THEY MISSED £300,000

How the British Government Let That Sum Slip Thro' Their Fingers.

All England is deeply interested in a new mystery - what became of King Theebaw's crown jewels and other wealth when the British occupied the palace in Mandalay, Burmah, after the campaign of 1885.

This question has come up through the death-bed confession of a private in the West Surrey Regiment, who declares that he and a companion, Private William White, secured all or a portion of these treasures and hid them in a moat in the vicinity.

At the time of the British occupation orders were given by the Government that the annexation of Burmah should be carried out peacefully and without bloodshed.

As soon as the King had given his submission guards were hurriedly placed in the royal rooms to protect the jewels of countless worth which were known to be there.

It was discovered that the treasures had disappeared. Among these missing treasures was a gold calf weighing several hundred-weight, as well as a portion of the regalia and quantities of precious stones.

Theebaw's kingly wealth was indisputable. He had accumulated from his ruby mines a most valuable collection of stones, and his insignia were set with diamonds of the rarest size.

These articles, together with the royal peacock and the Henza, were presented to all royal audiences and were their only ornaments to the many agents and officers of the British Government who had been admitted to Theebaw's presence.

Through all this picturesqueness one can perceive an earnest plea that Great Britain somehow failed to gobble that thirty-nine carat ruby.

It Killed the Cure. 'Johnnie Smith' who whispering again' demanded an Oakland teacher of a particularly mischievous boy.

'Yessum' 'Well, come up here and get the mousetraps on' She stood the boy in one corner with a heavy mouse-trap dangling from each ear.

'What's the matter now?' asked the teacher. 'Those don't hurt much' 'That ain't it,' whispered the boy. 'Well, what is it?' 'It's a shame. That's what it is,' he sobbed.

'What a shame? To punish you for whispering?' 'No, but I was born with big ears that stuck out like a barn door open, and I've had to sleep with 'em tied back to my head ever since.

The teacher removed the mousetraps from his ears and inverted the empty waterbucket over his head as a substitute. - San Francisco Post.

ASIDE from the fact that the cheap baking powders contain alum, which causes indigestion and other serious ailments, their use is extravagant. It takes three pounds of the best of them to go as far as one pound of the Royal Baking Powder, because they are deficient in leavening gas. There is both health and economy in the use of the Royal Baking Powder.

His Purpose. A certain justice of the piece from the State of Iowa, having arrived, previous to a trial, at a conclusion upon a question of law highly satisfactory to himself, refused to entertain an argument by the opposing counsel. 'If your honor please,' counsel pleaded, 'I should like to cite a few authorities upon the point.'

LONG STRING of diseases and derangements take their origin in torpor of the liver. Deranged appetite, constipation, headache, sour stomach, gassy belchings, indigestion, or dyspepsia, are due to sluggish liver.

From early childhood I suffered from a sluggish liver. Doctors' prescriptions and patent medicines afforded only temporary relief. I tried Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, taking three at night and two after dinner every day for two weeks and they cured me.
