

Eczema Her Life.

Another case showing that few remedies which cure deep-seated diseases. Eczema is one of the most obstinate blood troubles, and it completely this disease out of all other evidences of whether obstinate or mild. A few men better known all over the country than Mr. E. D. Jenkins resides at Lithonia, Georgia, the owner of a quarry of the Lithonia granite, which is extensively used in several places and is acknowledged to have been as a paving stone. His wife lived in DeKalb for forty years and everybody knows them.

When she was a year old, he had a recent interview, "my wife has suffered from Eczema. I have never heard of a worse and so dreadful disease. For three years she has been badly broken down, and frequently rendering her to attend school. Her arms would crack open and bleed, and scale off by the handfuls. One time an awful sore appeared on her ear, which became severely inflamed and almost dropped off. She also broke out on her head and face as a continuous mass of sores and her condition was truly pitiful."

When we have done all we could for her, and have given her all the known treatment. She has tried mixtures and various salves and applications by the whole family almost every so-called blood purifier without the slightest relief. Year by year we could not get any encouragement that she would ever be well. I was advised to send her to Hot Springs, Arkansas, a celebrated spring in Michigan told that this was the only earth of her ever being cured, and she was too aggravated to be cured by medicines.

Months ago, someone recommended S. S. S., and as soon as her system taken on the effects of this improvement was noticed. After all the while and we tried to improve in every way. We tried to see her so much better the first time, felt that she was well. The medicine was quite longer, and now she is as well as well, her skin is clear and she has been saved from being blighted her life. The cure is all the more remarkable she inherited the disease. It has been in our family for several years, and I am happy to find a cure for a disease which specialists in the world fail to cure. S. S. S. is a most wonderful, and it certainly has no equal in the world of blood diseases which all diseases do not seem to touch. Experience is like that of all other relief from the many so-called purifiers, only to be discouraged. Only to expect a cure from this disease by the use of salves, or any external application. The cure is in the blood, and the real remedy can eliminate it. A real blood remedy, guaranteed vegetable, and for real deep-seated diseases, has no equal. It cures Scrofula, Tetters, and all of the many blood diseases. It has made some truly remarkable cures. Full accounts can be had on application; our books on blood and skin diseases also sent free to any address. Specific Company, Atlanta.

THE CRIME OF 1892

It Is Grinding Men Down to Poverty and Want.
PEOPLE PROSPEROUS ONCE.
But the Demagogue Got Loose Then as He Is Now.

TAKEN UP ON A MOUNTAIN.

When the McKinley "Protective Tariff" Was Voted Down in the Fall of 1892, the Greatest Crime of Our Nation's History Was Committed—It Stopped Our National Progress and Took the Daily Bread from Thousands of American Working-men.

We remember hearing a story of one of the rigidly orthodox preachers who devoted twelve Sundays to a series of sermons on "The Sins of the Babylonians." He was not unlike the people who are now much exercised about "the crime of 1873," while they forget entirely the greater crime of 1892. If there was a crime committed in 1873, it is twenty-three years old, and the statute of limitations bars proceedings.

More than that, it is a question not yet settled whether any crime was committed in 1873; but if it was, the extent of injury is so variously estimated that it partakes of the nature of injury done by the sins of the Babylonians, and ought to be relegated to the investigators of prehistoric remains who are digging in the works of the mound builders. The crime of 1873 is not hurting anybody now, but the crime of 1892 is grinding men down to poverty and want, and lining our public roads with a procession of tramps. That is a crime worth investigating and worth the best efforts of the voters to correct it.

The country was prosperous and its people happy in 1892. The people could not live without work, but they had work at remunerative wages, and were prospering. But the demagogue got loose among them. He told them they were poor, and that they would have been rich if the crime of 1873 had not been committed. He made the farmers believe that, instead of being the most prosperous people in the world, they were the poorest. He took them in the spirit into high mountains and showed them the "gems from the mountain, the pearls from the ocean, the myrrh from the forest and the gold of the mines," and said they should have all these tumbled into their laps if they would elect him to congress and Cleveland to the presidency. That infernal lie was the inducement which led the poor dupes of free trade—the simple little ostriches—to stick their heads into the sand.

When the McKinley protective tariff was voted down in the fall of 1892 the greatest crime of our nation's history was committed. We stopped our national progress. We took from our own people, by the millions, their daily bread. We ceased to employ our own people, to manufacture or otherwise produce what we needed for home consumption, and we employed men in England, France, Germany and Italy to do that work, and paid our money to men beyond the seas, instead of giving it to our own neighbors and countrymen. We thus brought want and misery to our own people.

That crime is what we are now dealing with. That is the whole point there is in the political campaign now in progress. We want to undo the crime of 1892, and punish the perpetrators of it. That is what this election is about and nothing else.—Meadville Tribune-Republican.

VOTE FOR STURTEVANT.

Making a Splendid Fight Against Silliness in Erie and Crawford.

The Republican candidate for congress for the Erie-Crawford district is a man of whom not one word has been said, nor can be said, against his character as an honest man. He is a man of the people and for the people, and a man whom the people will cast their votes for on the 3d of November. He has made a clean canvass and won for himself the respect and confidence of every voter with whom he has come in contact. He has used no arguments of the bombastic order, nor has he resorted to the low and contemptible style or oratory—trying to make the people believe that the classes are against the masses.

Mr. Sturtevant tells the voters that "there are no classes. We are all one common people. All working for the greatest number." How different on the other side of the house—trying to create strife and discontent among neighbors, telling them to repudiate their honest debts, holding before their eyes visions of free silver and untold wealth, visions of luxury, ease and idleness.

The word "free" is illuminated with all the colors of the rainbow; the word "free" is emphasized on every occasion to allure the voters to their ruin.

Mr. Sturtevant tell the voters to read, post themselves, look up the records of the past and compare the result with what the Popocrats tell us is in store for the future—if you only put them in power.

No, the voters of this district are too intelligent a class of men to be driven to their destruction by these false prophets who are preaching "down with law," "down with justice," and who, if they could, would down our nation's credit, her honor and her prosperity.

Vote for Sturtevant. Vote for the entire Republican ticket.

THOMAS JEFFERSON, 1784.
"The proportion between the value of gold and silver is a mercantile problem altogether."
"Just principles will lead us to disregard legal proportion altogether! To figure into the market price of gold in the several countries with which we shall principally be connected by commerce, and to take an average from them."

PENNSYLVANIA must head the Republican column in November.

By the end of the month it looks as if the betting odds may be about 16 to 1 on McKinley.

Votes for protection, reciprocity and sound money. In other words, vote for McKinley and Hobart.

The delegation of ex-Confederate soldiers to visit Canton is one of the most complete proofs of the unity of the two sections, and their desire for sound money and order.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Republican Simplicity.
WHAT a contrast between being president and trying to be! Crowds follow the boy orator wherever he moves. President Cleveland goes to the theater and no one knows he is there; he makes a long journey from Buzzard's Bay to Washington, and attracts no more notice than any other traveler. Here is republican simplicity, with a difference.—Philadelphia Telegraph.
