QUAY MEN INDEPENDENT.

Ringing Statement From Senator Durham, of Philadelphia.

HE SAYS HE IS IN NO DICKERS.

Congressman Stone, of Allegheny, Also Gives Out an Interview Defining His Position-Some Reasons Why Dr. Swallow Will Not Be an Important Factor in the Race Next Year. Other Political News.

(Special Correspondence.) Philadelphia, Nov. 15.—The political atmosphere in the state of Pennsylvania is beginning to clear up to a considerable degree, and out of the mists and rumors of the past ten days the leaders of the various elements of the Republican party are beginning to see better and are obtaining a more accurate knowledge of just where they

The fact that Senator Quay met David Martin and Chris Magee just before election for the sole purpose of unifying the organization in order to get out as large a party vote as possible caused much comment, and was approved by some and denounced by others, but misconstrued by a very large proportion of both the people and the active workers. Now that matters have calmed down somewhat all ands are beginning to look upon these incidents of political life in a more reasonable and practical manner, Luose who have a knowledge of the inner workings of the organization have learned from sources that cannot be doubted that there have been no deals, slates or arrangements of any character in either local or state politics.

The attitude of several of the most conspicuous Quay men in both Philadelphia and Pittsburg, as well throughout the state, proves the truth of this assertion. For instance, it was very generally reported in Philadelphia, and believed by many well meaning persons, that Senator Quay had made actual and tangible terms with David Martin, and that State Senator Durham, who has been one of his most valuable friends and allies in the Quaker City, had been deserted and left out in the cold. As a proof of this it was asserted that Senator Quay had concluded a political bargain with Mr. Martin, by which William J. Roney, who is Martin's brother-in-law, was to be unanimously renominated for the position of receiver of taxes. There is o truth whatever in this. Senator Quay has personally denied the story, and Mr. Martin admits that there is no justification for the yarn. To make proof more conclusive still, Senator Durham comes out with a public statement that there has been no deal, and that there will be no deal. More than aggressive campaign against the nomination of Mr. Roney. Senator Quay is monopoly. well aware of this, and the fact that he has not attempted to interfere in tin compact in Philadelphia.

In this connection it is quite interesting to note the exact position of Mr. Durham in this matter. He represents the young element in the party who are opposed to offensive bossism, and who have used their best endeavors to create a healthier tone in the local po-litical organization. When he was asked if there was a deal of any character he said that as far as he knew there was nothing substantial in the rumor of deals that had been agitating the politicians of the Quaker City. He added to this:

"You can say, however, that if such deal were made I would not be a party to it. More than that, it is not the power of any person or persons, high or low, to make any political bar-gains for me. I stand where I have tood for the last three years—in favor of cleaner politics and better city goverament. I am for honesty and manliness in politics, and I do not believe the people of Philadelphia will ever get either from the few men who have been and are now running the Republican city organization for their own personal profit and political advance-

"How do you regard the meeting be-

"I am not responsible for Senator his actions. I intend to stand by my friends who have so loyally stood by ne, and I will do this regardless of what others may do."

"You are credited with opposing the ease of the gas works?"

That is true. I was against it beause I believed it was a steal. I never retended to have a monopoly of viresple to change the existing order of lings whenever they choose to do so. Treachery, lying and deceit may be uccessful for awhile, but they won't ast forever. I have mapped out my olley, and that policy is to stand by that element of the Republicans of Philadelphia who are uncompromisagiy in favor of better government and clean politics. I propose to stand by them until they are victorious and is made possible for self respecting cople to go along with the Republican loan candidate for governor, and that such worthy men as General Frank Reeder, Congressman Hicks, Charles W. Stone, Congressman Connell and William A. Stone were all to receive orders to quit the field and give Mr. Widener a clear track for the nomination for the seat now occupied by Daniel H. Hastings. Congressman Stone has been in Philadelphia during the past few days and he has had no hesitation in declaring his belief that the stories are without foundation. In deing this he has given out a brief statement which has the ring of manliness and sincerity about it. Colonel Stone said:

"I came here from Washington, where I went to visit my family. I am well satisfied with the present status of my campaign for governor, and I believe that I will win. I am making my campaign solely on my own merits, without any promise of support from any faction in the Republican party, but I hope that all Republicans will be for

"I am keeping strictly in the middle of the road," continued Mr. Stone, "and I am paying no attention to rumored deals and slates, making my appeal direct to the people of the state, well knowing that the matter is entirely in their hands. I will be a candidate until the votes are counted in the convention. Under no circumstance will I withdraw from the fight until it is over."

Mr. Stone's friends assert that he has developed no little strength in A!legheny county. While Magee and Flinn have been enabled in the factional fights of the last two years to control a majority of state delegates from Allegheny, the Stone followers say that their choice for governor will undoubtedly turn the tables on Magee and Flinn. Many of Pittsburg's Municipal Leaguers are supporting Mr. Stone's candidacy, and so are the business men.

It is pointed out by Mr. Stone's supporters that he has other sources of strength. For years he has fought in congress for restricted immigration. In the next congress he hopes to pass such a bill that will meet with President McKinley's views. A bill restricting immigration, of which Mr. Stone was the author, passed congress last year. but it was vetoed by President Cleve-

Mr. Stone's fight for restricted immigration has won for him in his gubernatorial canvass, so it is stated. the support of the patriotic orders of Pennsylvania. Then, too, the labor organizations would like to see him governor.

Without desiring to detract in the slightest degree from the laudable ambition of any man to become an aspirant for the highest office in the gift of the citizens of the commonwealth, it must be said in all candor and sincerity that Mr. Widener is the least desirable of any of the candidates that have yet been mentioned for the governorship. He is a man of force and ability, but he is intensely unpopular in his own city, and this is a weak-ness in a candidate for a high office that cannot be wisely overlooked by the delegates who will have the power of naming the nominee of the party. The Republican candidate for the chief magistracy of the Keystone state next year will have to be a man who is strong with the rank and file of the people, and even the best friends of Mr. Widener will not claim this distinction for their candidate. He is best known to the citizens of Philadelphia this, he is now preparing to wage an as a Traction magnate and the head and front of an offensive street car

These facts are known to the party leaders. They speak volumes, and can be taken as a most emphatic denial of the story that Senator Quay had been foolish enough to slate Mr. Widener for the nomination.

. . . There has been a good deal of unnecessary jubilation over the size and character of the Swallow vote in the last election. Some of his over zealous friends have already nominated him for governor, and the Harrisburg parson has accepted the nomination with alacrity. His warmest supporter in Philadelphia is Banker Wharton Barker, who is now engaged in mapping out the preliminary steps that are intended to pave the way for his nomination as governor.

Mr. Barker is an enthusiast in politics, but his public career has not beer. marked heretofore with any notable or brilliant successes. On the contrary, his political pathway has been strewn with failures and defeats. Mr. Barker is and has been a zealous Bryan man, and is recognized as the foremost champion of free silver in this part of marked heretofore with any notable champion of free silver in this part of the United States.
