WHEN a man has battled with poverty all his life, hearing as he fought it, feeling for its skinny throat to throttle, and yet dreading all the while the coming of the time when it would gain the mastery and throttle him...

"No, it is not Rogers. Rogers is a good man. But—it is not Rogers." "Then I think in an important matter like this Mr. Rogers, or some one who knows the business as thoroughly as he does, would be able to give you advice that would be of some value."

do. But just put it on the friendly basis." "A moment later she said: '— join me in this business. I make you this offer entirely from a friendly, and not from a financial, standpoint, hoping that you like me well enough to be associated with me.'"

There is in our English language a small portion which, I propose, by God's help, to haul out of its present insignificance and set upon the throne where it belongs, and that is the conjunction "if."

amine the title. But I allowed for your own life, and some of you have allowed for years of your lifetime, "if" to toss up and down questions of "if" to you here to-day may decide. Strange that than that have not to fight forever the "if" of uncertainty.

Most Periculous Winds, are the samiel or hot winds of Egypt. They come from the deserts to the south west, and bring with them infinite quantities of fine dust, which penetrates even the minutest crevice.

When a man bows for prayer, he puts his knee on an "if." The door through which people pass into infidelity and atheism and materialism has two doorposts, and the one is made of the letter "if" and the other of the letter "e."
