A Trip to New England.

When I was a school-girl, in studying the map of the New England states, I located 2 islands, Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket, lying off the south coast of Massachusetts, and thought no more of them until these islands are no more than a map with green marks but they are living with life, covered with beauty.

The trip from Harrisburg up to Martha's Vineyard is a delightful one. Those who have never been on a large boat will either sit in the saloon and wonder where they are, or spend the first hour in examining the boat.

We took the Fall River Line. The boats leave the N. Y. wharf, Hudson River, at 5:30 p. m. Now begins an exciting panorama of scenic beauty. We pass almost under the shadow of the Statue of Liberty, under the massive Brooklyn Bridge, up the East River between the two great cities. Both sides are lined with docks, ships, huge ware houses, and tall chimneys. In front and behind, the river is filled with moving steamers, crowded with hurrying humanity. Here may be seen sailing craft of every description.

We pass by the beautiful islands containing many New York Charitable Institutions, and now the crowded blocks of brick and stone, spire and dome, have faded away. The grassy slopes of shores and islands stretch out before us on both sides. What can be more invigorating to the toil-worn business man or the eager pleasure seeker, than to sit on the upper deck in a quiet nook, while the twilight merges into darkness and the bright rays from the light-houses gleam across the waves to cheer the anxious pilot. If that does not satisfy you, then take a comfortable chair in the saloon of the boat and enjoy the music of the orchestra. Everything about the boat gives one an impression of quiet elegance and luxury.

It is time to retire. Turn into a nice, clean berth and a few minutes find you sound asleep. Just enough rocking to remind one of the days long ago when mother rocked us to sleep in the cradle, and we hear the familiar lullaby songs and forget the noisy machinery of the boat.

It is a glorious morning. Your first impulse is to rush on deck, and you find your boat has steamed into port at Fall River, Mass. Then we go by rail to New Bedford, and again a distance of thirty miles through Buzzard's Bay to Cottage City. As to sea-sickness—well, I was so unfortunate as not to get sick so I can't describe it,—only this, I would rather be at a distance from the person having that experience.

Martha's Vineyard contains about 120 sq. miles. Cottage City is situated on the eastern part of the island. The Methodists, captivated by the beauty and healthfulness of the location, built a tabernacle and set up their tents around it. Presently the tents became cottages and it is now, as its name signifies a "City of Cottages." It has a population of more than fifty thousand people every summer, and ten thousand permanent residents. It is a unique city, with little circular parks here and there; irregular avenues, shaded by scrub oaks, connected by innumerable concrete walks twining in and out among groups of beautiful cottages. There are miles and miles of concrete roads, making it a paradise for bicyclists.

The shores of Martha's Vineyard are exceedingly attractive. All traffic between New York and Boston, and Boston and the South passes through Vineyard Sound, which is said to be the greatest marine highway of America. Sea bathing is safe at all hours. After your first bath you feel more at ease, and by the time you go down under water and get a mouthful of salt water, you feel very much at home.

Agassiz Hall, where the Institute is held, is located on the Highlands. Here there is perfect quiet at all times, and the ocean breeze from the broad Atlantic is very refreshing.

The school was attended by seven hundred students coming from thirty-two states and Nova Scotia. The School of Methods, for the instruction in the most approved methods of teaching in the public schools, maintains its reputation of being the best in the country. The Academic department is also well equipped for teachers who desire to make a specialty of the higher branches. Nature Study, under Mr. Boyden of Mass, was especially fine and interesting; also Pedagogy under Dr. Snyder of Colo., formerly of Penna. The average teacher sees that there is "something yet to be attained" in the realm of his profession and in the salary he draws. Here we come in contact with teachers of broad experience and cultured minds. All this must result in better intellectual work and a more complete life.

Now let us take an excursion to Gay Head. Here I caught my starfish, (I am proud of that.) Gay Head Light, one of the finest along the Atlantic Coast, is situated on the southern point of Martha's Vineyard. The wonderful cliffs of many colored rocks, the tribe of Indians who have their land, the ride in an Indian driver, the view of the surf—all make you long to stay a month instead of a day. Nantucket must not be slighted. This island lying twenty-eight miles from Martha's Vineyard was discovered by Bartholemew Gosnold in 1602. It is famous in history and story and many relics of the old days still exist in the quaint fisherman's huts and old whaling boats. What a busy place it must have been fifty years ago when the city of Nantucket was the capital of the whaling interests of the world. Since the advent of coal oil, whaling is confined chiefly to the Pacific coast. Nantucket is now very popular as a summer resort.

And now the time has come to leave this fairy-land with its beautiful ocean sunrises and sunsets, where the swish-swash of the waves has become music to the ear. Reluctantly we pack our trunks—not forgetting the loads of relics and "trash"—and board the steamer enroute for New York City and home.

Looking back upon it all, I can only say it was a most beautiful, most profitable trip. I have seen nature in a new form and have learned to love Nature and Nature's God "who hath measured the waters in the hollow of his hand, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure." K. S. BOWENSON, Aug. 20th, 1894. Paxtonville, Pa.

ADAMSBURG.

Jas. Spangler and A. W. Ayrault have purchased lots of Mrs. Reuben Klose where they expect to erect residences in the near future. The former is breaking ground at present for his residence. Miss Carrie Ush of Middleburgh is spending several days with her aunt, Mrs. Banks Dreese. The Index Indian Co., claiming to be from Williamsport, is a fraud, according to the letters received from the Mayor and Chief-of-police denying their residence at that place. C. B. Witmer and family spent Sunday with H. I. Romig's. Miss Steele of Altoona is visiting at this place. Banks Dreese returned from Louisville, Ky., and spent a week very agreeably with his family and friends. Banks seems as jolly as ever. The Order of the I. O. O. F. will have their picnic on Saturday. The committee expects different orders and bands from the neighboring counties. Come one and all, and you will not regret the time spent in our midst.

PAINT cracks.—It

often costs more to prepare a house for repainting that has been painted in the first place with cheap ready-mixed paints, than it would to have painted it twice with strictly pure white lead, ground in pure linseed oil.

Strictly Pure White Lead forms a permanent base for repainting and never has to be burned or scraped off on account of scaling or cracking. It is always smooth and clean. To be sure of getting strictly pure white lead, purchase any of the following brands:

- "Armstrong & McKelvy," "Beymer-Bauman," "Davis-Chambers," "Fahnestock."

For Colors.—National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, a one-pound can to a 25-pound keg of Lead and mix your own paints. Saves time and annoyance in matching shades, and insures the best paint that it is possible to put on wood.

Send us a postal card and get our book on paints and color-card, free; it will probably save you a good many dollars.

COLLARS AND CUFFS that are waterproof. Never wilt and not effected by moisture. Clean, neat and durable. When soiled simply wipe off with a wet cloth. The genuine are made by covering a linen collar or cuff on both sides with "celluloid" and as they are the only waterproof goods made with such an interlining, it follows that they are the only collars and cuffs that will stand the wear and give satisfaction. Every piece is stamped as follows:

If anything else is offered you it is an imitation. Refuse any but the genuine, and if your dealer does not have what you want send direct to us, enclosing amount and stating size and whether a stand-up or turned-down collar is wanted. Collars 25c. each. Cuffs 50c. pair.
