The Hist Given to a Seventh Daughter of a Seventh Daughter.

A lawyer who was engaged in settling up the affairs of an estate was some-what worried over the loss of certain letters and papers.

The deceased had been a careless person, and he had mislaid several documents that were of importance to his heirs. Having been called away from this earth on a hasty summons, he had not given the lawyer any instructions

The lawyer had a helpful friend who believed in clairvoyancy and second sight. This friend went to a woman who was the seventh daughter of a seventh daughter, and who could read the stars at sight, and told her of the lawyers search for the papers.

The clairvoyant or fortune teller, or whatever she may have been, went to see the lawyer.

The lawyer was skeptical. I really believe I can find these papers for you. said she. "If you care to employ me I shall at least endeavor to find them. A few weeks ago I found a lost will for a family on the north side,"

"You really think you can find these papers?

"I am quite sure of it." "You go ahead and find them, and I'll pay you liberally." But I must receive every assistance from you and the relatives of the departed. I must be taken to his home and put in sympathy with his former sur-

"Not much. I'll not go to all that trouble. I think you're a fraud." The woman gave him a stony stare and swept out of the room. About five minutes later she re-entered the office. She appeared to be agitated. "Excuse me for coming back," she said, "but did I leave a small black bag in here? I wouldn't lose it for the "I haven''t seen it. You don't remember where you left it?" "I can't imagine."

"That hadn't ought to worry you. If you can find papers that have been missing six months, you hadn't ought to have any difficulty in finding a handbag that was lost ten minutes ago."

"You are positively insulting," said the seventh daughter of the seventh daughter, and then she left him forever. -Chicago Record.

GENERAL BUTLER.

He Was the First Presidential Candidate to Employ a Press Agent.

"General Butler originated the employment and coined the term of press agent at political headquarters," remarked a gentleman who has given many years to the consideration of active politics. "During his campaign for the presidency on the labor ticket he noticed that the representatives of the newspapers gave but little attention to the labor ticket headquarters. He decided that this should not continue. Bailey, the circus man, who was a friend of General Butler, took some interest in his campaign, and General Butler spoke to him of the neglect of the newspapers. 'Do as we do,' replied Bailey, 'and hire men to take your stuff to the papers - we call them press thing else.'

"The idea was adopted immediately and Bailey was asked to spare one of his press agents for a couple of months, which he consented to do, and sent Major Hugh Coyle, who resides in this city during the off circus season, to report to General Butler. Coyle was therefore the first political press agent employed as such. He took hold of the Butler boom and played it for all it was worth, and ran the campaign on regular circus principles. He had a man three or four days ahead of the general, whose duty it was to organize Butler clubs in case there was not any or where the club agents, though you can call them any-

"The clubs were organized on the principles and in the same way that armies, villagers and ballets are secured for theatrical or circus representations -that is, hired for the time they were occupied in making the parade. The uniforms, banners, flags, drums, transparencies and other paraphernalia of political clubs were owned by General Butler, and, like a circus tent, were sent to the city where they were to be used one or two days in advance. There is hardly any political organization these days which does not have a press agent, but there are few of them who will ever compare with Hugh Coyle, for he combined great experience with intelligence and was a manager in every sense. '-Washington Star.

was an insignificant affair.

The Glamour of Distance.

It is laughable how the consuls of the different nations in Africa, Asia and South America are frequently criticised by their papers at home for not being more assiduous in Looking after the commercial interests of their countries, and how they are bidden to take pattern by the representatives of other nations. Thus the British trade papers hold the German and United States consuls up as admirable examples, and the United States and Germany go into raptures over the faithful and energetic conduct of the Britishers. And so it goes on .-New York Merchants' Review.

Sing Sing's Favorite Book.

There is a touch of pathos in the statement that the book most frequently called for in the library of Sing Sing prison is Charles Reade's "Never Too Late to Mend." The same author's "Put Yourself In His Place" holds the second place in popularity with the in-mates of the prison.

The superior inventive genius of Americans is clearly shown in the report of the commissioner of patents, who says that 82 foreign countries, including Great Britain, Germany, Russia and France, have only issued from earliest time up to Dec. 81 last 981,961 patents, against 562,458 issued so far by this country alone.

HOW TO PREVENT CROUP.

SOME READING THAT WILL PROVE IN TERRESTING TO YOUNG MOTHERS. HOW TO GUARD AGAINST THE DISKASE

Croup is a terror to young mothers and to post them concerning the cause, first symptoms and treatment is the object of this item. The origin of eroup is a common cold. Children who are subject to it take cold very easily and croup is almost sure to follow. The first symptom is hoarses ness: this is soon followed by a culiar rough cough, which is easily recognized and will never be forgot ten by one who has heard it. The time to act is when the child first be-comes hourse. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given all tendency to croup will soon disappear. Even after the croupy cough has developed it will prevent the attack. There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains nothing in-jurious. For sale by all druggists.
