Public Roads.

The question of improving the public roads is one of national importance. While the people of Snyder County have better roads than some of her neighboring counties, that is nothing of which to boast. So many supervisors in Snyder County are putting a few loads of gravel or dirt upon their roads each year and making the plea of economy. It would be better and far more economical to fix up in the best manner possible a small portion of road and thus make it durable for many years. With the system of annual "patching", the roads are not made any better and the expense continues. If, on the other hand, a portion of road is well fixed, it becomes a better medium of travel and very little, if any, repairing is required. In the end a great amount of money will be saved and better roads will be the result. Another matter much neglected is that small stones and frequently those of considerable size, are lying loose upon the road for every vehicle to pass over. These loose stones could be picked off and in one month the improved condition of the roads would save vehicles to an extent sufficient to pay for picking off the loose stones from the road. We trust that supervisors who are delinquent in these matters can profit by the suggestions above offered.

CENTREVILLE.

The snow storm of last week was the biggest surprise this community has had for some time. As a rule, the unpredicted snow storm always proves the most severe of the season. We all had been hearing the robins and blue birds sing during the month of March and in the present month, the farmers had their oats and potatoes planted, and the warm embrace of spring's sunshine was every where felt, and to awake on Wednesday morning of last week to behold several feet of snow on the ground and still coming down in driving icy sheets, even staggered "Barney" who, you know has about ninety quarts of little onions in his beds. The only one approaching it occurred, if my memory serves me right, on the 15th, 16th and 17th of April, 1854, just 40 years ago. After the storm had spent its fury the ground was covered to the depth of about twenty inches, and, as in the present instance, a considerable quantity melted during the first day's fall. The 1854 snow remained on the ground less than a week, and fruit and vegetables suffered no inconvenience. There are a number in our town who remember the occurence. Another great snow storm that will be vividly recalled by the memory of the young people, occurred on the 5th or 6th of May, 1882, only twelve years ago. At that time the fruit trees were in full bloom, garden vegetables were growing nicely and spring was under full headway. It clouded up and the snow fell heavely till there was about a foot of the beautiful on the ground, but in two or three days the snow was all gone....Chas. E. Sampsel, the assessor is making his grand rounds to the citizens of the township....W. W. Trout of Lewistown, Dept. Revenue Collector of this district was in town last week on business pertaining to the duties of his office..Constable A.A. Loss of Hartleton, was in town on Saturday evening....Chas. TROXELVILLE.

The heaviest snow-fall in 40 years, occurred last Tuesday and Wednesday. J. G. Middleswarth and A. W. Gill, are employed in getting out bark that was pealed last Summer at a place known as "Fall Gap" in the Seven Mountains. They report the snow to have been 32 inches deep. It took Mr. Gill six hours to come out, a distance of four miles. ....Last Saturday, E. G. Gilbert found a hexagon buggy wrench bearing the No. 149. There is a peculiarity about the make of this wrench, and no doubt, the owner of it is anxious to regain it which he can do by calling on Mr. Gilbert....To-day (Monday) the trout season opens; and I say, catch all you can; but remember, and keep within the bounds of the law....On Saturday, Isaac Rothrock came from Lewistown to take up his habitation with John Y. Krebbs. Mr. Rothrock is an invalid, and has been for 30 years ....Last Sunday, Rev. W. M. Landis held communion in the Grace Reformed church at this place. Six new members were added to the Church by confirmation.
