Cameron Talks for Cameron.

Senator Cameson talks for himself and not for Pennsylvania when he advocates his extraordinary silver proposition. His views have already with fresh herring once a week ... been repudiated by the people of Lancaster county at the polls, and threshers in West Beaver have agrecould the issue he brought home to ed to thresh this fall for two cents | magazine for ONLY 30 CENTS. This the voters in other counties he would | per bushel. be repudiated in the same way. His alliance with the silver ring may be a good thing for CAMERON, but not for Pennsylvania. In his address in the Senate chamber he boldly advo-

Senator Cameron thinks that the pa by that will take up the cry of the Union Church by the Reformed tar Vand free silver will win. He is ready to lead in the crusade, So willing is he that his address gives the impression that he is anxious to become the candidate for President of a free silver party, which only emphasizes the proposition already advanced that Cameron is for himself and not for Pennsylvania. - Inas president of the State League of of Republican Clubs, has issued a circular that is calculated to check any display of enthusiasm on the part of clubs in behalf of any of the many citizens who are alleged to aspire to kind treatment from the May convention. This is his circular: "The attention of all the clubs of the League is called to the article in the constitution, prohibiting the indorsement of any candidate for public office by the clubs or by the League. This provision was placed in the constitution for very good reasons, and in order to prevent the introduction of the rivalries of candidates for public office into the clubs and the League. This circular is issued for the reason that several clubs throughout the State, and members of the League, have seen fit to indorse various candidates for State office. The work and duty of the League is ancillary to that of the State Committee, and for the purpose of electing candidates when duly nominated by the convention of the party. The introduction of the rivalries of the various State candidates into the clubs and the League would only lead to bickerings and strife, and prevent that hearty and cordial cooperation for the success of the Republican party and its candidates when duly nominated."
