The Lunacy of Demagogues Will Allure Few From the Sturdy Old Party.

As in a medical museum, where there is collected all the monstrosities of human birth, so in the history of the country we may find numberless miscarriages and pessimists in politics that seem like national nightmares viewed In a country like ours, where there is the utmost freedom of action and perverseness of thought allowed, it is no wonder that cranks and the contagious lunacy of demagogues find followings.

There is the Greenback party-in the language of Brietman, "Where is dot bardy now?" Then there is Populism. dead now and dissected on the western plains. Latterly the silver craze came burial place. Some men lost their wits in the pursuit of what is called prosperity, and in their chase for the golden fleece were led to believe that free silver was the true panacea for all the ills of hard times. But they are slowly coming back to consciousness and reason; they see the idlocy of the assumption that wheat followed silver as it fluctuated on the board of the market exchange.

The fact is that there are never more than two great parties in our country. True, there may be numberless side shows, like the fat woman and the living skeleton at the country fair, but after all there will only be two great divisions. They are the Democratic party of colossal blunders, and the Re- -vote the straight Republican ticket. publican party that has stood like a rock for all that is best in human progress, and which has been vindicated again and again in the most decisive manner before the people. The patriot and the citizen indifferent to his rights, alike, may find their highest ideals in it.

recent issue of Editor Schoch's Mifilinburg Telegraph:

What is Republican duty this year? 'Tis plain-undivided, harmonious sup-port of the state and county ticket. Here and there we hear that some good Re-publican proposes to vote for Swallow, a retired M. E. minister, for state treas-urer, the Prohibition candidate-this, he urer, the Prohibition candidate—this, he says, to correct legislative evils. to stop this buying of soap, toilet articles, etc., and employment of a few extra clerks and scrub women. Oh my, what foliyi Swallow, 'tis true is cute and clever— some say a demag-gue clean cut through and through—certain it is he is obtain-ing a circu stim for his name: which ing a circu stion for his paper, which, to a man up a tree, seems to be his main object in this contest. Well, let him work that chromo, get his circulation and be happy.

The Republican candid.te for state treasurer, Hon. James S. Beacom, of Westmoreland county, is a modest, unassuming, stainless man-the noble son of a beloved Methodist minister. He does not pose as one of the "better than at the distance of their dismemberment. thou" people-a saint without blemish-In a country like ours, where there is not even a smeller after evil in others; but he is what we must all admire, a man of the strictest integrity, of unblemished character, a grand Republican-a persistent and efficient worker for the party-pre-eminently able and deserving and in all aspects of the case entitled to the vote of every Republican.

Equally meritorious is Major Levi G. McCauley, of Chester county, the Repub-hean candidate for auditor general. He was a splendid soldier during the late war, served in that famous corps, the -and went, and no man knows its Pennsylvania reserves, whose battalions burial place. Some men lost their wits fought from Drainesville to Appomattox; and in the battle before the enemy's capital he had an arm shot away. Add to this his splendid civic record, his fealty to the cause of Republicanism and his high standing as a most reputable citizen, and you have all the elements that go to make up a man qualified for the position of auditor general.

If abuses exist in the party or in the legislature the Republican people will see to it that the remedial process is worked out by the party and a Republican legislature. Trust not your enemy to work reform in your own household. If necessary you can do that business very neatly yourself. Hit not the or-ganization right on the heels of a victorious presidential election, the result of which election being so beneficial to the farmer, manufacturer, mechanic and laboring man. Hit the calamity howler. Resolve to do the right thing once again

Sixty Days Under the Wilson Bill and Sixty Under the Dingley Law.

The close of the first 60 days of the operations of the new tariff law and the business improvements which are visible in every direction during that time have suggested a comparison of the conditions during the two months in question with those of the corresponding date in the first year of the Cleveland administration, during which time the free trade congress elected with President Cleveland was just beginning its attack upon the protective system which the Dingley law 60 days ago re-established.

The two periods from July 24 to Sept. 24, in the years of 1893 and 1897, respectively, present a marked contract as to business conditions, and it is possible to obtain from government rec ords some data bearing upon this subject and now especially interesting. SIXTY DAYS UNDER WILSON LAW.

The following data, gathered largely from official reports, presents a picture of the 60 day period of the year 1893, with which the two months just ended correspond, both as to the portion of the year and the period of the presidential administration and also proximity to tariff legislation.

THE CALAMITY BUZZARD.

He Shricks For More Misery and Ruin. From the Kansas City Journal,

The buzzard is the most despised creature of the feathered kingdom. It lacks the courage of but surpasses in appetite all other birds of prey. It attacks only the helpless. It pursues the enfeebled iamb until its victim falls of fright or exhaustion, and then it feeds upon the carcass. It scents decay from afar, and no morsel is too putrid for its stomach. Like unto this loathsome vulture is the chronic agitator-editor or oratorwho thrives upon the distresses of his fellow creature. He finds nothing to his taste in the healthful or the normal. He craves calamity, and when there is none of it to feed upon he becomes gaunt and restive.

Seeking the overthrow of established laws and customs, but lacking the courage of his vicious purposes, he aggravates every form of industrial or so cial disturbance, and by malicious falsification, dire predictions and subtle cajolery plays upon the passions of the weak or distressed until they are inflamed to violence. He rejoices at strife and bloodshed and uses them to spread discontent and bring about hatred of the laws and those who execute them. Since the era of prosperity has set in the calamity buzzard has had poor picking to gratify his voracious appe tite, which had been glutted to satiation during the hard times. Of late he has been feeding on the miners' strike of the east, which was conducted much too conservatively to suit his purposes But at last-just before a settlement was reached-the seeds of dissension and revolution, which he had sown with a liberal hand, bore fruit in the Hazleton riot and its lamentable results.

Now behold this carrion bird. Once more he has a carcass to feed upon. The delight of the calamity editor is attested by revolutionary and anarchistic screeds. While good citizens deplore the awful tragedy and are ready to censure those responsible, but urge reason and moderation, this carrion eater revels in the slaughter. In the midst of his ghoulish feast he cries for more. With his destructive beak and cruel talons, dripping with the blood of his poor dupes, he shricks for more victims, for more discord, for more strife,

While both have been active politics and important factors in the party in their own counties, neither has ever been before the people for a state office, but both enjoy exceptional popularity where they are best known. As to character and ability, Major McCauley and Mr. Beacom easily rank with the best men ever nominated by either political party for the offices of auditor general and state treasurer. Major McCauley belongs to the older class of Republicans and is a veteran Republican, as well as a veteran soldier, and bears with him the evidence of his bravery as a defender of his country on the field of battle. To To Lazerne county people no appeal is necessary for them to support so gallant a soldier who was identified with a Luzerne organization on many a bloody field. Major McCauley will receive an exceptionally large majority throughout this section of the state.

Mr. Beacom, the nominee for state treasurer, as we have said, belongs to a ounger class of Republicans, but in poitical warfare he is also a veteran. To him, probably more than to any other one man, belongs the credit for the intelligent, persistent and well directed ef-forts by which Westmoreland has been redeemed from the Democratic party and permanently located in the Republican column. By education and training he is well equipped for the gent and careful performance of the duties of state treasurer. He is familiar with financial affairs in a large scale, and at his home in Westmoreland county, where he has occupied places of the greatest responsibility, the people have the most unbounded confidence in his ability, integrity and fidelity.

McCauley and Mr. Beacom were nominated as the clear and undisputed theice of the Republican state convention That body voted unanimously for Major McCauley, and with nearly equal un-animity for Mr. Beacom, and they are entitled to the hearty and united support of their party. We are confident that in Luzerne county there will be no defection against either, although it is apparent that Major McCauley will run y far ahead of the ticket, owing to fact of his magnificent military record and his former residence here. He would lead almost any colleague on the ticket to the same extent that he will Mr. Beacom. In Luzerne, as throughout the state, the Republicans are united and

The Democracy is divided beyond hope of reconciliation on the economic questions of the day. The Prohibitionists have forsaken the principles and traditions of their party for purpose of getting into power and are not talking prohibition at all, but are engaged in the abuse of the Republican party, something that has always been more congenial to them than the advocating of the principles of their party, The Republican party has nothing fear from the threats of its enemies. It appeals to the poor man, the business man and the soldier, as it has done in years gone by, and gives them proof of It makes no attempt Its sincerity. It makes no attempt to disguise the real issues or to go masked In order to carry public favor. The return of prosperity to the country is a juifiliment of its pledge to enact a tariff law such as it has done with noticeable and flattering results. No party whose achievements have been so marked and whose power has been continuous could expect to escape the enemy's dagger. As a party, it is not responsible for some mistakes of its members or those in authority under it. Its principles never vary; it never suppresses real issues in to ride into power; it never practic deception. Should Get Out. From the Harrisburg News

There is decidedly very little good po litical judgment behind the movemon Pittsburg urging the election of W. R Thompson, of that city, as an independ-ent Republican candidate for state treasurer. Mr. Thompson made no canvass for the nomination prior to the state convention, as he should have done had he aspired to the honor at that time. The whole state was open to him to urge his cause as it was to James S. Beacom. The announcement of his candidacy for state treasurer without even considering it necessary to have a running mate for auditor general leads many to believe that his candidacy is a movement for personal revenge against Candidate com that it is through an honorable ambition to be state treasurer. Such be ing the case there is no reason why the Republicans of Pennsylvania should pull his chestnuts out of the fire, especially when two Republican candidates for state treasurer would threaten the defeat of both. If Mr. Thompson is wise he will gracefully get out of the fight, for there is not a particle of chance of him winning.

Republicans, Vote Up. From the Franklin Repository

In less than a month the election will be held. Up to this time little interest has been manifested in the matter one way or the other, but during the next four weeks there will be more discussion. It is an off year, which always brings apathy. This should not be the case. It is highly important that every Republican vote should be polled. If the ma-jority should fall this year it will be that much harder to raise it next year in the gubernatorial contest. The Democrats will enthuse over any decline in the Republican vote this year, and rally for the contest of next. Let the majority be so decided that there will be no decline in

CHIEF CAUSE.

Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder, was created for one purposes, and if not doctored too much is not liable to weakness or disease, except in rare cases. It is situated back of and very close to the bladder, therefore any pain, disease or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort. The error is easily made and may be as easily avoided. To find out cor-rectly, set your urine asids for twenty our hours, a sediment or settling indicates kidney or bladder trouble. The mild and the extraodinary effect of Dr. Kilmer'r Swamp-Root, the great kidney, and bladder remedy is soon realized. If you need a medicine you should have the best.
