

ANOTHER SENSATION.

Schemers at Work in Connection With the New Capitol.

ATTEMPTS TO FIX UP A DEAL.

Efforts Made to Turn the Work Over to Architects and Contractors Favorable to the Ring—Why Should the Machine Be So Anxious—Another Scandal in Prospective.

Harrisburg, Sept. 7.—It begins to look as if the sensation created by the disclosures concerning the $20,000 indemnity bond would shortly be followed by another sensation equally as grave. In this instance, as in the former, all of the parties involved are party leaders or managers. The kernel of this latest threatened scandal is the building of the new state capitol. It now looks as though a state capitol would not be built for some years to come, unless a different course is pursued.

The present week is likely to see fresh sensations in connection with the bond scandal. Additional facts have been gathered concerning this which mark it one of the strangest pieces of political work on record. Suits against high officials, resignations and legal proceedings of various kinds may be looked for almost any moment now. It is understood that a firm of leading Philadelphia lawyers has been engaged during the past week in looking up the law to see if any of the parties to this transaction can be reached. The people of the state have only seen the beginning of the impending political revolution.

A Capitol Building Scandal.

The capitol building scheme will involve a danger to the commonwealth if it is pushed to the end. The readers of these letters are more or less familiar with the attempts made in the late legislature to turn the building of the capitol into a gigantic job. This was to be done by putting a great number of useless individuals on the commission. At length a bill was passed fixing the commission at five persons, consisting of the governor, the auditor general, the state treasurer, the speaker of the house and the president pro tem of the senate. It was also decided that, inasmuch as none of the members of this commission had more than ordinary knowledge of architecture, a board of experts be selected, whose duty it should be to choose eight plans, the best of all those submitted according to their trained and unbiased judgment. The eight plans thus chosen were to then be submitted to the board of commissioners, and out of this lot one plan would be selected for the new capitol.

The names of all architect competitors were to be kept secret from the board of experts as well as from the board of commissioners selected by the legislature. The names of all architects selecting plans were sealed up and placed in the possession of a judge of a court of Dauphin county. Now it is known that the names of some of the architects have been given to the commission, and there is a fight in the commission as a result. The secret of this contest is another story.

A Favorite Contractor.

It has been known all along that Senator Quay and his friends desired to have the new capitol built by a well known contractor of Philadelphia. This contractor is also a well known politician, but it must be said that he is an excellent workman and has had a very extensive experience in constructing large buildings. This contractor has his own architects, or firm of architects. The whole struggle, therefore, since the new capitol commission organized, has been to throw the work into the hands of this contractor and his architects. When a board of experts was chosen it was expected that the plans of this firm which does the work for this particular and favored Philadelphia contractor would of course be among the eight selected for final choice by the commission itself. But they were not. How members of this commission, composed of Governor Daniel H. Hastings, Auditor General Mylin, State Treasurer Haywood, Speaker Harry K. Boyer and S. J. McCarroll, president pro tem of the senate and candidate for lieutenant governor, came to know that a certain architect's plans were not among the final eight can be answered by themselves.

As soon as this was discovered, that the Philadelphia contractor and his favorite architects had been left out in the cold, certain members of the commission brazenly suggested that all of the plans be thrown out and a new set of plans ordered. Or, that this architect whose contractor is favored by Senator Quay and his friends should be engaged to superintend the construction of the new capitol. As a result of this there has been a continual fight in the commission. Senator Quay has given orders to certain men of the commission, and they are trying to carry them out.

The Attorney General's Opinion.

No such favoritism and scheming has been known for years. To protect the state and save the people from additional burdens and expense Governor Hastings requested the attorney general to give an opinion upon the subject. Attorney General McCormick submitted the following:

"There is no limitation upon the powers of the commission found in the act of assembly in the selection of an architect. They could have selected one, if they had so chosen, to do the work without competition. They chose, however, to exercise their discretion for what they believed to be the best interests of the commonwealth, and invited architects to exhibit their skill."

"The commissioners all being laymen and architecture being a science with which they were not familiar, they asked the board of experts to determine the ability of the architect from the design he submitted. Of this all competitors were fully advised, and there can be no reasonable ground for complaint."

"Therefore conclude, first, that the commissioners, neither in paragraph 11 of part 1, nor elsewhere in the program, have abdicated, as such commissioners, or delegated to others, the powers vested in them. Second, that it is the duty of the commissioners to select as an architect of the new capitol building the author of one of the eight designs reported by the board of experts as exhibiting the best talent. To do otherwise would, in my judgment, be an act of bad faith on the part of the commissioners and the commonwealth represented by them. Third, that the commissioners possess the power, after the selection of such architect, to require him to make such revision and alterations of the design he submitted as will meet the views of the commissioners and bring it within the appropriation made by the act of assembly."

Certain Scheming Commissioners.

An editorial in the Philadelphia Press of last Friday explains the situation in a nutshell:

"The capitol commission failed again yesterday to select an architect, though every favorable condition was present for doing so under the agreement made by the commission itself when it became bound, as did all the competing architects, to submit to the selection of one of the eight presented by the experts."

"The situation with respect to this matter seems to be much misunderstood, due in large degree to the fact that the important sessions of the commission have been held in secret, and much misinformation has been given out by interested parties. It has become very apparent to all who have kept a close watch of the matter that some of the commissioners are determined that the agreement entered into shall be broken by those who are acting for the commonwealth and that an architect shall be selected as a pure matter of favoritism and in accordance with the conditions made, and binding upon all parties, to insure entire impartiality in the choice. This is something that public opinion is not likely to tolerate."

"The commission has unfortunately and inexcusably allowed itself to be delayed in its work by the unprofessional action of certain architects who have by their course revealed the fact that they are not among the successful eight. How they got information of their failure can be easily explained by some of the commissioners, who have for some time shown a settled purpose to make a choice of some favorite in violation of their own agreement and program under which plans were invited. This is one of the unfortunate results of the secret meetings of the commission. The public ought to be put in possession of all the facts."

"Attorney General McCormick has thrown much light on the matter and rendered a valuable public service by his plain interpretation of the terms of the agreement which all are bound in honor to respect—the competing architects as well as the several members of the commission. The attempt to undo this agreement to permit a selection by favoritism—for that, in plain terms, is what is intended—is nothing less than disgraceful. It much reflects upon the state which thus lightly repudiates its contracts."

"The complete facts in this matter cannot be much longer withheld and obscured. Every meeting of the commission serves still further to reveal the hidden and unjustifiable purpose of some of its members, and they must expect to be held to a full responsibility."

Lawsuits in Sight.

If the commissioners for the building of the new capitol, who take orders from Senator Quay, persist in their course of determining to employ a contractor and an architect favor by the machine, the result will be no end of litigation, trouble and expense for the commonwealth. The commissioners are under a solemn agreement to treat all competing architects fairly, and if they discriminate in favor of Senator Quay's friends or anybody else every architect will institute suit, and an endless course of litigation and injunction will follow, with the result that no new capitol will be seen for years to come.

"This is the scandal that is surrounding the building commission at this time. It happily may be averted. It ought to be, if the interests of the people are consulted. If the present dilly-dallying system about adopting plans and delaying action in the interests of one man, or set of men, is persisted in the people will know just where to place the blame, for the statements as set forth above are founded upon fact."

ONE OF TWO WAYS.

The bladder was created for one purpose, namely, a receptacle for the urine, and as such it is not liable to any form of disease except by one of two ways. The first way is from imperfect action of the kidneys. The second way is from careless local treatment of other diseases.

CHIEF CAUSE.

Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if not doctored too much is not liable to weakness or disease, except in rare cases. It is situated back of and very close to the bladder, therefore any pain, disease or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort. The error is easily made and may be as easily avoided. To find out correctly, set your urine aside for twenty-four hours, a sediment or settling indicates kidney or bladder trouble. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy is soon realized. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At drug-gists fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail. Mention the Middleburgh, Post and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. BOUGHT A BICYCLE.

But Did Not Pay for it and Got in Jail.

Elmer U. Heintzelman of Snyder county, was given a hearing before Justice Bare at Danville Monday morning on the charge of fraudulently procuring a bicycle of Aaron Borninger, of Catawissa, in June last. Heintzelman, who at the time of the purchase was employed in Mayberry township, Montour county, represented that he had sufficient money in the bank at Selingsgrove to pay for the wheel. The fellow immediately sold the bicycle and squandered the proceeds, while his story as to having money on deposit at Selingsgrove was found to be false. Mr. Berninger induced Heintzelman to accompany him to Danville Monday morning, where he lodged information against him. The defendant, who is not yet 21 years of age, plead guilty, but explained that he had relied upon his guardian in Snyder county to make good the amount owed on the wheel. The justice held him in $200 bail, in default of which he was committed to jail.—Sunbury Item.

A PRETTY ROMANCE.

Shamokin Dam Citizen Going to Indiana for a Bride.

George Coryell is the name of a nice looking young widower whose home is at Shamokin Dam. For a year or more, however, George has made Shamokin his abiding place and has been employed about the Big Mountain colliery. While a resident of that town Coryell boarded with another family who had moved there from the Dam.

Several months ago the man with whom he boarded took a picture of George from his room, and for a joke gave it to a mutual friend, who in turn, sent it to Anderson, Indiana, to a charming young widow, who is very well provided for so far as this world's goods are concerned, and with whom he was very well acquainted, having lived in that part of the country for a good while. With the photograph he enclosed a note requesting her to write to Coryell.

A short time after this had happened Coryell was greatly surprised to receive a letter dated and post-marked "Anderson, Indiana," and bearing the signature of "Hannah Gettin." After a due amount of consideration and several consultations with the aforesaid mutual friend he answered the letter. This was the beginning of a regular correspondence. Hannah sent George her photograph and to make a long story short the latter departed for Indiana Wednesday noon on the Northern Central road to make Mrs. Gettin Mrs. George Coryell.—Sunbury Item.

Beware Of the Knife.

Mr. Lincoln Nelson, of Marshfield, Mo., writes: "For six years I have been a sufferer from a scrofulous affection of the glands of my neck, and all efforts of physicians in Washington, D. C., Springfield, Ill., and St. Louis failed to reduce the enlargement. After six months' constant treatment here, my physician urged me to submit to a removal of the gland. At this critical moment a friend recommended S.S.S., and laying aside a deep-rooted prejudice against all patent medicines, I began its use. Before I had used one bottle the enlargement began to disappear, and now it is entirely gone, though I am not through with my second bottle yet. Had I only used your S.S.S. long ago, I would have escaped years of misery and saved over $750."

This experience is like that of all who suffer with deep-seated blood troubles. The doctors can do no good, and even their resorts to the knife prove either fruitless or fatal. S.S.S. is the only real blood remedy; it gets at the root of the disease and forces it out permanently.
