McCormick Replies to Elkin and Talks of the Notorious Bond.

THAT CAPITOL BUILDING JOB.

Why Governor Hastings Washed His Hands of the Whole Thing and Left the Room—One of the Boldest of Schemes to Secure the Job for a Favored Contractor.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) Harrisburg, Sept. 21.—Political events have followed each other with such startling rapidity that it has been almost impossible to keep track of them. The dismissal of General Reeder from the cabinet of Governor Hastings, the forced resignation of Hon. John P. Elkin as deputy attorney general, and the subsequent arrest of General Reeder, Hon. Webster C. Weiss and Morris Lukenbach, charged with an attempt to blackmail and defame John Wannamaker's name, have been the ruling sensations of the past two weeks.

When Governor Hastings asked for General Reeder's resignation he assigned no cause for it. He naturally supposed that no question would be raised as to his right in this regard. General Reeder asked for an interview, which was granted by the governor. Some days afterward General Reeder came out in a public statement in the newspapers, in which he endeavored to explain away the matter of the bond. He could not do so, however, and there the matter rested until State Chairman Elkin demanded to know why he should be ousted from his position of deputy attorney general.

MCCORMICK ANSWERS ELKIN. In his reply to Mr. Elkin Attorney General McCormick gave his reasons very clearly and tells all about the notorious bond. This talk with the attorney general is given in full below, as it sets at rest all questions that might be raised concerning the legality or the decency of high state officials going on a bond for the purpose of having the state pay out money which was not honestly earned. The interview is as follows:

THE INTERVIEW WITH HASTINGS. "I was present at the interviews held by the governor with the representatives of the two houses. A memorandum in writing was made at the time and is now before me. Upon the representation of the necessity for certain additional employees, the governor assented that, in the event of the legislature making an appropriation in the general appropriation bill, he would approve of the appropriation for the following clerks to senate committees: Corporations, municipal affairs, railroads, compare bills and agriculture, making five in all.

"When the committee of the house called upon him and the necessity was made apparent that clerks were necessary for the committees on railroads, corporations, municipal corporations, city passenger railroads and judiciary, local, he was satisfied with their representations, made a memorandum of the committees and expressed his willingness to approve compensation for each to the amount of $600.

"It was explained to him that the clerks to committees on agriculture, compare bills, education, mines and mining, insurance and two transcribers would be paid out of the contingent fund at the same rate. He refused to consent to approve the payment of clerk hire for several other committees which were urged upon him. When the general appropriation bill reached him it was found that the amount appropriated for the payment of salaries to officers and employees of the senate was $54,976. Of this sum $7,266 was disapproved, the following language appearing in the veto:

THE PADDED PAY ROLL. "I have been furnished by the state treasurer with a detailed statement containing the names of all those officers and employees with their compensation and mileage authorized by law, and I find the amount to be $47,710, or $7,266 less than the sum appropriated. This difference represents the amount appropriated for such officers and employees as are not authorized by law, and to that extent this would be an unlawful appropriation of the public funds.

"In the amount approved was included all that the governor had assented to, and this is true both as to senate and house employees. The appropriation for incidental expenses, or contingent fund, was to include, and did include, the clerks as above stated, and also received executive approval.

"The appropriation for officers and employees of the house of representatives was $75,404. The amount of this item approved was $63,650, or $11,754 less than the amount appropriated. The amount of the pay rolls, therefore, for officers and employees of the senate not authorized by law and not assented to by the governor was $7,266, and of those in the house $11,754, making a total of $19,020. In other words, the payment of all the employees of the legislature according to the official list furnished the governor by the officers of both houses and the state treasurer, including those to which he gave his assent at the opening of the session, was provided for in the part of the appropriation approved, and in addition thereto, $19,020 was appropriated, for which the names of no clerks appeared upon the official pay rolls as furnished by the above officers.

THE UNLAWFUL APPROPRIATION. "Over and above this sum there was specifically appropriated in the general appropriation bill the sum of $7,234 for other alleged employees of the senate, which was also vetoed. It was further found that the sum of $4,534 was appropriated in the general appropriation bill for other alleged additional employees of the house, which failed to receive executive approval.

"Having approved the appropriations for all the lawful employees of both houses, including the additional clerks to which the executive had given his approval at the opening of the session, it will be seen that there was vetoed and saved to the state the sum of $19,020 appropriated for additional senate employees, and $11,754 for additional house employees, making the total amount disapproved for alleged extra officers and employees in both houses, $31,434. "Mr. Elkin states: "The treasurer very frankly told me that there was so much confusion and factional discord in the legislature that he had no assurance that compensation for the extra employees would be provided for by the proper legislation. He thought it was unfair that he should assume the responsibility and bear the burden of paying these extra employees under the circumstances. He did not hesitate on account of fear of executive disapproval for the reason that the governor had approved the appointment of these persons at the beginning of the session, and had filed with him a list of committees so designated, but was uncertain as to the result in the legislature."

MR. ELKIN MISTAKEN. "In this Mr. Elkin is clearly mistaken, as is plainly shown by the above statement. The legislature appropriated a sufficient sum to pay all of its necessary employees, including the additional clerks, to which the governor had assented, by reason of the representations by the officials of both houses, but it did more than that—it appropriated $31,434 for no honest purpose that has yet been made apparent. "The statement of Mr. Elkin, I think, obscures the real issue. There is no controversy about the right of the legislature to provide for the payment of extra employees in the general appropriation bill. That was settled some years ago by the supreme court. The real question is as to the propriety of an officer of the executive department so indemnifying the treasurer as to induce him to pay money out of the treasury, after his refusal, as Mr. Elkin states, to advance the money, because he had no assurance that the compensation for the extra employees would be provided for by proper legislation."

"The want of confidence that the legislature would appropriate a sufficient sum of money to pay the legitimate expenses of its employees is not borne out by the fact, because it actually did appropriate $31,434 more than the legitimate expenses of that body. "It is not very material whether the bond was intended to indemnify the treasurer against legislative action or executive veto, but since a question of fact has arisen as to the conditions of the bond or agreement of indemnity it can readily be settled by giving a copy thereof to the public."

It is needless to say that the notorious bond has not and will not be made public.

THE GOVERNOR'S PART.

Your correspondent has endeavored in the past to make clear the jobbery which is surrounding the building of the new capitol. As was predicted, the four Quay members of the commission, viz: Auditor General Mylin, State Treasurer Haywood, president pro tem of the senate, Mr. McCarroll, who wants to be the next lieutenant governor and who has Senator Quay's promise to that effect, and Speaker Henry K. Boyer, of the house, have taken the whole matter in charge. Governor Hastings has washed his hands of the entire business, and has refused to have anything further to do with it. The governor's reason, in brief, for getting out of this combination and leaving them to their own devices and responsibility are given as follows in the wind up of his speech to the commission before he retired and refused to be a party to the scheme:

"In my judgment, if we take the step proposed—to throw out all these plans and begin over again—it will be acting in bad faith to ourselves, in bad faith to the architects whom we invited to compete and in bad faith to the people of the commonwealth, to whom we are responsible. I am in favor of carrying out the program as originally prepared in perfect good faith to all. I know no architect and I know no contractor. "There shall be no favoritism so far as I am concerned. I want to get the best plans and the best architect, and I desire further to say that if you take the step which you now propose you are likely to plunge this commission into a legal struggle, of which we will not see the end during our terms of office, not one of us.

"This action will mean that we will have no capitol for the next legislature; that we have turned our backs upon our word of honor; that we have broken our promises to all competitors. I hope you will not take the step. I warn you of the pitfalls you are preparing for yourselves. It will subject this commission to public criticism that unfortunately for us will be just."

A GIGANTIC SCHEME.

The outcome of this gigantic scheme will be litigation, favoritism, and scandal. The capitol building will not be ready for the next legislature and the state will be put to great expense. The whole plan is to throw the work of building the capitol into the hands of a Philadelphia contractor and his favorite architects. It is one of the most outrageous pieces of work ever attempted in the state. The governor has again won the highest commendation of the people by refusing to be a party to any such schemes of Senator Quay and his followers.

Last week the case of alleged bribery against E. A. Van Valkenburg, which led up, on the other hand, to the arrest of General Reeder, came up in the Schuylkill county court, but was postponed till November, through the illness of an important witness. Mr. Van Valkenburg is determined to force the case to trial.

A Correction.

It appears that in the article we published last week from the Sunbury Item concerning P. E. Hacken-burg and J. B. Spangler the article stated that for the second 10 cents practically no return was given. This is an error as Mr. Hackenburg writes that a book containing 100 recipes was sent. We are only too glad to make the correction. It is evident that some one had it in for the boys and that the boys intended no wrong.

FREEBURG.

Rev. G. D. Druckenmiller was installed as Lutheran pastor of the Freeburg charge last Sunday in the presence of a large assembly of people. Members from St. John's, Grub's and Keiser's were also in attendance. Rev. Myron O. Rath of Allentown delivered an edifying sermon from the text, 1st Thess. 5: 13v. "To esteem them very highly in love for their works sake." Rev. Oehenford, D. D., performed the installation services. In the evening Rev. Rath preached from the text in 1st Kings, 19: 9v. "What doest thou here Elijah?" The sermon made deep and lasting impressions. The responsive services were rendered by the choir and congregation in an effective manner. Revs. Rath, Oehenford and Druckenmiller addressed the Sunday School in the evening. Prof. Boyer accompanied Rev. Druckenmiller as a delegate from the Freeburg charge to the Danville Conference which convenes at Treverton from the 22-24 inst. Prof. Wm. Moyer attended the picnic at St. John's, West Beaver township last Saturday. The picnic at Red Bank brought out nearly all the people of the neighborhood and many others from the surrounding country. Garfield Cornet band and orchestra furnished excellent music for which they are so justly noted. Addresses were delivered in the forenoon by Profs. Walborn and D. S. Boyer, in the afternoon by Rev. Spahn. The vocal music conducted by Philip Freed was greatly enjoyed. The preparations for dinner were elaborate and elegant. Harvey Pontius and R. Seip, Supts., deserve credit for the interest they manifest in this Sunday school. Saturday during the day and evening we were entertained at our phones by an exhibition of the confusion of tongues. No doubt it exceeded in variety of tones, in music, conversation and laughter every effort heretofore made since the melody at the tower of Babel. F. E. Hilbish raised forty-seven bushels of clover seed. We will have a large yield of seed in our locality. The carpenters are busy working at Jerry Charles' new house. Barney E. DANIEL MYERS,

OF PENNSYLVANIA. A Living Object Lesson for Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

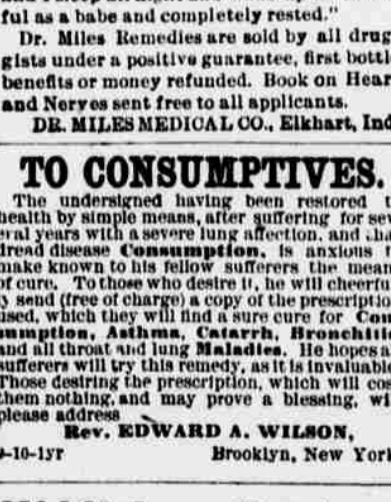

HEART DISEASE is curable.

"For over forty years," writes Daniel Myers of Two Taverns, Pa., on Aug. 10, 1886. "I suffered with heart disease. First a slight palpitation, gradually growing worse. Then shortness of breath, sleeplessness, smothering sensations and much pain in the region of the heart alarmed me and I consulted a physician. Receiving no benefit I tried others and a number of remedies, spending a large amount of money, but finally became so bad that it was unsafe for me to leave home. I commenced using Dr. Miles' Heart Cure two years ago. For eighteen months I have been well. Although 72 years of age I can go where I wish and I sleep all night and wake up as cheerful as a babe and completely rested. Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on Heart and Nerves sent free to all applicants. DR.
