Time and Tide.

"Time and tide wait for no man" saith the adage-but there are many other things of the non-waiting kind which will not be put off and ought Lot to be. Half the misery of the world is caused by delay, and Rheuma-tism is one of those insidious ills which demands prompt attention, especially in midwinter, when the cold accelerates its ac-tion and intensilies pain. If allowed to have its way, it will wait for no man in its rapid development of the chronic stage. When this is reached, then come troubles, not only in its missery but in many ways where a beliethis is reached, then come tros where a help-in its misery but in many ways where a help-thic sufficer, out of In its missery but in many ways where a help-less condition throws the sufferer out of work and money. But whether in its acate, chronic or inflammatory stage, don't wait. The tide of rain will go on and so will loss of time. At the same time we all know that St. Jacobe Oil is made and sold for the ex-press purpose of curing the worst cases in their worst form at any stage. It has cured and will cura in nine cases out of ten and will cure in nine cases out of ten.

AWFUL LOSS OF LIFE.

Many Sailors Go Down on Stranded Ships-Lashed to the Masta.

The British ship Moresby, Capt. Coomber, was stranded Wednesday off the Ballinacourty lighthouse, pear Dungarven, about a mile and a half from the shore. Her crew. numbering thirty-six men, were lashed to her rigging throughout the night.

Later in the day a lifeboat succeeded in getting the Moresby and rescued several of her crew. The others, however, remained lashed to the rigging. The Moresby, at the time the lifeboat was driven away from her, was breaking up.

In spite of all the efforts made to save them, nineteen of Moresby's crew perished, including the captain, his wife and son, and all the officers. The captain, with his son strapped to his back, made a gallant attempt to swim ashore, while the mate swam with the captain's wife strapped to his back.

A large three-masted vessel was seen flying signals of distress in Kingstown bay. A lifeboat which went to her assistance was capsized and her erew of sixteen men were

BOTH TO ONE COMPANY.

Newport News Will Get Both the New Battleships

Secretary Herbert has practically concluded to award the contract for the construction of battleships 5 and 6 to the Newport News dry dock and ship building company, of Virginia, at their bid of $2,250,000 for each ship. It was found upon careful inspection of the law authorizing the construction of ships that the department could not go behind the face of the bids, so it was not possible to allow the other bidders to scale down their bids to meet the low bid of the Newport News ompany save with their consent.

While it was the intention of Congress to while it was the intention of Congress to have one of the ships built on the Pacific coast if the terms were reasonable, in order to carry out this intent Secretary Herbert was obliged to declare that the difference between the Newport News 144 of $2,350,000 for one ship, and the Union iron works. of San Francisco, bid of $2,740,000 for one ship was only a reasonable difference, which he could scarcely do, in the face of the decision made by his predecessor, Secretary Tracy, that that difference should not in any case exceed three per cent.

The English in India.

Not so very long ago I heard a civil surgeon gaily tell at a mess dinner how the other day he had felt constrained to teach a native somewhat forcibly his respectful duty to the "ruling race." The native had his whiskers and beard tied up-as all natives like to have them when traveling -when be met him on a country road, The doctor pulled him up and demanded to know why he had not undone his face cloth when he sawa sahib coming. Then, suddenly remembering that he had a pair of forceps in his pocket, he dismounted, and, taking the poor man's head under his powerful arm, extracted two of his teeth, saying, "Now tie up your mouth, my man.
You have some excuse now." That is how some of us try to teach the poor natives to be loyal. A similar lusson we give in a slighty different way to the wealthy and noble native. It is e, I believe, that a Governor ay felt constrained to withom the membership of the ub when he found that the barred him from inviting as st any native whatsover, no how distinguished or noble. was the Governor's protest the arrogance of his fellow-ymen and their supercilious ent of the natives, and the ofworld of Bombay never forgave for it. - Contemporary Review.

TINY REPUBLICS.

Small Countries that Maintain Their Independence.

The number of small republics that have stood the test of time and preserved their autonomy in spite of the lealousies of their powerful neighbor s greater than most people imagine.

Pitcairn Island, situated in the Patific Ocean, has long remained in the peculiar position of being independent and free from interference without ever having had its national existence formally recognized. Its first settlers, from whom the present inhabitants are exclusively descended, were the mutinous crew of an English man-ofwar, H. M. S. Bounty, famous in story. Lying in the southern seas, in the region of the Australian continent, is the Island of Franceville. One of the New Hebrides, it is not far from New Caledonia. In area eighty-five miles, it is mainly occupied by about 500 natives, the white inhabitants being less than a hundred. France, which originally had control of this place, gave it, in 1879, a charter of independence, promising that no other power should be permitted to interfere with it. The people elect a President, who governs with the aid of an advisory council of sight members. The President, in addle tion to his administrative functions, exercises Judicial powers, and there is no appeal from his decisions. Although no office can be held by colored citizens, universal suffrage prevails, withnow the President is an American, R.

To Europe, however, we must look for the smallest of all self-governing peoples. Some dozen miles from the Sardinian coast to the northeast, the long, narow island of Tavelara rises from the sea. Five miles long and about half a mile wide, its soil is cultivated by the natives, only to a limited extent, fishing being the staple industry. The republic of Tavolara dates from 1886. The Island has a population of but fifty or sixty souls,

What Victoria Could Do.

As a matter of fact, says London Tit-Bits, our sovereigns have rarely taken any active part in politics since George III.'s time, but they could still do some very astonishing things if they chose, The queen could dismiss every Tommy Atkins in our army, from the commander in chief to the youngest drummer boy. She could disband the mayy in the same way, and sell all our ships, stores and arsenals to the first customer that came along. Acting entirely on her own responsibility, she could declare war against any foreign country, or make a present to any foreign power of any part of the empire. She could make every man, woman and child in the country a peer of the realm, with the right, in the case of males who are of age, to a sent in the house of lords. With a single word she could dismiss any government that imppeace) to be in party and ce id. it is believe, pardon and he rate all the criminals in our jails. These are a few of the things the queen could do if she liked; but it is not necessary to say that her majesty never acts in matters of state, except on the advice of the government for the time being.

Had No Use for Another Fortune A laborer employed in one of the from mills in Allegheny, earning the muniticent salary of $1.10 a day for wheeling ore in a wheelbarrow, received a telegram announcing that a relative in Ice land had died and left him $60,000. He left his job, went to Ireland, secured the eash and started upon a career of luxury and high living. Two years larer he reappeared in Pittsburg, asked for his old position and went back to wheeling ore. One day another telegram came announcing that a relative in England had died, leaving him $20,000. He threw up his hands in despair. "Hivins!" cried he. "Must Ol trow up me job and go over ther and waste another year or two in spending that? It's s shame to handleap a decint workin' man like that. Of'll sind word to thim Oi can't do lt?

Prosperity Came Through Pines. The region of the Landos, which, fifty years ago, was one of the poorest and most miserable in France, has now been made one of the most prosperous, owing to the planting of pines. The increased value is estimated at 1,000, 000,000 francs. Where there were, fifty years ago, only a few thousand poor and unhealthy shepherds, there are now sawmills, charcoal kilns and turpentine works, interspersed with thriving villages and fertile agricultural
