HON. MOROE H. KULP, the man who defeated Bucklew for Congress.

FOR THE DOUBTFUL COLUMN:—Tuesday morning a radish was brought to the Reporter office, which for size was bordering on a monstrosity. It measured twenty-five inches in circumference, and was fifteen inches in length. John Keliachan was the owner of it, and raised it at his home, about two miles west of Centre Hall.—Centre Reporter. The Babe of Bethlehem is the title of a Christmas service published by the American Publishing company of Sunbury. It was written by J. C. Leinbach and the music was furnished by F. K. Hill. We are in receipt of a copy of this Christmas service and we cheerfully recommend it to sabbath schools desiring a most excellent Xmas service. On Sabbath week the New Bloomfield Presbyterian church added 41 persons to its membership, 34 of them being on profession of faith. This is a result of Major Hilton's late evangelistic services in that place. After the next term of court there, when the criminal part of the population will probably be taken care of, the town should be somewhat purified. James M. Baker, who removed from this place to Adamsburg about four years ago, was elected district attorney of Snyder county last week by a majority of 1219, the highest of any of the Candidates, running 104 ahead of the ticket. We are glad our neighbors recognize his worth, as he is a very fine young man and worthy of the confidence that has been placed in him.—Lewistown Gazette. The Philo society of Missionary Institute will present the drama "messmates," in three acts on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. It will furnish two hours' entertainment and is interspersed with wit and humor, mingling the sublime with the humorous in quite an artistic manner. The society wishes to raise funds to furnish their new hall. Go to see the play you will get your money's worth. It is said that a French engineer now in this country is trying to negotiate for the old Pennsylvania canal, with a view of opening up a water way for a ship canal from the Chesapeake Bay up the Susquehanna to Driftwood, thence via Bennett's Branch to Pittsburg. The object is to load sea going vessels direct from the bituminous coal fields, oil and other commerce, save the expense of rehauling, giving the farmers in this mountainous region the advantage of shipping their produce direct to the London market, and take passage themselves.—Lock Haven Express. Rumor says there will be a wedding in town today. Stable was elected Congressman in the 19th district. The official vote of three counties was computed as follows: York—Stable, Republican, 11,162; Strubinger, Democrat, 11,058; McIlhenny, Prohibition, 323. Adams county—Stable, Republican, 4,020; Strubinger, Democrat, 3,407; McIlhenny, Prohibition, 81. Cumberland county—Stable, Republican, 5,947; Strubinger, Democrat, 4,289; McIlhenny, Prohibition, 286. Stable's plurality, 2,384. We omitted at the time to give the notice due to a worthy gentleman for an act seldom if ever equalled. Hoppia Sampell of Centreville, who is 77 years of age, came along with the Drum Corps and played the fife with the boys on the night of the republican demonstration, Nov. 2nd. He marched all over town with the boys and his ardor was not abated. This is the manifestation of a remarkable degree of interest in the affairs of state. Mr. Sampell is a well-preserved man and is the father of Chas. E. and Dr. J. W. Sampell. "MISTAKEN SOULS WHO DREAM OF BLISS."—The following marriage licenses have been granted since our last publication: Geo. A. Bowersox, Centre Twp. S. S. Brunner. William A. Jordan, Beaver Twp. Clara J. Shemory. Geo. A. Trevitz, Middlebrook Twp. Maggie D. Musser. Arthur F. Cooper, Middleburgh, Carrie I. Ulsh, Swineford. Mrs. J. Fetter. Ammon W. Walter, Twp. Ida Jordan. Edward Snyder of Pigeon, Michigan, died Nov. 18, 1894 and was buried there. Snyder was a resident of Middleburgh until 1866 when he migrated to Indiana and later to Michigan. He died at the good old age of 82 years, 1 month and 23 days. The deceased was a brother of Absalom Snyder and the late John Snyder of Middleburgh, also of the late Simon Snyder, of Mazeppa, Union county, Pennsylvania. Though old Mr. Snyder left this place 28 years ago, many of our citizens will remember of him. The girls at a young ladies' seminary at Catsonsville played a game of foot ball. The Invisibles have red toboggan caps, with jaunty tassels and shorted skirts. The Unquenchables wore blue caps and skirts, and all wore black hose. There was no gridiron. When they saw the ball they just kicked, and when one of them got a chance to pick up the ball she gathered it in, ran with it, and gave it a swat against the fence at one end of the grounds for goal posts. A hedge at the other end did goal service for the other side. Some of the most delightful scrimmages imaginable occurred. Often they were piled five deep. They played real foot ball, and punted the leather in great shape. A New Pastor:—Rev. O. S. Scheirer, of Lickdale, Lebanon, Co. Pa. was elected pastor of Beavertown Lutheran charge on Monday forenoon. The pastor will accept the charge and will move some time next week into the parsonage. The church has been without a pastor for months. The Sacrament of the Holy Communion will be administered in the different churches as follows: St. Paul's, Beavertown on Sunday forenoon, Dec. 2. Preparatory services on Saturday evening previous at 6:30. St. James, Troxelville on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 2. Preparatory services on Saturday afternoon previous at 2. St. Matthew's, McClure on Sunday forenoon, Dec. 9. Preparatory services on Saturday evening previous at 6:30. St. John's, (Ridge) on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 9. at 2. Preparatory services on Saturday afternoon previous at 2. Christ's (Hassinger's) on Sunday forenoon, Dec. 16. Preparatory services on Saturday afternoon previous at 2. Tuesday was the coldest day we had this winter. Hon. J. S. Biery, Esq., of Allentown who so ably addressed the Mass meeting here on Nov. 2nd has our thanks for a book written by himself entitled, "King Grover," Chronicles of His Reign according to Simonides, the Scribe of the Tribe of Lechay. The book is written in a mock Scriptural style and abounds with wit and sarcasm. President Cleveland, and his cabinet are arraigned in good old Testament style and no act of the administration deserving public censure is allowed to pass without the merited condemnation of Mr. Biery's able pen.

"POST" NUPTIALS. MISS CARRIE L. ULSH AND A. E. COOPER WERE MARRIED LAST THURSDAY MORNING. The betrothments of storied fame consummated under the various graces that give beauty and brilliance to hymen's nuptial song grew commonplace and dull when lovely maid and handsome lover in our own life's experience join hearts and hands for weal and woe. The scene is objective, real—more engaging and charming than ever was the detailed train of ceremonies presented by the ideals of fancy. Even under the sublimest influences of attending friends, made most charming by magical robes and correct livery, when the preacher with heavenborn authority declares that two lives hereafter shall be one, and all the favored friends are lifted beyond the sordid cares of physical necessities, even then in the glamour of enchanting experience one yet realizes that it is all a fact and a pleasing actuality of life. Amid such scenes and such environments in the handsome residence of Andrew H. Ulsh his daughter, Carrie L., was joined in the holy bonds of matrimony last Thursday morning to Arthur E. Cooper, one of the publishers of this paper. The guests were only the family friends of the contracting parties. The scenes were none the less important to the bride and groom. There are three important events in a person's life, viz., the birth, graduation and marriage. This was one of them. At 10:30 the bride and groom, Robert J. Bannen, brother-in-law of the groom stationed himself at the North East corner of the parlor and awaited the speedy arrival of the bridal party. The maid of honor was Miss Mollie Ulsh, sister of the bride. The groom's best man was Amos G. Bashoar of Adamsburg. In a few words the parson declared them man and wife. After congratulations on all sides a sumptuous wedding repast was served. A special design of floral decorations consisting of chrysanthemums and Lonicera caprifolium adorned the nuptial room. The bride's trossseau consisted of a brown traveling suit trimmed with brown velvet. The maid of honor was neatly attired in a gray suit trimmed in black velvet. The groom wore a navy blue suit and a white tie while the "best man" appeared in conventional black. At 10:50 the bridal couple boarded the train amid abundant showers of rice, old shoes, etc. Their trip includes visits to Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and other places. The entire Post force joins the Editor in wishing the manager and his newly-made bride all the joys and felicities that can crown conjugal bliss. May life's pathway be strewn with God's choicest blessing and a rich reward be the lasting legacy of faithful lives. THE BRIDAL TRIP. Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 18, 1894. Dear George,—We are having a most enjoyable trip. We reached Washington at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. On Friday in company with Frank Grimm we spent the day in sight seeing. We went up in the Washington Monument, thence to the State, War and Navy building, the White house, and finally through the Treasury building. After dinner, we went to the Smithsonian Institute and then through the Capitol. We went with Frank to "Kendall Green" and he showed us through their buildings. We left Washington at 11 o'clock on Saturday morning and reached Baltimore at 12:05 where we took dinner. We left Baltimore at 1:20 and arrived here at 3:47 P. M. To-day we attended the dedication of Sidney Bateman's church. We have for home on Wednesday morning. ARTHUR and CARRIE. THE RECEPTION. Mr. and Mrs. John L. Cooper, father and mother of the groom, gave a reception at their residence on South Market street to the young couple last evening. Quite a number of guests were present and passed the evening very pleasantly.
