An Italian Solomon.

The Duke of Ossone, while viceroy Naples, delivered many quaint and ever judgments. The case is relatwhere a young Spanish exquisite amed Bertrand Solus, while lounging round in the busy part of the city, was no against by a porter carrying a bunie of wood on his shoulder.

The porter had called out, "Make my, please!" several times, but withatteffect. He had then tried to get by thout collision, but his bundle caught the young man's velvet dress and are it. Solus was highly indignant, pd had the porter arrested. The viceor, who had privately investigated the natter, told the porter to pretend he as dumb, and at the trial to reply by ins to any question that might be put to him.

When the case came on and Solus ad made his complaint, the viceroy amed to the porter and asked him that he had to say in reply. The porronly shook his head and made signs ith his hands.

"What judgment do you want me to fre against a dumb man?" asked the

COSTLY LAW SUIT.

Plaintifi Asks for $125 and New Must Pay $1,000 Costs.

A remarkable case was concluded at Beaver the other day before Judge Wilson. David Simpson of Rochester was the executor of the estate of the late Capt. J. C. Irwin of the same town, and claimed $125, for which he alleges he at one time held Capt. Irwin's note, but in a fire, which consumed the household goods, the note was destroyed. The defendants denied that the note was ever given. The case had already been tried twice. The first jury disagreed; next the jury gave plaintiff verdict for $172.75. The defendants appealed to the superior court, and that body remanded it back for new trial. This trial has been on all this week, and the jury brought in a verdict for the defendants to the effect that they owed Simpson nothing. fect that they owed Simpson nothing. The costs will now run considerable over $1,000.

THE SABBATH SCHOOL LESSON

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR SEPTEMBER 19.

Lesson Text: "Paul's Address to the Ephesian Elders," Acts xx., 22-35-Golden Text: Acts xx., 35-Commentary on the Lesson by Rev D. M. Stearns 22. "And now, behold, I go bound in the spirit unto Jerusalem, not knowing the things that shall befall me there." After the uproar at Ephesus Paul went to Macedonia and Greece, then returned through Macedonia to Asia, and, a timing, if possible, to be at Jerusalem by Pentecost, he tarried a little at Miletus and sent to Ephesus for the eliers of the church to come and see him. Our lesson is part of his address to these elders. He reminded them that, serving the Lord with all humility and in many trials, he had both publicly and privately trials, he had both publicly and privately taught both Jews and Greeks repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ.

23. "Save that the Holy Ghost witnesseth in every city, saying that bonds and afflic-tions abide me." The Lord had said to An-anias, "I will show him how great things he must suffer for My name's sake" (Acts ix., 16), and He said to the aposties, "In the world ye shall have tribulation" (John xvi.,

24. "But none of these things move me." He thought of nothing but of magnifying Christ (Phil. i., 20), ready to be bound and imprisoned and to die for the name of the Lord Jesus, if thus God would be more glorified (Acts xxi., 13). He was intrusted the consel of the grace of God, and he glorified (Acts xxi., 13). He was intrusted with the gospel of the grace of God, and he fearlessly lived it and spoke it day by day under all ctroumstances, not as pleasing men, but God who trieth our hearts (I Thess. ii., 4).

25. "And now, behold, I know that ye all, among whom I have gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more." The last we hear of Paul in this book he is in Rome a prisoner, but he is preaching the kingdom of God, and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ (Acts xxviii., 31). Thus he was one with Him who had chosen him, for in Jesus Christ (Acts xxviii., 31). Thus he was one with Him who had chosen him, for in Acts i., 3, we find that our Lord Jesus during the forty days between His resurrection and ascension spoke of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God.

26. "Wherefore I take you to record this day that I am pure from the blood of all men." He said in II Cor. vii., 2, "We have wronged no man we have corrected as men." He said in II Cor. vii., 2, "We have wronged no man, we have corrupted no man, we have defrauded no man." He had sought to live as an embassador for Christ, in Christ's stead, beseeching men to be reconciled to God (II Cor. v., 20), and he had been, by the grace of God, such a faithful witness that the blood of none to whom he ever testified could be required at his hand (Ezek, xxxiii, 7-9).

he ever testified could be required at his hand (Ezek, xxxiii., 7-9).

27. "For I have not shunned to declare anto you all the counsel of God." All that Paul has on hand to pass on to others is of God. He preaches the gospel of the grace of God, and the kingdom of God, and the counsel of God, to gather out and to build up the church of God, and in it all he nims only to please God. He spoke the word faithfully and diminished not a word (Jer. xxvi., 2).

28, "Feed the church of God which He hath purchased with His own blocd." There is no redemption but by the blood of Christ, by which aione we receive the forgiveness of sins (Eph. i., 6, 7; Rev. i., 5; v., 9; Heb. ix., 22), and each one who truly receives the Lord Jesus, trusting only in His finished work, becomes a part of the church of God, whether he ever becomes part of any church on earth or not. Now, being saved, it is the privilege of every saved one to unite with some company of God's people called a church, but they ought to be sure that it is a church where their souls will be fed with the word of God, for nothing else will truly nourish the soul (I Pet. ii., 2; v., 2; Job xxiii., 12; Jer. xv., 16).

29, 30. "For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock." Since the serpent slandered God in Eden there have always been those who follow him, by which alone we receive the forgiveness have always been those who follow him, seeking the destruction of souls; sometimes they seem bent simply upon the ruin of people, and sometimes it is to get followers for a person or a doctrine or a sect.

31. "Therefore watch and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears." Paul had no fear for the loss of any soul that had truly received the Lord fesus; his words concerning them are almost as strong as our Lord's own words (Phil. i., 6; I Cor. 7, 8; John x., 27-29), but be did fear lest they might have a knowlhe did fear lest they might have a knowledge of Him without truly receiving Him (Heb. vi., 4-6; x., 26), and also lest, having truly received Him, they might lose their works and wages (I Cor. iii., 14, 15; ix., 27); hence his earnest admonition to "take heed" and "watch."

32. "And now, brethren, I commend you to God and the word of His great with the commend you come."

32. "And now, brethren, I commend you to God and the word of His grace, which is able to build you up." When our Lord was about to leave His disciples, he prayed the Father (as He said to Mary, "My Father and your Father, My God and your God" John xx., 17), that He would keep from evil those whom He had given Him, and that He would sanetify them through the truth, His word (John xvii., 11, 15, 17). And when He said, "I have given them Thy word, the words which Thou gavest Me (John xvii., 8, 14), he must have believed that these words were the very best thing that these words were the very best thing that He could give them. In another place He said, "The words that I speak unto you they are spirit, and they are life" (John vi., 63).

33, "I have coveted no man's silver or gold or apparel." The people testified of Samuel, "Thou hast not defrauded us nor oppressed us; neither hast thou taken aught of any man's hand" (I Sam. xii., 3). To the Thessalonians Paul wrote, reminding them of his labor night and day that he might not be a burden to any one (I he might not be a burden to any one (I Thess. il., 6, 9).

34. "Yea, ye yourselves know that these hands have ministered unto my necessities and to them that were with me." He was very grateful for all gifts from the Lord's people and speaks of such as "an odor of a sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, well pleasing to God."

35. "Remember the words of the Lord." 35 "Remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, It is more blessed to give than to receive," perhaps referring to such teaching of our Lord as is found in Luke vi., 30; xiv., 13, 14, or possibly refer-ring to some unrecorded sayings of our Lord. God so loved that He gave His only begotten Son; the Son of God so loved that He gave Himself. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ was manifest in His becoming poor for us that we through His poverty might be rich. The love that He manifested in laying down His life for us should make us ready to lay down our lives for others (II Cor. viii., 9; I John iii., 16). But most of us are more ready to re ceive than to give, and so John iii., 16, is much more familiar than I John iii., 16, and I Tim. i., 15, than Titus iii., 8.—Lesson

"There isn't a man who can umpire com-petently a good hard game every day. The mental and nervous strain is something terrible." Callahan, of Chicago, has pitched twenty-two games this season, winning twelve. Between times he has been used to fill va-cancies. He has played third, short, sec-ond, left, center and right fields. First Baseman Dovle is said to be unable to agree with his team mates at Baltimore, and even disputes Manager Haplon's au-

To the Cincinnati pitching more than to anything else the high place the team has held all this season can be attributed. The Reds' pitchers, while backed by clover fielding, have not had the batting support they should have had.

Rothfus will doubtless be a fixture on first base for Pittsburg next season. He is a fine fleider, good hitter and a more than ordinarily fine base runner. Hoffmeister, the new third baseman, is a good fleider and hitter, but his throwing is erratic.

Anson, of Chicago, has been quoted as saying that rowdyism on the diamond should be suppressed, and that an umpire's decisions should be final, but like many men the veteran does not practice what he preaches, judging from his lurid antics in New York.

mystifies the doctor. Is it any wonder, therefore, that the doctor fails to cure the disease? Still, we cannot blame the woman, for it is very embarrassing to detail some of the symptoms of her suffering, even to her family physician. It was for this reason that years ago Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., determined to step in and help her sex. Having had considerable experience in treating female ills with her Vegetable Compound, she encouraged the women of America to write to her for advice in regard to their complaints, and, being a woman, it was easy for her ailing sisters to pour into her ears every detail of their suffering.

In this way she was able to do for them what the physicians were unable to do, simply because she had the proper information to work upon, and from the little group of women who sought her advice years ago a great army of her fellow-beings are to-day constantly applying for advice and relief, and the fact that more than one hundred thousand of them have been successfully treated by Mrs. Pinkham during the last year is indicative of the grand results which are produced by her unequaled experience and training.

No physician in the world has had such a training, or has such an amount of information at hand to assist in the treatment of all kinds of female ills, from the simplest local irritation to the most complicated diseases of the womb. This, therefore, is the reason why Mrs. Pinkham, in her laboratory at Lynn, Mass., is able to do more for the ailing women of America than the family physician. Any woman, therefore, is responsible for her own suffering who will not take the trouble to write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

The testimonials which we are constantly publishing from grateful women establish beyond a doubt the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to conquer female diseases.
