This is a Centennial congregation and was founded in 1776 when all was embraced in Penn's township Cumberland county, afterwards Northumberland, then Union, now Snyder county. Those who organized the congregation found the county seat at Carlisle, afterwards Sunbury and New Berlin and the creek Twp., containing 86 acres for present generation at Middleburgh. In 1795 this territory was embraced in Mahontongo township. The present members reside in Perry, Chapman, Union and Washington townships being contiguous territory in the vicinity of the church.

Thomas McKee, the Indian trader, was the first white settler in Chapman township as far as Snyder county extends. In 1755 he took out his first warrant for a large tract of land along Mahoutonga extending along the river including half falls and land now owned and occcupied by members of Grub's church.

Jay G. Weiser, Esq., of Middle burgh, in the two volumes of "Fron tier Forts," gives an interesting and satisfactory bistory of Thomas Mc-Kee. History and tradition agree that John Shamory, who was a carpenter, built the old Grub's church and he was the second person interred in the grave-yard behind the church. He was one of the earliest settlers. He emigrated from Germany to this country, and was sold for a term of three years to pay his passage across the ocean. He served his time in Baltimore. After he had served his time, he came up the Susquehanna river, took up a tract of land, built a hut, where the old house on the farm of George Heintzelman, deceased, was afterwards built. The settlers were troubled with the Indians at that time. He removed to Bucks county but returned again about 1796 and lived in the vicinity of his first settlement until he died. His son, John Shamory, was born in 1773 and died 1878 at the advanced age of 85 years at the house of his greatgrand-son, Isaac S. Longacre, in Union township now also deceased.

He is also interred in the Grub's church cemetery. Some of the lands owned by members of this congre-Joseph Britam was a soldier in the Revolution, and he cwned the farm now owned by Thomas Paige, Esq. Adam Nerhood, Frederick the war of 1812.

The ground of 42 acres was selected about 1770 on which to erect a church and school house and ground for a cemetery. They neglected to apply for a warrant to have it surveyed. Only in 1790 after occupying twenty years were the legal title papers secured.

Simon Snyder, then a Justice of the Peace, and afterwards Governor of Pennsylvania, was employed to Stinging sensations when voiding distress presprepare a deed by which it was conveyed to Henry Rine and Casper Arnold for the Lutheran and Calvinistic or Reformed church by G. Ulrich to whom the warrant was issued for 42 acres and 17 perches and the usual allowance. It was then situate in Penn township, Northumberland county. The deed was made "pursuant to an act of the General Assembly, enacted in the third year of the the reign of King George the Second, entitled an act pons will be created to whomsever the sub-scriber names. It must be understood that no contestant is authorized to due of Protestants within the then Profor the enabling Religious Societies vince (but now State) of Pennsylvania to purchase lands and burying grounds, churches, houses for worship, schools, etc. and for no other use, intent or purpose whatsoever" another patent deed was issued by John Cochran, Secretary of the In the official language of the Police | Land Office, Feb. 19, 1812.
