James W. Latta.

We give below the sketch of the Republican candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs:

James W. Latta was born in Philadelphia, on April 19 1839. He enlisted as a private in the Reserve Corps in April, 1861, and was promoted to second lieutenant and first lieutenant in the 119th Regiment P. V. in August, 1862, and was promoted to the captaincy of of Company B, of the same regiment, on March 4, 1864. In May following he was made captain and assistant adjutant general of volunteers, and was mustered out of the service on January 20, 1866, with the rank of brevet lieutenant colonel.

After the war he took much interest in local military affairs, and was made colonel of the First Regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania. Governor Hoyt appointed Colonel Latta Adjutant General of the State, vice A. L. Russell, resigned, and he served until the first election of Governor Pattison in 1882, when he retired and engaged in the practice of the law.

In May, 1887, upon the creation of the Municipal Civil Service Board, Mayor Fitler appointed General Latta secretary, which position he filled very satisfactorily until he was elected Clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions in 1889. In 1892 he was re-elected to the same office.

In June 1891, General Latta was placed on the list of retired officers of the National Guard, having served fifteen years in the State militia.

Hastings' Cabinet.

There will no doubt be some disappointments when General "Dan" Hastings comes to make up his cabinet. Of course, he has had many supporters and they will appreciate any favors the General can bestow. It is probably a little early to speculate as to the cabinet, but it is likely to be the following: Attorney General, James A. Beaver; Deputy Attorney General, Lyman D. Gilbert; Sec. of the Commonwealth, Richard Quay; Adjutant General, Thomas J. Stewart. To be sure, Dan. Hastings will be consulted before the appointments are made.
