The Hawaiian Minority Report.

The Republican members of the Foreign Affairs Committee have finished the minority report on the resolutions presented by Chairman McCreary on the day Congress adjourned as a substitute for the Hitt resolution. It goes in detail into the whole history of Mr. Blount's appointment as Commissioner Paramount and the course of the administration.

The preamble recites that it has been disclosed that the executive department has been furnishing to a minister plenipotentiary secret instructions to conspire with the representatives and agents of a deposed and discarded monarchy for the overthrow of a friendly republican government, duly recognized by all the civilized nations to which said minister was accredited, and to which his public instructions pleased, the good faith and sympathy of the president, the government and the people of the United States.

The resolution is that such intervention by the Executive is a dangerous and unwarranted invasion of the rights and dignities of the Congress of the United States and a violation of the law of nations, and further that the manner of such intervention and the methods used are unworthy of the Executive, while the confessed intent of such intervention is contrary to the policy and traditions of the republic and the spirit of the Constitution.

THE PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION.

Over 5,000 People Wish Him and Mrs. Cleveland a Happy New Year.

The official social season in Washington began on New Year's Day with the regular New Year's reception at the White House. The general public attended the reception in greater numbers than on any New Year's Day for years past. So great was the throng that it became necessary to double form two lines, one extending to Seventeenth street, and the other to the Treasury.

It was after 10 o'clock before they were permitted to enter. All the receiving party with the exception of the President and Mrs. Cleveland, withdrew from the Blue Room after the official contingent had passed. The crowd of commoners was estimated at 3,000. A handshaking was the President and a handshake and a smile from Mrs. Cleveland were given every man, woman and child, white and black, who passed.

It was nearly 8 o'clock when the last of the general public shook hands with the President and Mrs. Cleveland, and the New Year's reception of 1894 ended.

A COLLAPSE OF INDUSTRY.

DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE

For the Past Year. A Drop in Business Which is Almost Without a Precedent.

R. G. Dun & Co's Weekly Review of Trade, New York, says, under the caption, "The Year 1893":

Starting with the largest trade ever known, mills crowded with work and all business stimulated by high hopes, the year 1893 has proved, in sudden shrinkage of trade, in commercial disasters and in depression of industries, the worst for 50 years. Whether the final results of the panic of 1837 were relatively more severe, the scanty records of that time do not clearly show. The year closes with the prices of many products the lowest ever known, with millions of workers seeking in vain for work, and with charity laboring to keep back suffering and starvation in all our cities. All hope that the new year may bring brighter days, but the dying year leaves only dismal record.

The review of different departments of trade exhibits a collapse of industry and business which is almost without precedent. The iron industry sustained a weekly production of 181,251 tons up May 1, but by October 1 the output had fallen 107,838 tons, and the recovery to about 100,000 December still leaves 40 per cent of the force unemployed.

Over half the woolen manufacture is idle, and, excepting a brief recovery in November, has been ever since new wool came in May, reported at the three chief markets in the eight months have been set at 196,793, 450 pounds, partly for speculation, the price having fallen 20 per cent for fleece to the lowest point ever known, against 212,330,000 pounds in the same months last year. Sales are at a quarter below the usual quantity. The small advance attended in boots and shoes a year ago, was not sustained, but with prices as low as ever, the shipments of boots and shoes from Boston are 24 per cent less than last year in December.

Not only manufactured goods of a whole, but the most important farm products are so low that farmers find little comfort. Official and other reports deluded traders with the hope that crops of last year were so short that some prices could be realized on purchases. Enormous stocks were bought and held with the aid of banks until heavy receipts in the spring caused a collapse of wheat, pork and cotton prices.

Disaster failures helped to produce the slack which some negligence of police, or but, but even at the worst hour of panic, prices were scarcely lower than they are now.

Wheat has repeatedly sold here and at Chicago at the lowest price ever known, and it is half a cent above it now. Pork fell 17 in an hour when the speculation burst, but fell lower today. Cotton was lifted a cent with accounts of the scarcity in September, but has lost most of the gain and sells below the usual price. Unreasonable speculation, by preventing the sale of surplus product, have proved a great injury to farmers, and when their enforced curtailment of purchases is disastrous to all other industries.

Clear evidence of the shrinkage in different branches of business is afforded by answers already received to several thousand requests for figures on sales during the last half of 1893 and 1892. Full information of the results will be given hereafter, but returns of the textile mills already show a decline in sales of 25 per cent. Now sales amounting to $48,375,573, against $70,347,882 last year, a decrease of 31 per cent.

Iron returns thus far aggregate $40,000,000 against $53,000,000 last year, a decrease of 25 per cent. Reports thus far of jewelry show a decrease of 29 per cent of furniture 20 per cent of dry goods, 21 per cent of hats, 15.50 per cent of hardware, 17 per cent of shoe manufactures, 15 per cent of agricultural machinery, 10 per cent of clothing, 10 per cent.

It is curious that the only trade showing any increase as yet is in groceries, the aggregate sales being 1 per cent larger than in the last half of 1892.

In years covered by the records of this agency, the number of failures has only once risen a little above 16,000 in a year. In 1893 the number reported has been 16,639. The aggregate of the liabilities in all failures reported in six years prior to 1892, was $291,000,000. This year the strictly commercial liabilities alone have exceeded $31,422,000, the liabilities of banking and financial institutions have been $210,000,000 and the liabilities of railroads placed in the hands of receivers about $1,327,000,000.

All reports hitherto have been to some extent erroneous through inclusion of failures not strictly commercial, the classified returns show 3,226 manufacturing failures with liabilities of $194,707,449, and 8,413 failures in legitimate trade with liabilities of $58,327,896, and 802 other failures including brokers and speculators, with liabilities of $36,003,755. The average of liabilities in manufacturing is $59,000 in legitimate trading $8,000 and other failures $11,000.

MADE A GOOD HAUL.

An Express Messenger Knocked Down and Robbed by a Negro.

As express messengers A. F. McCulloch and F. Neardall were transferring their express bags from the Texas & Pacific passenger train to the New Orleans Pacific train at Marshall Texas, McCulloch was knocked down by a negro who snatched a pouch from him and ran. Neardall fired one shot at the robber as he fled but failed to stop him. The robbery was committed on the depot platform under the glow of electric lights, while there were probably one hundred people standing around. The express people did not tell the amount secured, but it is estimated at from $5,000 to $8,000.

Balances Decreasing.
Exclusive of Saturday's business the receipts of the Government for the month of December have been $26,027,867 and the expenditures $29,178,519, leaving a deficiency of receipts over expenditures of $3,150,652. The receipts for the fiscal year to date have been $153,431,314 and the expenditures $189,500,832, a deficiency of receipts over expenditures for practically half the year of $34,069,518.

The treasury balance is $80,261,157, a decrease of $5,938,459 during ten months. Net gold is $84,475,335, decrease since the 1st of $1,463,714 and the currency balance is $7,785,822, a decrease of $4,454,745.

A DRUNKEN MAN'S ACT.

He Deliberately Roasts Himself, Family and Mother-in-Law to Death.

Twenty-Eight Drowned.
A dispatch from Nini Novgorod, Russia, states that during a charity carnival, held on the Volga river, the ice broke and a large number of people fell into the river. Twenty-eight persons were drowned before assistance could reach them. It is thought that some of those who were rescued will die from the effects of the shock and exposure.

INDERGAST IS GUILTY.

ASSIN OF CHICAGO'S MAYOR

ned to Hang. The Condemned Man was an Occupant of Murderer's Row With a Death-Watch Set on Him.

lest the law shall interfere, Patrick Prendergast, the murderer of Chicago Mayor, Carter H. Harrison, will die in the gallows. Twelve representative citizens of Cook County on Friday afternoon judged him responsible for his cowardly deed on the night of October 28, and the watch now sits outside his cell in the city jail at Chicago. The verdict of the jury agreed upon after a deliberation of a cover an hour. Prendergast "crossed" self, according to the Catholic faith, as it was announced, but uttered no word.

Preston Harrison was the first to approach Attorney Trade and thank him earnestly for his services and personal interest in seeing justice to the murderer of his father. His remarks were free from exultant feeling. He believed that justice only had been done.

Prendergast created no scene when he was returned to his cell, and the verdict was kept from his fellow prisoners as long as possible. They soon received word through visitors, however, and Jailer Morris removed the condemned man at once to "Murderer's row," his cell being that next to Painter, who has been given a respite by Gov. Aligned until January 12. Prendergast went word that he would not see any visitors, newspaper men especially.

Shortly after Prendergast had arrived at the jail he was called on by his brother John. The meeting between the brothers was painful. They shook hands silently and neither spoke for several minutes. Then John said:

"Don't lose hope Gene, we'll do all we can for you."

The assassin bowed his head but made no reply. Later he talked quietly to his brother for some time. During the evening Messrs. McCreary, Essex and Heron, his attorneys, called upon him and talked to him in a manner calculated to cheer him up, but their efforts did not appear to have the desired effect. The awfulness of his sentence seemed to have cowed the assassin and to have broken his spirit.

From the evening of October 28, when Prendergast fired the fatal shots which murdered the city's chief executive, until the end of his trial, one of the most prominent and powerful motives which has seemed to actuate him has been an abject fear that through some negligence of police or sheriff's deputies he might become the victim of mob violence. November 1, on the way to Graceland where the body of Mayor Harrison was placed in a vault, the procession passed by the jail, where Prendergast was confined. He was in abject fear and asked his attendants for stronger protection. So great was his apprehension that in their grief for the murdered mayor the people might become uncontrollable and mob the jail that he tried to hide under the cot in his cell.

FARMS OF PENNSYLVANIA.
Important Statistics From the Census Bureau.

Secretary Edge of the State Board of Agriculture of Harrisburg has secured from the census bureau at Washington a tabular statement of farms in the various counties of Pennsylvania, including lands, "waste" according to the census returns will be published hereafter.

A forthcoming annual report with a tabulated statement of farms in the state according to the census of 1880 and the estimated value of farm products in 1880 and 1893.

The census of 1880 shows a decrease in the farm valuation of Pennsylvania of $54,442,177 from that of 1850, when the total valuation was $975,689,410. Only 22 counties shows gains in the valuation of their farms over the census of 1850, and nearly all of them are in the western part of the state, where oil, gas and coal were discovered during the intervening time between the census of 1850 and that of 1880.

The farm valuation in the state according to the census of 1880 was $467,576,696. The census of 1893 gives the valuation at $692,657,707, 1870 $1,043,481,882, 1880 $975,689,410, 1850 $522,240,225. The high water mark in the farm valuation of Pennsylvania was reached between the census of 1860 and that of 1870, during the war period, when wheat sold at $3 a bushel and other farm products correspondingly in price. The difference between the farm valuation given by the census of 1870 and the last census is $121,241,349 or a loss of less than 11.75 per cent.

The 22 farms which show an increase in their farm valuation in the census of 1893 over the previous census are Allegheny, where there has been an increase of $6,667,374; Beaver, $1,111,301; Cambria, $399,172; Cameron, $67,190; Carbon, $221,648; Clearfield, $1,198,597; Crawford, $1,660,875; Forest, $1,040,000; Greene, $1,863,662; Indiana, $1,514,818; Jefferson, $89,866; Lackawanna, $83,692; Lycoming, $333,278; McKean, $131,611; Montgomery, $2,929,270; Philadelphia, $1,369,810; Pike, $330,207; Porter, $899,705; Sullivan, $1,204,941; Venango, $178,142; Wayne, $30,963; Westmoreland, $2,033,670.

The largest increase has been in Allegheny county, the census of 1880 giving its valuation at $40,411,956, and that of 1890 at $47,079,330.

The estimate of 1890 gives the aggregate value of farm products in the state at $121,328,348, or $8,432,128 less than the estimate made 10 years previous. Allegheny shows a decrease of $74,718; Armstrong, $286,172; Butler, $208,098; Fayette, $102,171; Lawrence, $72,531; Adams, $45,000; Blair, $11,908; Columbia, $375,049; Cumberland, $429,283; Franklin, $39,894; Juniata, $109,925.

In a few counties there has been a decrease in farm valuation and an increase in the value of farm products.

A GREAT BOSTON FIRE.

The Globe Theater Burned and the Drygoods District Scorched.

The Globe theater at Boston, Mass., burned early Tuesday morning. The fire raged furiously and threatened to take in the whole square bounded by Washington and Essex streets and Hay ward place.

The inflammable nature of the scenery and properties of the Hanlon's Superba Company helped on the blaze, and little effect was made on it by the water. The theater will be a total loss.

At this writing the large six-story building just erected by the Harvard college trustees had caught and every effort is being made to save it. It looks as if the entire block on the Harrison avenue extension would be swallowed up. During the progress of the fire several severe explosions occurred which proved to be the powder and cartridges owned by the Hanlon Company, who are playing there this week. It is stated that every particle of the wardrobe of the company has been lost.

Animals Love Their Wildness.

The strange way in which animals change their habits of life, owing to their environments, is nowhere more apparent than in menageries. It would hardly be imagined that the slow, phlegmatic Galapagos turtle could ever be converted into almost a lively animal, ever on the watch for some visitors who might offer it a cracker or a nut.

In the Central Park menagerie, according to the New York Tribune, these unwieldy tortoises can be seen to raise themselves by their forefeet on the wirework and stretch out their necks to get the offered gift. It is strange to see them dividing and almost quarrelling with the rabbits when some small boy throws a handful of grass into the inclosure. The rabbits sit down on their haunches within a few inches of their companions and pick out the tidbits from the food that is offered them, often taking a particular tender piece of grass out of the very mouths of the turtles.

The lions and tigers, pumas and jaguars take no notice of the men and women that are ever passing in front of them. They just look out and blink at them; but let a dog be brought anywhere near the cage, then they show their savage nature at once, and spring up, glaring out savagely, while their tails switch nervously from flank to flank.

Environment has had its effect on the bears. The cinnamon and grizzlies are not friendly in their wild homes, though in the menageries they are a happy family. The slinking foxes and wolves can be noticed to have lost part of their natural distrust of man, and the timid deer as well as a rule, come up fearlessly and court the attention of the public.
