

Newspapers are educators. That publication that does not strive to educate the masses is not fulfilling its most important mission. The press is calculated to be a leader of public opinion. The massive throng of people is clamoring for information. It is the solemn duty of the press to furnish the public with reading material not only that will give information, but that will develop mental power.

The Post in its endeavor to promote the intellectual welfare of the people of Snyder county has been providing for the better fitting of the teachers. In the hands of the public school teachers lies a great power. If they have the proper training, the youth will improve more rapidly. Snyder county is not in arrears in educational matters, but we want to see her in the front ranks. There is always room for advancement. We want to see more well equipped and better educated young men and women in Snyder county. The day is at hand when he who would succeed must be educated. We do not mean that every person must spend six or eight years at school, but enough time should be spent to develop mental strength. The education of every day life, too, is an important factor. Common sense must prevail.

The Post has endeavored, not only through its columns, but by providing scholarships for persons to be named by the readers of this paper, to elevate the standard of education. Already one is pursuing a course at the expense of the Post. In this issue, we offer two more scholarships for worthy persons to be selected by the readers of the Post. To elevate a people you must educate them. Imbued with this idea the Post is providing normal courses to better fit young gentlemen and young ladies for the teaching profession. With the teachers well prepared the coming generations will not suffer. We desire to elevate the standard of our public schools and to place at the disposal of public school children the best talent possible. Wendell Phillips said, "The public schools are the hope of our country." Hence the Post is serving a double mission in the education of the masses. Its columns are open for educational topics and it provides scholarships for worthy persons.

Tuesday a week a skeleton of a grown person was dug up in the orchard of Alex. Reed, at Reedsville, which caused some curiosity, as the oldest inhabitant cannot remember of any one being buried there and is probably the remains of some pioneer or Indian who died and was buried there before that portion of the country was settled. It was discovered while excavating for a cellar and foundation for a dwelling house and furniture room.—McVeigh Journal.
