fests itself in hives, pimples, boils and A Vacancy Created on the Bench of the Supreme Court.

Howeil E. Jackson, associate justice of the United States Supreme court, died on the Sth. at his home at Westmend farm, near Nashville. He had been in failing health for several years, but it has been only in the last nine months that the progress of the disease began to cause his family uneasiness. Last year he went on a lengthy trip to the far west in search of health. Later he went to Thomas-ville, it a., where it was hoped the mild and bracing comate would restore his vigorous constitution. The trip did him little good constitution. The trip did him little and after a time he was brought home.

Judge Jackson did not take to his bed until eight days ago. Since that time his family and friends realized that the end was near, and his death was not unexpected.

Howell Edmunds Jackson was born Paris, Henry county, Tenn., April 4, 1832, being a son of Dr. A. Jackson. He obtained ing a son of Dr. A. Jackson. He obtained his academic education in the village of Jackson, Madison county, and graduated from the West Tennessee college, at that place in 1842. He next took a course at the University of Virginia. He read law with Judge A. W. O. Totten, of the Tennessee Supreme court and Judge Milton Brown, and graduated at the law school at Lebanon, Tean, in 1856. He practiced law at Jackson and subsequently at Memphis, where he formed a partnership with David M. Currie, ex-member of Congress. At the beginning of hostilities he was appointed receiver under the confederate sequestration act for West Tennessee After the war he resumed prac-tice at Memphis with Judge R M. Estes and In 1859 he was married to Mis-Sophy Malloy, of Memphis, who died in

In 1880 he was elected to the Legislature, and 1881 to the United States Senate. Its April, 1886, he was appointed by President Cleveland as Circuit Judge of the United States for the Sixth judicial circuit. Early in 1838 President Harrison appointed him a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, although he was a Democrat. had been unwell for some time and was unable to take part in the first decision upon income tax law when the court was a tie. It Will be Harmless.

President Collins, of the Cotton States and International Exposition, in response to a request for a statement about the bull fight which has caused so much agitation of late.

which has caused so much agilation of late, said to a reporter:

The periormance will take place within an enclosure which no one can enter without the payment of admission fee, and it will only be seen by those who care to pay for the privilege. The exposition will be an histrionic one and harmiess in itself, devoid of cruelty to a man or beast, but showing in the most realistic way a great tragedy in which both men and animals are concerned. It is as legitimate as any drama in which human tragedy is presented on the stage. It is claimed that in this buil fight, the Exposition is pandering to barbarlous customs. There is nothing more in the buil fight, under the con-ditions in which it will be presented, than the thrilling scenes of Buffalo Bill's Wild West show, and it strange that while one is everywhere commended as a striking represent-ation of savage life in our own country, the other is condemned simply because it resents a custom with which we are

LAKE STEAMERS COLLIDE. One Sinks in Detroit River, and the Other Is Dry-Docked.

The steamer Britaunic, owned by C. E. Benham and W. J. KILLED IN BATTLE.

Encounter Between Rebels and Govern ment Forces in Ecuador.

A correspondent accompanying General Alfaro's army in Ecuador confirms the news of the defeat of General Sarasti's forces. He says that three thousand men were engaged in the battle, which occurred on October 6, and that 300 men were killed and wounded. Guaranda advices state that the Alfaristas forces also encountered government soldiers on the road between Guaranda and Robamba and that General Alfaro successfully occupied the latter place.

The government loss was 45 killed and 20 wounded. After their defeat, the government troops, pursued by the Alfaristas, fled in all directions, subsequently raiding farm houses and shooting detenseless persons.

A universal cipher code for use in cable messages has just been completed by experts at Berne, Switzerland, who have labored nearly five years on its compilation. The work was authorized by the Paris convention of telegraphers in 1890. The new code comprises 250,000 words distinctly different from each other and none containing more than ten letters. It will be adopted by all European countries as soon as arrangements are completed for its use and in a few years will probably become the cable language of the entire world.

Preparations are making at Long Cove, Me., for one of the biggest quarry blasts ever made in this country. The object of attack is a miniature mountain of granite, seventy five feet in perpendicular height. In the face of this ledge, at the foot, a tunnel is being driven, which, when completed, will be T shaped, the main stem fiftyfive feet long, with two cross arms some thirty feet in length each. Eight tons or more of powder is to be put in these side tunnels, the main tunnel cemented up and the blg charge touched off. It is expected the explosion will make a rock pile of the mountain.

Martyrs to Progress.

The east end of Glasgow has been greatly agitated about a question of fashion in female attire. Hitherto it has been invariably regarded as the correct thing for the young ladies employed at the mills to wear shawls over their heads, but lately the population has been startled by the appearance of a few of the workers in hats. The dar ing innovation excited the utmost indignation, and one night last week the wearers of the hats had to be rescued by the police from the polite attentions of a crowd of about 2,000 of their comparlons.- London Truth.

GEN. P. W. HARDIN

Nominated by Kentucky Devacerats for Governor of the State,

The nomination of Gen. P. W. Hardin for Governor of Kentucky by the Democratic State convention at Louisville was the result of a canvass of extraordinary excitement and is likely o be followed by a campaign of an exampled activity. Hardin is the best handshaker in the State and one of its best orators. As an electioneerer he excels even Senator Joe Blackburn, au other Kentuckian whom everybody calls by his first name. Mr. Hardin is a rich man and will not be hampered by a lack of money. As to the man agement of the campaign no one car give him any points in the game.

THE SUN MOVES, SAYS JASPER. The Most Influential Negro Living and His Famous Sermon,

Since the death of Frederick Douglass, without doubt the most influential colored man fiving is John Jasper, famous the world over for his sermon expounding the theory that "the sun do move," Jasper is 83 years old, but he seems to have lost little of the energy of his younger days. When, once is a while, he delivers his famous sermon, the edifice in which be speaks is crowded to the doors. And his sermons on that well-worn text are never twice alike.

John Jasper was born in Virginia, July 4, 1812. For the first twenty seven years his life was no more eventful than that of the average slave. In 1839 he became imbued with the idea that adopted ordinances providing for the he had received a "call" to preach. He old European custom of curtew. Peo was illiterate, but he set himself to the ple under 16 years of age found on the task of learning to read, and in seven months he had made such progress that he began the study of the Bible, almost the only book he has ever read.

He was soon a popular preacher. One lucky day, in response to a request, he preached a sermon on "The Lord is a Man of War," in which he brought forth abundant Biblical evidence that the sun moves and the earth stands still; that the latter is flat and has four eor ners, being consequently square or diamond shaped, and that the distance from the earth to the sun can never be measured, "for no one," says he, "could carry enough food to last him there and back." Had it not been for this sermon John Jasper would probably never have been heard of outside the immediate vicinity of his home. In his strange theories he has many followers, and the power he wields over the negroes of the United States is enormous.

Many Uses for Mushrooms.

Not only human beings, but cows, sheep, squirrels, and many kinds of birds, are foud of mushrooms. In many places mushrooms are dried just as our grandmothers once dried apples, strung on strings, and hung from the ceiling for winter use. Some European species are used in coloring. One yields a yellow dye, another an exquisite green which colors the tree on which it grows; and from this wood is manufactured the celebrated Turbridge ware. The poor people of Franconia Germany, dry, press, and stitch to gether a certain kind of mushrooms which is then made into garments; and in Bohemia a large round toadstool is dried and the inside removed; it is turned bottom upward, fastened to the wall, and used to hold a beautiful trailing vine, which grows luxuriantly. -St. Nicholas.

The Highest Type of Hunting. In my estimation, the pursuit of the mountain sheep is the highest type of hunting our continent affords. To "collect" an old ram requires good lungs, good legs, good judgment, and good shooting. In the doing of it you are bound to rise in the world, to expand mentally, morally, and physically, and to come under the spell that nature always lays upon the hunter who once sets foot upon her crags and peaks. I regret the disappearance of the mountain sheep even more than the passing And, as a matter of fact, it often hapof the buffalo and elk, for it is an animal of finer mold and stronger and more interesting character every way It is much more alert than the mountain goat, and therefore more difficult to shoot so say the men who have hunted both.
