

THE MIDDLEBURGH POST.

GEO. W. WAGENSELLER, Editor.
ARTHUR COOPER, Manager.

MIDDLEBURGH, PA., MAY 10, 1894

Doctor Klein, of London, says that the cholera is a much more prevalent disease than many others, which are more common and more deadly, but less feared.

A law enacted in Germany requires that all drugs intended for internal use be put up in round bottles, while those for external use shall be put up in hexagonal bottles.

The London Anarchists have succeeded in frightening Queen Victoria and the Prince of Wales, declares the Atlanta Constitution. The two are guarded by detectives, and the Prince no longer shows himself in public with his old freedom.

It will surprise many, thinks the New York Independent, to learn that the pineapple is becoming an important crop in Florida, the estimate for the present year being 50,000 crates, or 15,000 greater than last year.

During the past eight years only sixteen immigrants have landed at Charleston, fourteen at Savannah, twenty-two at Brunswick, sixty-eight at Pensacola, three at Mobile and about twenty-six thousand at New Orleans.

The great penal settlement on the Andaman Islands, off the coast of Bengal, resembles in one respect the Arizona penitentiary at Yuma, notes the San Francisco Chronicle.

Herr Johann Most, the apostle of anarchy in this country, is sad and disgusted, observes the Atlanta Constitution. He thinks there is no hope for the glorious cause of anarchy in America.

Count Tolstoy, the Russian novelist, thinks that the world is going to the bad very fast, and has been declaiming a good deal of late about the growth of vicious tendencies in society.

A WOMAN LEADS IN A RIOT.

FIVE MEN SERIOUSLY HURT.

And Two of These Probably Fatally.—The Coke-Regions of Pennsylvania the Scene of Trouble.

About 6 o'clock Saturday morning a riot occurred at the Painter plant, Scottsdale, Pa., of the McClure Coke Company, in which Deputy Sheriff Sanford White and Bookkeeper Francis E. Roddy were fatally wounded and two of three of the rioters were wounded.

Shortly before 6 o'clock about 50 women living at the Painter plant, marched to the coke yards armed with clubs and coke forks. They were followed closely by the entire population of the plant.

After White had been knocked down, a big Hungarian was about to hit him with an ax, when James Tarr knocked the striker down. With considerable trouble White and Roddy were rescued from their assailants and taken to the store building.

CONFERENCE CALLED.

A National Convention of Operators and Miners to Meet in Cleveland. Negotiations were commenced in Pittsburgh Friday which practically insure the settlement of the great national miners' strike.

According to the statements of both the operators' and miners' officials, the wage question was not discussed in any of the discussions, it was felt that the great object to be attained was co-operation on the part of the operator.

HAYES WAKES WORTH.

The K. of L. Official Calls a Powdery Story a Lie.

At the meeting of the General Executive Board of the Knights of Labor, Chicago, there was much indignation at ex-Governor Master Workman Powderly's attack on John W. Hayes, Secretary of the board.

The trouble grows out of Powderly's effort toward amalgamating all the labor organizations in the country. On this subject Powderly is credited with having said among other things: "John W. Hayes, by calculated delays, stands in the way. He is the enemy of trades unionism and the stimulating kick in the way of amalgamation. Thank God my head no longer wears a crown."

Mr. Hayes, as well as other members, was excited over the attack. "It is a lie," said Mr. Hayes, "and Powderly, Gompers and all the alleged leaders at that meeting, know it. Powderly thanks God that he no longer wears a crown, and I join him in his expression of thanks. I also thank God that I am responsible for his position that are scandalous and that, were they put in print, would condemn Powderly forever. I am not in the way of amalgamation and I have done my full duty toward calling this conference. These men know it when they were denouncing us at Philadelphia. The Executive committee met and named the second Tuesday in June as the date for the conference, and St. Louis is the place for holding it."

TEN TIMES A BIGAMIST.

Death of a Wisconsin Man Who Led An Extraordinary Career. A notorious career has just been closed by the death of David B. Jones near Barr, Wis., La Crosse county, Wis. He was "called" in several different parts of the State for bigamy and several other pieces of wickedness.

At the age of 16 he fled from home to escape the consequences of some minor misdeeds, and two years later was sent to the reform school for forgers. When 21 he married and settled down to carpentry. He was soon in trouble with other women and was obliged again to flee to avoid arrest. In 1876 he found his way to Trempealeau county, Wis., went to work at his trade, and was also an Advent preacher of considerable ability, and was soon married to a Miss Lyda, of Gallesville, under the name of Bonhef. His career ended there in about six months, when he found the Sheriff was after him for leaving another wife in Winona, one at Fountain City, one at Sheboygan and two or three in Illinois.

He disappeared, and nothing was heard of him for 14 years, when he was captured with a band of counterfeiters in Colorado, but made his escape, and afterward passed through the various stages of burglar, highwayman, train robber and ordinary tramp, and managed to avoid arrest. He was once again in Gallesville in disguise when he died of pneumonia. He was married at least ten times, and each time under a new name.
