THE RULE IN POLITICS.

Address Who Had No Use For a Property...
The proposal to have a property and...
...educational qualification for voters was...
...discussed in Louisiana some time ago.
...The article voted against the proposed...
...amendment to the constitution almost...
...to a man. The action of a large number...
...of them can readily be understood when...
...one considers an incident which occur-
...ed one day before the election at the...
...Democratic headquarters at New Or-
...leans.

A tall, lean creole went to the head-
...quarters and asked to have the question...
...of issue explained. One of the party...
...leaders explained, and when he had fin-
...ished the visitor said: "I haf a couseen,
...Alphonse. He no read, no write. He...
...vote?"
"Has he any property?" asked the...
...man who had explained things.
"Non. Oh, oui. A mule, Jacques."
"How much is the mule worth?"
"Two hundred dollar."
"Alphonse can vote," said the Dem-
...ocratic leader.

The tall creole was silent awhile and...
...stood, with his eyes fastened in medita-
...tion on the floor. At length he began...
...again:
"I haf a couseen, Jean Baptiste. He...
...no read, no write. He vote?"
"Does Jean Baptiste own anythin'?"
"Non."
"Not even a mule?"
"Non."
"Then Jean Baptiste can't vote."
"Alphonse vote?"
"Yes. Alphonse owns a mule."
"If 'e mule die, Alphonse vote?"
"No."
The creole again fixed his eyes on the...
...floor, and for a long time was silent.
...Then he looked up and cried:
"Ah, I seel Ze mule vote. Me no...
...want at 'em!"—New York Sun.

Reasonable Request.

"Have you anything to say?" asked...
...the judge.
"W'y, only this, your honor," an-
...swered the pickpocket. "I only ask...
...that you won't let 'em handcuff me...
...while they take me to the pen."
"Want to have a better chance to es-
...cape, eh?"
"Indeed I don't. Upon my word and...
...honor I don't. I jist thought that if my...
...hands was loose I might get a chance...
...to make me expenses some way or an-
...other on the trip."—Cincinnati En-
...quirer.

She Had Made a Discovery.

"I hope," she said thoughtfully,
...that you won't have anything more to...
...say about the manner in which women...
...hunt bargains and get cheated."
"Why not? Don't you think your sex...
...deserves it?"
"I'm not going to discuss that point.
...Even if we do deserve the criticism it...
...does not come gracefully from a man...
...who says hair restorer regularly from...
...a beheaded barber."—Washington...
Star.

...riders always want to take such long...
...rides."
"No, it isn't a bit queer. We are...
...afraid to stop and get off for fear we...
...can't get on again."—Detroit Free...

July and October.

"I will take 11 yards of this silk."
"Yes, Miss Van Avenue. I believe I...
...was honored with an introduction to...
...you at Newport in July!"
"This is October. Cut it off and de-
...liver it at once."—New York Herald.

The Candidate.

Who for office was,
And these were his methods—
His campaigning plan:
Rose at six,
With all his styles,
And went into the race like bright
Before the clock
Had struck ten;
Had paid the tax
Of twenty men;
Had cast their children
Off to school,
And raised a mortgage
From a mule;
Had gone to court
With smiling face
And quickly won
A voter's case;
Had planked five shining
Dollars down
To help 'em build
A church in town;
Had warded off
A sheriff's sale
And paid a poor man
Out of jail;
Had solved six widows'
De-ath's case
And made a campaign
On the 'low seas,
And still they never
Heard him groan
When fifteen fellows
Lashed a rope.
He took no notes,
Expended no funds,
But freely gave his money out.
This was the man
Who for office was,
And that was his
Campaigning plan.
So, just the same,
For all his crimes,
And now spite of
The double 'L' in
His name,
He's a candidate in
Alabama's Convention.
