Clever Counterfeiters.

The recent arrest of Brockaway, one of the oldest and most experienced counterfeiters in the country, has called public attention afresh to that branch of the government service which is organized for the purpose of protecting Uncle Sam's money. Those who have visited the office of the secret service in the Treasury building in Washington will no doubt recall the features of Brockaway, who occupies a place of honor in the gallery, which has been aptly termed the "rogue's gallery." Here may be found the faces of men who for years past have attempted to make and pass counterfeit bills and pieces of money.

It is one of the most interesting places in the Nation's Capital, and it is perhaps due to the fact that, as the bulk of the community lead honest and industrious lives, and careers of those who pursue the opposite course or of more or less interest. At any rate, whatever the motive, it is well known that everything that relates to crime and criminals possesses a fascinating interest for the average man and woman.
To gratify this tendency or weakness of human nature, as well as to furnish a practical object lesson of what Uncle Sam has done in the past and what he is likely to do in the future if he finds anybody attempting to usurp his right to coin money, there is always on exhibition a collection of pictures of noted counterfeiters, and also of the tools which they use.

Whenever an officer of the government seizes a counterfeit, he confis-cates all the spurious money which he is able to find and the best specimens of the skill of these men are framed and hung up for the inspection of visitors. The collection shows some crude work, as well as some exceedingly skillful work. It is very evident, however, even to the casual visitor who inspects this exhibit of the skillful dishonesty of the country, that Uncle Sam has introduced so many improvements in the manufacture of this paper money, that it is practically impossible to counterfeit it with any success.

Even Brockaway, who is admitted to be the cleverest engraver that ever engaged in the business, was unable to reproduce the paper itself, and the result was that the notes he turned out were rather easy to detect. In the production of silver coins, however, the counterfeiters have more opportunity, but still such a rigid watch is maintained that it is rather difficult to pass the coins after they are made.

In the Treasury exhibit are found the molds and plates and dies which have been used by those who rob Uncle Sam. It is not supposed that the display of these tools, and the product of perverted talents, has the bad effect of suggesting the idea of going into the business. The outlook is not a very encouraging one, as the records show that all of those who have adopted this calling, and who have earned their place in this National Rogue's Gallery, have paid the penalty by terms of varying lengths in the penitentiary. Whatever fascination the business might have, it is not likely to be increased by looking over this collection which represents the wrong-doing of men and women who are made to suffer the penalties of their crimes.

Some of the pictures of the men and women who have been arrested for counterfeiting show that they are not of the ordinary criminal type, but are evidently plain people living in the country, who have perhaps ignorantly yielded to temptation and adopted their business as an easy way of making money. It is certainly not as hard as digging potatoes or hoeing corn, that is, in the amount of physical effort put forth, and then it is usually represented that the returns are very large and the risks small.

Experience generally proves that both of these latter representations are false, but then it is too late to be of much use to a man who has ruined his life and is suffering the penalty of the law. However, there are always those who think they will be exceptions to the general rule, and this is one reason why the ranks of counterfeiters are kept recruited and that the secret service of the Treasury Department continues in existence.

Odd Fellows at a Banquet.

On Friday evening last a number of Odd Fellows from the New Berlin Lodge domiciled themselves at the Central Hotel for a chicken and waffle supper. Mr. Smith, the proprietor of the central hotel is a member of this lodge. The Middleburgh orchestra was engaged for the occasion. The visitors present were as follows: S. E. Gross, A. M. Wonder, Leonard Boyer, Chas. Miller, Chas. Spitzer, J. D. Spitzer, S. M.
Kauffman, Dr. D. R. Rothrock and wife, J. W. Hoeh and wife, Reno Crossgrove and F. King.

Mrs. Smith, in her usual prolific way, prepared a feast fit for a king.
At a late hour the guests started for home being highly elated over the hospitable entertainment and the strains of choice music.

Farmers' Alliance Picnic.

The Farmers' Alliance of Snyder county held their annual picnic on Saturday in Bower's grove. The agriculturists of our fertile district turned out en masse to hear the doctrine advocated for the amelioration of the condition of the down trodden farmer. The speakers were S. T. Ailman, John A. Gundy, Profs.
Bowersox and Herman. Mr. Gundy made a general tirade upon banks and their system of high rates. He found fault with nearly everything done by the last legislature. Mr.
Herman corrected some of Mr.
Gundy's random shots and appeased the wrath of the destroying angel.

The Farmers can justly feel proud of their most excellent organization and the good it is accomplishing in assisting to bring about a wholesome union for the protection of our agricultural brethren.

A CATSKILL HOTEL MAN.

(From Catskill, N. Y., Recorder.)

Mr. Joseph McGiffert, one of our prominent hotel proprietors, has reason to extol the merits of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. In speaking of it he said: "I was all run down from kidney and liver trouble, three physicians treated me but I grew worse. A friend said to me, 'Why don't you use Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy? It cured me.' So I began its use the result was I gained daily, and in a little while I was well and sound again. I suppose I have recommended it to a hundred or more of my summer boarders, and in every instance it has done them good."

There is one medicine which every family should be provided with. We refer to Chamberlain's Pain Balm.
When it is kept at hand the severe pain of a burn or scald may be promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate attention, before the parts become swollen, and when Chamberlain's Pain Balm is applied it will heal them without matter being formed, and without leaving a scar. A sore throat may be cured in one night. A piece of flannel dampened with this liniment and bound on over the seat of pain, will cure lame back or pain in the side or chest in twenty-four hours. It is the most valuable, however, for rheumatism. Persons afflicted with this disease will be delighted with the prompt relief from pain which it affords, and it can be depended upon to effect a complete cure. For sale by J. W. Sampson, Fenns Creek, Pa.

An Editor Misinformed.

The Sunbury Evening Item of Tuesday gets matters pretty well mixed concerning Dr. Amig's wedding. The Item states that the Editor of this paper was married.
We informed the Editor of the Item that Dr. Amig and Miss Marks were married, but there were others in to see the Item's reporter who insisted that it was the Editor of the Post who was married. Evidently the reporter preferred to believe others.
We can assure the Item that we were not married and our trip to Niagars Falls was taken last summer with a "lone hand."

To Our Readers.

We desire to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of John Wedderburn & Co., Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, at Washington, D. C. To those of an inventive turn of mind.

$1,800 GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS will prove interesting. If you desire to secure a valid patent, and feel sure that your ideas or the secret entrusted to your attorney will not be imposed upon, we would recommend John Wedderburn & Co., to your kind consideration. This firm has had years of experience in the practice of patent law, and is thoroughly competent to handle that class of business, and bear the reputation of being diligent in the interests of their clients. We are somewhat interested ourselves in this concern, and in recommending it to our readers we have to say, that perhaps it would be well to consult us when you are ready to make your application for letter patent.

SELINGSGROVE.

The Selingsgrove ball club played the K. A. C. in Northumberland on Saturday; they defeated both the K. A. C's and the umpire until the sixth inning when the score was 2 to 1 in favor of Selingsgrove. The umpire saw defeat staring them in the face and as a remedy allowed three runs to be made on foul flies. Then the Northumberland pitcher hit two men who were not allowed to take their base. This raised a disturbance and broke up the game. The score was 5 to 4 in favor of the K. A.
C., but even the citizens of Northumberland concede the game to our boys. Rev. S. E. Bateman and wife of Philadelphia spent several days with the former's parents, Jacob Bateman and wife. Frank Simpson of Pittsburg spent Sunday with his father, Col. A. C. Simpson.
Miss Nettie Hendricks and Miss Minnie Row drove to New Berlin on Saturday. Grandmother McKelvey of Danville is visiting friends in this place. Miss Annie Potter has returned from an extended visit to Lycoming and Clinton counties.
H. E. Davis of Sunbury was in town on Monday. A. W. Potter made a business trip to Philadelphia last week. Al. Frantz, a brakeman in the yard at this place, had one of his fingers crushed last Friday. Mrs.
Geo. Heimbach of Millersburg spent several days with his mother, Mrs.
B. A. Moyer of the East End.

WEST BEAVER.

A party of men took to the mountain on the first inst. to try their luck with the fleet-footed deer. Some of our farmers commenced husking corn. J. Irvin Howell expects to be ready shortly for business in his new store room. It would have done a blind man good to see the party. Fred Gundrum had on last Monday store away the good things, Mrs. Gundrum and Mrs. John O. Goss had prepared for the occasion. Howard Gibboney and family of Big Valley were visiting at Wm. Stealy's last week. On account of Mrs. Stealy being on the sick list. The sale on last Saturday at the old home of L. J. Romig was large and things brought a very fair price. T. F. Swineford and W.
J. Koch made a trip to Juniata county in search of peaches. James Stealy bought the family mare at the sale for $1.68. Bos.

UNITED IN MATRIMONY.

Dr. John C. Amig, a successful dentist of this place, makes the nuptial vows with Miss Nettie, Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L.
Marks.

On Tuesday morning at the home of the bride in Swineford, Dr. John C. Amig, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Amig of Franklin Township, was married to Miss Annetta May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L.
Marks.

The guests having assembled, Lohengrin's Wedding March was played by Miss Lillian Stetler which gave the notice of the graceful approach of the bridal couple. Rev.
D. E. McLain, pastor of the Evangical Lutheran church, was stationed in the north-east corner of the parlor and spoke the words which joined the two in the bonds of matrimony.

Miss Marie Johnson of Lewistown acted as bridesmaid and Charles Marks, a brother of the bride served in the capacity of "best man." After the formal declaration that the two were husband and wife the congratulations were freely and sincerely bestowed. The guests were then invited to participate in a sumptuous wedding breakfast prepared under the careful supervision of Mrs.
Marks. The wants of the inner man were fully and completely satisfied.

The bridal party with a number of friends boarded the train at 8:48 for Sunbury. Dr. Amig and his bride on their wedding tour expect to visit Watkins Glen, Rochester, Buffalo and Niagara Falls to be gone about a week. The vicinities of the ceremony were: J. L. Marks, wife and son, Amig, wife and son, Milton, Misses Marie Johnson, Libbie and Gertie Dunkelberger, Lillian Stetler, Annie Showers, Miriam Orwig, Naomi Schoch, Susie Beaver, Margaret Bolender, Bertie Erhart, Mabel Buchman, Rev. D. E. McClain and Geo. W. Wagenseller.

A large number of valuable and useful presents were presented to the bride.

The Post and the many friends of the bride and groom unite in wishing the young couple many happy years of wedded life.

The Times office is in receipt of a copy of the Window Reporter, of Window, Minnesota. The paper contains a handsome portrait and sketch of Dr. F. R. Weiser, who practiced medicine at McKees Half Falls, about two years ago. Dr.
Weiser married Miss Jennie Schoch, of this place, and they have since resided at Window, and the doctor is now one of that town's leading physicians.—Times.

PORT TREVERTON.

Herdon planing mill is well stocked with orders. It is running twelve hours, daily at present. Schools opened Monday morning. Many an urehin made his debut in to the pedagogogue's presence with fear and trembling. While we are not suffering a water famine, the coal diggers were forced to suspend operations, because of the extreme lowness of the river. A story is in circulation that Hummel offered five bushels, to have his buckwheat mown. After it was threshed, he found it necessary to purchase a bushel to satisfy the mower as but 4 bushels proceeded from the crop.
Hard times in our section are certainly not attributable to a failure of the staple crops. Potatoes never were more plentiful, corn is from ten to fifteen feet tall and stalks with three ears are not uncommon. Cider apples, too, are plenty, and may be purchased at five cents per bushel. Where there is such abundance, even the poor can have sufficient apple sauce, mush, and roast potatoes. Everybody should subscribe for the Post. It is always up to date, and its editor is a hundred years ahead of the age.
