SHOT THE GIRL SHE LOVED

CHICAGO WOMAN'S CRIME.

After Murdering Her Friend She Commits Suicide

While walking along the street, Miss Mary Linnett, of Chicago, deliberately fired two shots into the back of Miss Eduabeth Trowbridge, a prominent young woman of this place, ausing instant death. Turning the weapon upon herself, Miss Linnett put a bullet into her own brain and fell lifeless by the side of her victim.

Miss Trowbridge was an attendant at the asytum and had charge of Miss Linnett. The patient became greatly attached to her nurse during her confinement, and as it now ap-pears conceived even greater passion for her than for her Chicago friend. When she was discharged as cured, she did not want to discharged as cured, she did not want to leave the acylum, on account of the separation from Aliss Trowbridge. She was finally persuaded to return home, however, and has been in Chicago since last Recember, apparently in her natural mind. Again she met Miss Trowbridge and went walking.

This assurance does not carry with it the weight which it would in coming from any other government, it is controlly as there is no question but the Turkish officials have been trying to prove that the missionaries are not "conforming with the laws of the "country," and it was on tols ground that the Sulfan preserved and protably signed the trade pre-velog for their expulsion from the Turkish describers. But the publicity given to the most or in the press has certainly caused a heavilian at the palace, and it is now thought likely that the trade will be withhold at least, until Russia has been further consuited on the subject
