The verdict of the people regarding Sarsaparilla, Catarrh, scrofula, rheumatism, nervous troubles yield to this fact: the One True Blood Purifier. Cures scrofula, indigestion, biliousness. 50 cents.

It will do for you if you are not a man with red whiskers, aching back, and the remains of a cold in the head last winter, and asked for a typewriter's life in Kansas, not far from the football games. Luck had on the same side of the street in the matter of bet, and he to stay another week. But his typewriter had him, so he was in a typewriter to send home a letter as an apology for his absence. "I am sure," he said, "I will go to Fort Scott."—Kansas.

MAN'S POWER.

It is the destiny of men and nations. The man who is a disadvantage, and the woman who is an advantage. A woman's beauty, love and devotion, and a man's strength and moral power. Such women are like flowers in a field, and such men are like mountains in a valley. They are the strength and the glory of the world. They are the hope of the future and the light of the present. They are the power of God on earth.

SELECTING PICTURES.

The value of a picture depends upon what there is in it for its possessor. It is not the picture itself, but the story it tells, the lesson it teaches, the joy it brings. A picture is a window into another world, a window into the hearts of others. It is a mirror of our own souls, and it is a window into the hearts of others. It is a window into the hearts of others.

ENTITLED TO THE PRIZE.

Some years ago there lived in England a certain bishop who was extreme in his pomposity, and very fond of impressing upon the minds of the poorer people the evil of doing wrong. As they never seemed to do aught but wrong in the worthy man's opinion, it sometimes became irksome to those people to hear him constantly admonishing them to do right. One of the bishop's habits was to visit the miners a short distance from his city, and his presence grew familiar to these toilers. During one of his visits he found a group of men talking together, and after a few preliminary words on his customary subject of doing right, he asked them what they were talking of.

"You see," said one of the men, "we found a kettle, and we have been trying to find out who it belongs to. We have found it, but we don't know what to do with it. The bishop was very surprised, and read the men a lecture in which he spoke of how strongly the offense of lying had been impressed upon him when he was young, and how he had never told a lie in the whole course of his life. He had hardly finished when one of the men cried out: "Give him the kettle, Jim! Give him the kettle."—Harpur's Round Table.

Sweetness and Light.

Put a pill in the pulpit if you want practical preaching for the physical man; then put the pill in the pillory if it does not practise what it preaches. There's a whole gospel in Ayer's Sugar Coated Pills; a "gospel of sweetness and light." People used to value their physis, as they did their religion,—by its bitterness. The more bitter the dose the better the doctor. We've got over that. We take "sugar in ours"—gospel or physic—now-a-days. It's possible to please and to purge at the same time. There may be power in a pleasant pill. That is the gospel of

A DISCOVERY.

The Professor's Unwelcome Increase of Knowledge.

One of Washington's scientists, as you found himself in an assemblage, there were a great many young men. He endeavored to rise—or, perhaps, to descend—to the occasion as gracefully as possible. Having been introduced to a number of young women, he decided to make himself agreeable by explaining some of the latest information in ethnology, and he became so absorbed in his discourse that he did not notice, until they were nearly all gone, that a youth with a nasal voice was winning his audience away from him with a funny song. He tried to again win his audience as the thief. A girl with a banjo wrecked his ambitions. He thought he was making some headway by means of his remarks on paleontology when a man who took a rabbit out of a silk hat eventually quenched his pride.

"My dear," he said to his wife, on their way home, "I have been thinking it over, and I think that the evening has been far from wasted."

"I was very much afraid that you would feel differently about it."

"No, I had made a very important and interesting discovery. The merest accidents sometimes lead to the most surprising revelations, and to-night I learned something which completely overturns an accepted theory."

"Is it possible?"

"We have been led to believe that the chief of all forces is the attraction of gravity."

"Yes."

"Well, I have found out to-night that there are times when it can't hold a candle to the attraction of levity."—Washington Star.

"The value of a picture depends upon what there is in it for its possessor," writes William Martin Johnson in the Ladies' Home Journal, on the "Selection and Framing of Pictures." "A painting by an amateur may be more precious in your eyes than one of Raphael's cartoons. Therefore, sell your cartoon to the highest bidder, and when you outgrow the little painting buy back the cartoon if you have learned to see its beauty."

"No one can tell you how to understand art without your seeing it, studying it, living with it, any more than any one can tell you how to tell good cloth from bad; you must first have had experience with cloth. Learn a language before you try to converse. But do not go so far as to imagine that you must learn drawing and painting before you can appreciate pictures. The less you know about technique the more capable you will be of looking at a painting with an unprejudiced eye. Get at the artist's intention. Does he express an idea to you? Is he interesting in the way he tells his story? Does he convince you of a truth? If the picture is that of a head does it impress you as having the characteristics of an individual? Does it look like a human being? Suppose a landscape is under discussion—do the trees sway, the clouds float? Is there any atmosphere in the painting? These are the tests of a painter's facility with language. But more than this is required—it is the intellectuality behind the brush. Herein lies the difference between sublime art and the commonplace."

CONGRESSIONAL.

Important Measures Under Consideration in Both Houses.

Representative Hall, of Iowa, chairman of the House committee on military affairs, held before the House to-day the report of that committee on the bill to reorganize the line of the army. It shows that successive generals of the army and secretaries of war for fifteen years have recommended that a new organization be adopted for the infantry so that each regiment be composed of 12 companies, making 12 battalions of four companies each.

An interesting feature of the report is that which is devoted to the reorganization of the artillery. It shows that when the system of coast defenses is completed it will require a total of 23,814 enlisted men to provide one regiment of the army, giving to the artillery 75 battalions of 18,000 men, with one battalion, consisting of 500 engineers, and a miscellaneous force in addition, bringing the total strength of the army up to 30,000.

IN THE SENATE.

Mr. Turpie resumed his speech in opposition to the Nicaragua canal bill.

It was agreed that Chandler's bill for an international monetary conference be taken up next Tuesday.

Mr. Quay presented a report of the conference committee on the army appropriation bill, stating that the committee had been unable to reach an agreement on all differences, except that as to the hospital at Hot Springs, Ark. The report was accepted and a further conference agreed.

The House resolution instructing the attorney-general to print in his report all correspondence bearing on the Chicago strike was agreed to, with a resolution for the appointment of a commissioner to consider the establishment of a bureau of mines was referred.

The House spent the day debating the Yeater Tucker contested election case from the Terra Virginia district.

IN THE SENATE TO-DAY.

Mr. Gallinger, Republican, New Hampshire, called attention to what he styled "extraordinary legislation" in the House in reducing pension bills for increase of pensions to the amounts already paid the pensioners.

J. E. Chandler, presented the credentials of J. E. Chandler, as Senator from Delaware, which were referred to the committee on elections. Mr. Turpie, Democrat, Indiana, concluded his speech against the Nicaragua canal bill.

After a two days' debate, in the course of which considerable partisan passion was aroused and an intellectual attempt to filibuster for the purpose of gaining time, the House decided the contested election case of Yeater Tucker, from the Terra Virginia district, by denying the seat to Mr. Yeater and confirming Mr. Tucker's title thereto.

THE PRESIDENT TO-DAY.

The president to-day sent to the senate, in response to a resolution, a report of the secretary of state transmitting a list of the claims filed against the United States against Spain for indemnity, the correspondence relating to the vessel, Competitor, and the persons claiming American citizenship captured thereon, which he "deems is not incompatible with the public interests to communicate."

The senate unexpectedly found itself discussing the new Anglo-American treaty. While the treaty itself had been released, all discussion of it is restricted to executive sessions. Notwithstanding this restriction, the persons claiming American citizenship captured thereon, which he "deems is not incompatible with the public interests to communicate."

THE SENATE ON SATURDAY.

The Senate on Saturday passed 104 yeas and 36 nays, reclassifying railway pension bills and bills to reclassify railway pension bills, and appropriating $50,000 for a statue of Lincoln at Gettysburg and $300,000 for the heirs of John Boach.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

Jan. 19.—The House got down to business shortly after 11 o'clock. Mr. West, of Berks county, rose to offer a bill and was told by Speaker Boyer that no committees would be appointed this week. A number of annual reports of financial and charitable institutions were presented and laid on the table, among them a report of the Western Pennsylvania hospital. Chief Clerk John H. West announced that he had appointed W. W. Meecham, of Homestead, Allegheny county, for journal clerk, and Mr. Meecham was at once sworn in by the speaker. The House then took a recess until 3 o'clock.

In the Senate bills were read as follows: By Senator Brown, of Westmoreland, authorizing the general auditor in officers to hold primary elections; $750 to provide for the construction of public roads; also appropriating $1,000,000 for public roads.

By Mr. Kauffmann, to provide for the payment of interest on state funds deposited in banks. This bill requires the banks to pay 2 per cent. interest to the state and give bonds to comply with the law.

By Mr. Crawford, requiring probate records to ascertain and record the names, residences and addresses of all holders of judgments and assignments of judgments entered on record.

By Mr. Stineman, to validate conveyances and other instruments which have been defectively acknowledged.

By Mr. Gray, amending the act exempting public property, etc., from taxation so that multiple assessments and other changes.

By Mr. McQuown, the title bill prepared by the state editorial association. The senate ordered 800 copies printed.

Mr. Thomas, of the state committee, offered a resolution that Louis M. Kelly, of Norristown, be elected reading clerk; John M. Lloyd, of York, clerk; Carlisle and T. S. Carzo, of Grove county, message clerks for terms of two years. The Democratic state was presented, and by vote the resolution of Mr. Thomas was adopted. The senate then took a recess until 3 o'clock.

When both houses reassembled the election of United States senator was the first order. The combined vote of the senate and house shows the following result: Boies Penrose, Rep., 210; John W. Wagoner, Rep., 1; Chauncey F. Biscoe, Dem., 29 absent 3.

June 2.—The following bills were introduced in the Senate: Mr. Burouse—Appropriating $50,000 for a free war library and museum in the Loyal Legion of Philadelphia; also to provide for incorporation of Pennsylvania boiler companies.

Mr. Finner—An anti-trust bill, with penalties.

Mr. McQuown—Providing for the election of road supervisors and the making of roads.

Mr. Goblin—To secure the registration of plumbers.

Mr. Hardenbergh—Making an appropriation for a monument over the grave of Samuel Meredith the first United States Treasurer.

Mr. Brown—Appropriating $20,000 to the German Hospital at Philadelphia.

Mr. Coye—Creating the office of county solicitor.

Mr. Grady—Repealing the act of 1863 relating to fees of magistrates, police and constables.

Mr. Mitchell offered a resolution providing for a joint committee of three senators and five representatives to investigate the present system under which the State treasury and auditor general's department are managed. After a short discussion it was agreed to.

The House refused to concur in a resolution introduced in the Senate by Mr. Mitchell, for a joint investigation by three senators and five representatives into the management and conduct of the State treasury and auditor general's department.

SENT FROM SEASPORT.

Miss S. Mollie Perce, the Well-Known Seasport Dressmaker, Gives Her Experience of Her Long Suffering and Cure.

From the Commercial, Bangor, Maine.

The following communication has just been received from Miss S. Mollie Perce, of Seasport, Maine, who is well and favorably known:

"I was a sufferer from constant headache all my life, frequently accompanied with nausea and sick stomach, especially before and during severe attacks. I am now thirty years old, and as far back as I can remember I was never free from this distressing and distressing attack, and did not know what it was to feel well, until last winter, when, having seen so much written and heard so much spoken about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, I made up my mind to see if they would do me any good. I therefore bought some of them and began to take them according to directions.

"I soon began to experience relief, and have improved ever since. I am still taking them, and still continue to do so until I am free of the slightest symptom of my old enemy. I am a firm believer in the efficacy of Pink Pills, and I shall never be without them as long as I have cause to be so much good.

"I have recommended these pills to others, among them C. G. Cabana, who is ill of hours trouble.

(Signed) 'S. M. Perce.'

Witness: Miss J. E. Nichols.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppurations, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the play of health to pale and sad-looking faces. In many they effect a radical cure in all cases of chronic or intermittent, or excessive of any other nature. They are manufactured by Dr. Williams' Medical Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold by all druggists at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

ARE YOU HOARSE?

Take a Word of Advice—A Free Book.

"What a dreadful cold you have!" exclaims one man to another. "Yes, I am a little hoarse," he replies, "but it will pass off in a day or two." No greater mistake could be made than this. Hoarseness is a warning that should be heeded. To allow a cold to progress until hoarseness sets in, is extremely dangerous. Hoarseness is a curable ailment, and should be immediately treated, before the disease spreads downward through the throat to the lungs, producing consumption. Delay is so fatal. Peruna taken at this time will prevent untold suffering and anxiety. Peruna is a certain specific for catarrh, and should always be taken when the slightest hoarseness is noticed.

Those who desire to learn more of catarrh of the throat should send to the Peruna Drug Manufacturing Company for a free copy of Dr. Hartman's latest book on this disease, which has been with him a specialty for years.

Too Bad for Despair.

A coastermonger, while trundling his apple laden cart down a London street, was run into by a coaching party. The coastermonger got the worst of it, losing a wheel and its ruddy freight being scattered all over the street. The driver of the coach came back to settle for the damage, and expected to come in for a valley of choice cursing. But the coastermonger looked at his cart, looked at his apples, looked at the coach, and finally gasped out: "Guv'nor, dere eyn't no word for it!"
