

The Day of Sacred Memories.

General Orders No. 4, concerning the observance of Memorial Day, has been issued from Headquarters Department of Pennsylvania, Grand Army of the Republic, No. 1025 Arch Street, Philadelphia. The document is signed by Assistant Adjutant General James F. Morrison, by command of Department Commander H. H. Cummings, and reads as follows:

1. Twenty-seven years ago, in General Orders No. 11 of date May 5, 1878, the then Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic—General John A. Logan—constituted Memorial Day.

On each 30th day of May since then, the patriotic people have joined with the Grand Army of the Republic and other survivors of the Union Army in a tribute of love and remembrance to those who paid the last full measure of devotion to our country and our flag with their lives, and of those gallant comrades who since Appomattox have gone to the great beyond.

Established as a day of fitting recognition of the devotion and sacrifices of our comrades and of beautiful and touching tributes to their memory, it has come to be a day of Memorial for all our soldier and sailor dead, who, while living, endured hardships and perils in defence of the Nation.

It was indeed a sacred inspiration that suggested to General Logan this tribute of remembrance and patriotism whose efforts have been far reaching and most salutary—bringing to humanity, civilization, and Christianity a greater conception of reverence for heroes dead, and of gratitude for what they did while living.

Year after year, as we visit the "silent cities of dead," evidences multiply of the profound veneration that the people have for those who have gone before, and throughout the land and cemeteries and other burial places show how great a hold the custom of strewing sweet flowers on the graves of our heroes has attained.

There is no teaching so powerful as example, and no incentive to patriotic deeds and noble living so great as that which springs from holding in remembrance and unyielding honor those who have nobly lived and gloried. So long as the memory of our heroes it will not lack defenders.

To us, who were the companions in youth and the comrades in war of the men whose graves we decorate, the services of this day have a peculiar and touching interest. They recall to us memories of pleasant associations in peace, of experiences in war, of marches by day and by night, of trials and hardships and perils on battle field and in prison pen, of storm of battle on land and on sea, of grievous wounds and of the precious lives that were destroyed when so full of hope and promise.

Let this sacred day be kept as becomes its character, its duties, its solemn memories. Thirty years have passed away since we laid down our arms and docked our ships of war. The majority of those who marched with us, fought with us, and triumphed with us, have already crossed over and answered the roll call on the other side—in the silent realm from whence come no echoes to our ears. A dwindling band of aging men, we will not long remain to lead in the observance of Memorial Day, but while we yet live, let us so educate our youth, who will soon succeed us in this work of remembrance and patriotism, that its observance and beneficial influence may remain when our forms shall have mouldered into dust. See suitable comrades to visit the schools before Memorial Day to teach the children the purpose and value of this observance and secure their attendance and participation; encourage the cooperation of our Woman's Auxiliary organizations, the Sons of Veterans, and all kindred patriotic societies, and generous-minded people; discourage inappropriate occupations and diversions; consecrate this one day to the memory of the patriot dead and the honoring of the old flag under which they fought, and under whose folds so many of them died.

II. As a part of Memorial services, the Department Commander recommends that each Post shall arrange for the preaching of a sermon adapted to the occasion, specially considering where feasible the themes, "For What Did the Union Soldiers Fight?" "What has the Country, Civilization, and Humanity Gained by the Result?" It is particularly urged that every Post attend divine service on the Sunday preceding Memorial Day.

Bellefonte Centennial Celebration.

For the Centennial Celebration, to be held at Bellefonte, Pa., June 5, 6, and 7, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell on those dates excursion tickets to Bellefonte and return, from East Bloomsburg, Shamokin, Ridgway, and intermediate points, and from stations on the Middle, Lewistown, and Tyrone Divisions, at two cents per mile.

On the same dates tickets will also be sold to uniformed firemen (in the same territory) at a single fare for the round trip.

Tickets will be good for return passage until June 8, inclusive.

Arithmetical Questions.

Two boys John and James started from different places at the same time on their bicycles, and traveled toward each other. On meeting it appeared that John had traveled 18 miles more than James, and that John could have gone James's journey in 4 1/2 hours, but James would have been 7 1/2 hours in performing John's journey. Require the distance between them when they set out?

Caleb and Philip having been chopping wood for the same number of weeks, Philip has chopped 32 cords more than Caleb. Philip could earn, all that Caleb has earned, by chopping 5 1/2 weeks; but for Caleb to earn what Philip has earned it would require 12 weeks. How many cords did each chop?

HEAR HIM! HEAR HIM!—Prof. Byron W. King will delight an audience with an exhibition of his wonderful elocutionary powers, at the Town Hall, Selinsgrove, Monday night, June 3d. No teacher in the United States enjoys a wider reputation than does Prof. King. He kindles the enthusiasm of his audiences with his opening selection and the interest grows until the close. He brings more beauty out of Shakespeare than many of our finest actors. Some of his selections are grand, others affecting and pathetic; some ludicrous and others funny. The intelligent people of our town and those interested in dramatic work will find the entertainment a treat. Mr. King, taken all in all, is among the most interesting versatile elocutionists of the day. Under the auspices of the Clio Society, Admission 30c. Reserved seats 40c.

Any one who has ever had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism will rejoice with Mr. J. A. Stamm, 220 Boyle Heights, Los Angeles, over his fortunate escape from a seizure of that distressing ailment. Mr. Stamm is foreman of Merriam's confectionery establishment. Some months ago, on leaving the heated work room to run across the street on an errand, he was caught out in the rain. The result was that when ready to go home that night he was unable to walk, owing to inflammatory rheumatism. He was taken home, and on arrival was placed in front of a good fire and thoroughly rubbed with Chamberlain's Pain Balm. During that evening and night he was repeatedly bathed with this liniment, and by morning was relieved of all rheumatic pains. He now takes especial pleasure in praising Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and always keeps a bottle of it in the house. For sale by J. W. Sampson, Penns Creek, Pa.

For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought that every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I could not sweep a room without resting. My husband induced me to try
