than to encounter the person who, in response to one's usual inquiry as to health and general outlook, responds drearily and gloomily. Such a disposition makes the encounter with its possessor a burden—like an avalanche hanging on one. It is a serious fault, and one that can and should be overcome. No one has any moral right to go about the world in a state of gloom carrying with him a bitter, repellent atmosphere. Life is given to be glad in; to use worthily; to make the most of for ourselves and for others. To be pleasant, to be agreeable and responsive and cheerful and uplifting is an important part of the personal duties of life.

SELINGSGROVE.

About 2 o'clock last Thursday morning Mr. Bernhardt Heider of 10th High street, was taken with congestive chill and by 5 o'clock, three hours later, he died. Mr. Heider was a quiet, industrious and amicable citizen and came to this country from Saxony, Germany, when a young man. He leaves a wife and a large family of children, mostly grown up. The funeral took place last Sunday afternoon and was largely attended. Rev. J. Yutzy preached the funeral sermon. Thanksgiving union services will be held in the 2nd Lutheran church on Thanksgiving Day. Rev. Wm. A. Hays of the Reformed church will preach the sermon. We noticed Rev. M. L. Shindel of Danville, was in town last Tuesday. There will be a turkey supper in Mr. Franklin Schoch's store room on Thanksgiving Day. All are invited to come and satisfy themselves. The proceeds are for repairing the 2nd Lutheran church of this place. The great event of the week in our city will be the wedding of Photographer Reuben Ulrich to-day (Tuesday) to Mrs. Lura Kepler, eldest daughter of Isaac Koehler. Reuben waited long and patiently but at last found the idol of his heart. May long life and joy accompany them through life's journey. Meston.

BEAVERTOWN.

Joseph Middleswarth treated his horse to a coat of paint. Winey Bros. shipped a lot of dressed fowls to Wilkesbarre last Friday. Reuben Lehman purchased thirty acres of land from John F. Middleswarth. J. Specht, son of Sheriff-elect Specht, is confined to his bed with typhoid fever but is some better at this writing. On last Sunday evening Mr. John D. Haines of this place was married to one of Adamsburg's fair young ladies in the person of Miss Mollie Bilger. They will please accept the congratulations of the Old Roses. Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Hassinger, of Union county, visited by R. F. Hassinger and family on their last week. Calvin Dreese, of Leedsdale, is visiting his parents at this place. There are some persons in this town who imagine they are winning popularity by making fools, as they term it, of old and feeble-minded people. If these same persons have not yet learned to respect old age and gray hair it is time they do so. They should bear in mind the fact that they too may grow old and become weak-minded. If such persons knew what respectable people think of their actions they would perhaps devote some of their time to wholesome literature or something else which would benefit them more than simply imagining themselves smart. THE BEST PLASTER.—Damped a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it on over the seat of pain. It is better than any plaster. When the lungs are sore such an application on the chest and another on the back, between the shoulder blades, will often prevent pneumonia. There is nothing so good for a lame back or a pain in the side. A sore throat can nearly always be cured in one night by applying a flannel bandage dampened with Pain Balm. 50 cent bottles for sale by G. M. Shindel, Middleburgh, and J. W. Sampel, Penns Creek.
