The oats is now being harvested and a light crop it is. . . We are now in the reign of the Dog star, so do not ask a man if it is warm enough for him. . . Miss Edith Potts of New Berlin, visited friends in town last week. . . F. J. Boyer who is interested in the lumber business at Gordon Heights, was home with his family several days this week. . . Do not fail to make arrangements to attend the Ladies' grand festival to be held here on Saturday evening, August 11th. All the dainties of the season will be served, and plenty of pleasure for every body not bothered with the blues. The handsome Memorial silk quilt which will be chanced off, may be yours. Do not miss this opportunity. All are cordially invited. . . W. A. Buck of New Columbia, accompanied by his wife and son, were the welcome guests of John I. Hartman and family over Sunday. . . Mrs. J. E. Bolig of Muncy, is visiting relatives and friends here. . . W. P. Beaver of Oriental, visited relatives and friends here recently. . . Clement M., a bright little boy, only son of T. E. and Ella M. Bingham died on Thursday after a short illness of cholera infantum. When the reaper death enters the family circle and bears away from the mother's eyes her darling, and the father's arms his special pride, the joy and sunlight of that household, words of sympathy and condolence fail to satisfy the stricken and wounded heart. Weep not, though the reaper death has blighted your hopes. Though Clement is dead, we may say, but it is only his mortal part that rests here in the tomb. He has died to live for ever, and his spirit has "been caught up unto God, and to his throne." And when you die, perhaps he will stand at heaven's portals, the first to usher you into the presence-chamber of the Most High. Truly has the poet said:

"Oh, this is blest relief!
My fainting heart it cheers;
It cools my burning grief,
And sweetens all my tears;
These eyes shall see my darling there,
Nor shed a parting tear again."

To Farmers and Stock Raisers.

The undersigned takes this method of informing the public that his Hambletonian Stud "Star" will stand for the entire season at the stable of the Summit Hotel three miles south-west of Middleburg on the road leading to Freeburg. Rates $10.00.
