The Democrats of the county will hold their election for delegates to the County Convention on the 16th between the hours of 5 and 7 p. m. The County Convention will be held on Monday the 18th. The campaign in Lebanon county for November election is assuming a strange aspect. The Republican County Committee has just issued the following edict: "Any candidate for the nomination for any county office who gives out beer by the keg or allows any one to do so for him shall be ignored by the County Committee and his name dropped from the list of candidates to be voted for."

The people of Middleburgh were gratified to know that the Cornet Band was not entirely a thing of the past, when they made their appearance on Memorial Day. At one time this organization stood second to none in Central Pennsylvania and it was known and is still remembered by citizens in every part of the interior of the state. Why can not this sturdy organization, whose brilliancy could not be rivaled by that of the sun, again be revived? Breathe a new life into it and make it at least what it used to be.

The Republicans of Juniata county on Monday nominated the following ticket: Assembly, H. Latimer Wilson, re-nominated; Sheriff, Jas. N. Roninger; Register and Recorder, Anson B. Will; Jury Commissioner, Lewis Degan. W. H. Kauffman was elected chairman of the County Committee. The convention appointed Congressional conferees who were instructed to urge the renomination of Congressman Thaddeus M. Mahon. The ticket is considered a very strong one.

The Democratic programme of nominating Congressman Joe Sibley for Governor and then having J. T. Ailman, the Populist candidate, in Harrisburg some weeks ago, withdraw in favor of Sibley, is likely to fall through. Ailman is from Juniata county, a lecturer for the State Grange Patrons of Husbandry, and pretty much of a man. So much so that he and his friends in the Populist party are now urging that he be endorsed for Governor by the Democratic State Convention which will meet at Harrisburg on June 27. The Democratic leaders are naturally quite alarmed at the situation. They do not want to endorse Ailman and they cannot get Ailman to withdraw in favor of Sibley who they do want to nominate. The Sibleyites and the Ailmanites are about to engage in a hair-pulling contest that may show up some inside promises connected with the Populist convention.

Memorial Day Exercises.

Memorial Day has come and gone and a patriotic people rejoice that another privilege of paying reverence to the honored dead, has been afforded. Notwithstanding the rainy weather, the G. A. R. Post and the camp P. O. S. of A. wended their way to every soldier's tomb to place there a tribute of respect in token of their devotion to a mighty nation's cause.

The Post decorated the graves at Fremont and Meiser. A very able address was made at Fremont by Prothonotary J. C. Schoch. Music was furnished by the Garfield Cornet Band. At Meiser, addresses were delivered by Ex-judge J. A. Smith and J. O. Yoder. The music was furnished by the choir.

The Camp decorated at Centreville, Paxtonville and Hassinger's. At Centreville, Prof. C. W. Hermann awakened the dull monotony of the hour by his patriotic appeal. At Paxtonville, Prof. F. C. Bowersox entertained his hearers in a very fascinating way. No speeches were made outside of the regular exercises at Hassinger's.

IN MIDDLEBURGH. The Post, Camp, and the various Sabbath Schools of the town formed a line of march headed by the Middleburgh Band. The column marched West on Market street to the extremity of the town and then reversed and proceeded to the graveyard. After decorating the graves, all went to the Court House. The people thronged into the building and filled the room to its full capacity. After a selection by the Band, Prof. F. C. Bowersox read the following resolutions:

Resolved, that this Post return their thanks to the Middleburgh and Fremont Bands, the P. O. S. of A., the Sabbath Schools, the Drum corps, to Prof. Frank Bowersox, Comrade Schoch, J. O. Yoder and Hon. J. A. Yoder for services rendered on Memorial Day.

Resolved, that we show our appreciation of the sermon by Rev. W. H. Schoch and music by the Male Quartette of the P. O. S. of A. on Memorial Sunday, by our sincere thanks; also to the Press for favors.

Amos H. Mylin.

We give below the sketch of the Republican candidate for Auditor General.

Amos H. Mylin was born in West Lampeter township, Lancaster county September 29, 1837, his ancestors being of Mennonite stock, who settled in the township about the year 1710. He received a common school education, attending the schools of the township, and subsequently spent several years at Andover College, Massachusetts. He then became a law student at the University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated and was admitted to the bar of Lancaster County, opening an office in the city of Lancaster for the practice of law in 1863.

In 1872 he was elected a member of the lower branch of the State Legislature and was twice re-elected, serving until 1876, when he was transferred to the State Senate. His service here was so satisfactory to his constituents that he was re-elected by large majorities in 1880, 1884 and 1888, refusing a renomination in 1892. During his services in the Senate he was chairman of most of the leading committees, and for several terms was honored with the presidency pro tempore of the body, a position which he filled with credit to himself and universal satisfaction of the members of the body. Senator Mylin is possessed in a large degree of personal traits of popularity.

The County Commissioners have a number of men engaged in taking the iron bridges from the creek and canal, where it was washed during the recent flood.

Wm. Hoffman is superintending the job. On last Thursday evening a large number of persons gathered at the home of Mrs. Margaret Ulrich to witness the marriage of her daughter to Miss Maggie to Mr. Zerby, a former student of Missionary Institute, but who is now residing at Altoona.

The young couple left in the morning to visit his friends. Ground has been broken for the new parsonage of the First Luth. Church.

The Evangelical Lutheran Church was last Sunday reconsecrated and rededicated to the service of the Master. The services were both interesting and instructive, it being also the occasion of their Golden Anniversary.

Addresses were delivered by a number of the former pastors and many others, both ministers and laymen. The church had been refurnished and refurbished at a cost of over $2100.

$1200 of which had been subscribed before the work of rebuilding had been begun, and before the day was done the balance of nearly $900 was comp. debt. In evening Rev. J. R. Dimm D. D. preached the Baccalaureate Sermon to the graduating class of Missionary Institute. The church presents a very attractive appearance.

The Freshman class held its exhibition in the Town Hall on Monday night. The class consists of twelve members and all did themselves justice in the different parts assigned to each.

After the exercises the class participated in a banquet at the Keystone Hotel. On Tuesday morning the graduating exercises of the Theological department took place and two young men received their diplomas.

The Board of Directors were in session all day and among other things, they decided to make a full-fledged college out of the institution. Two more years have been added to the course and fifteen of the present graduating class have pledged themselves to remain.

Rev. F. P. Manhart was elected and inaugurated Superintendent of the college. The charge to the Superintendent was delivered by Rev. J. M. Anspach, D. D. At 9:30 Tuesday evening the members of Cho Society enjoyed their first annual banquet at the Keystone Hotel.

The guests numbered about 70 and excellent music was furnished by the Middleburgh Orchestra. Philo Society's reception began shortly after 9 o'clock in the Town Hall and over 300 guests were kindly received and entertained.

It was a veritable throng, a larger number of people than ever before gathered on a similar occasion. Every person seemed to vie with each other in having a good time.

The Hall was tastefully decorated in all parts, while on the stage was Prof. Reitmeyer's orchestra entertaining the vast assembly with sweet music. The misses Phillips then sang a duet. Some time was consumed in serving so large a number of people with refreshments, but all were served by 12 o'clock when a brief history of the society for the past year was read by Chas. B. Herman, of Muncy.

The time was pleasantly spent and it passed so rapidly that the guests, even at this late hour felt loth to leave the festive party. On Wednesday morning the collegiate Alumni and Theological Alumni held their annual business meetings after which Rev. E. D. Weigle delivered an address before the Alumni of the Theological Department. Further proceedings next week.

Scama.
