On Oct. 26, 1896, Mrs. Emma P. Kaiser went driving in company with her husband, Charles O. Kaiser, James A. Clemmer and Elizabeth L. DeKalb. The start was made from the Kaiser homestead early in the morning, and that was the last seen alive of Mrs. Kaiser in Norristown. Mrs. Kaiser had not lived with her husband for some time previously, but she had placed a $10,000 insurance policy on her life, and this accounted later to the police for the interest her husband took in

The same day Kaiser returned with Mrs. Kaiser's dead body. He told a story of having been waylaid by highwaymen, Mrs. Kaiser being shot dead, and Kaiser himself being slightly wounded in the arm. The story was not believed and Kaiser was arrested, Clemmer and the DeKalb woman making their escape. Kaiser was eventually tried, convicted and sentenced to death. The DeKalb woman, who was captured recently, is now awaiting trial.

The first the Newark authorities knew of the presence of Clemmer in this city was when they received instructions from James A. Strasburger, district attorney of Columbia county. There is a good deal of agitation under Pa., to arrest him. A personal had been inserted in a New York paper purporting to be from the DeKalb woman. Clemmer was a victim of the decoy and responded with a letter. which fell into the hands of the district attorney. Clemmer was then easily When he was arrested he took matters calmly and denied his identity, but subsequently admitted that he was the man wanted.

Famous "Old Tom," of Allegheny, Comes Out in a Strong Interview Declaring in Favor of the Congressman For the Republican Nomina-Martin and Magee.

(Special Correspondence.)

Philadelphia, Nov. 29 .- Politics do not seem to make a ripple upon the placid surface of the state of Pennsylvania at the present time. But this apparent rest should not be taken too seriously. the surface, and it will break loose in due time. Before this letter reaches the reader Senator Quay, who has returned to Washington from his Florida retreat, will have plunged once more into the excitement and worry of political and legislative life at the national capital. Senator Penrose has already gone to Washington, where he has secured quarters for the winter. Nearly all of the members of the Pennsylvania delegation are getting housed for the winter and otherwise preparing for a short, sharp and decisive campaign under the big dome of the capitol. It must be said in all candor that the state of Pennsylvania never had a better or more energetic representation at the capitol than it has at the present time, and the two senators and the congressmen can be depended upon to get all there is possible to get for the state of Pennsylvania, both in the way of appointments and appropriations.

The prospects of a new state capitol being built upon the ruins of the old structure at Harrisburg in time to be ready for occupancy on the part of the legislature in January, 1899, are excellent. The new capitol building commision, under a decision of the supreme court, has decided not to compensate the six specially invited archi tects who submitted plans unless they can show that their plans conformed to the program as prepared by the commission. These special architects were to receive $1,000 each.

Architect Henry Ives Cobb, who has seen selected to supervise the construction of the new capitol, has presented modified plans and specifica tions, and submitted them for appro val. All of them have been approved with some slight alterations. Under the senate, as the original Cobb plan provided for. The rest of the specifications will be produced at a meeting to be held next week, and if approved the contract will be let. It was also decided to let the entire contract for excavations, foundation and superstructure to one contractor, and not divide

Tom Marshall, the famous independent of Allegheny county, is the latest man to declare for Congressman Stone.

"Yes. I am in favor of the nomination of Colonel W. A. Stone for governor. He is our representative in congress, and exhibited large ability and earned distinction in his congressional career. He possesses all the requisites for a successful candidate. He is a soldier boy; close and near to the rank and file; in touch with the people. What he is he has earned in the field. He entered the nation's service and passed through the struggle of the grandest conflict that the world ever The men of the south witnessed. were our brothers in blood and courage -brave, enthusiastic, believing that they were defending their rights and homes.

"After the close of the war Mr. Stone devoted himself to the study of law, came to our county, and was appointed United States attorney for the western district. Afterward he was chosen our representative in congress to succeed my friend and student, Colonel Thomas M. Bayne. During his service in congress he has been earnest. active and watchful of the interests of the people. There lies his strength. He is in touch with the rank and flie-the men who in the field fought and won our victory for $13 a month, and never to themselves said: 'We will attain distinction or reputation.

"In peace he has sought to protect American labor from the inundation of foreign paupers, the outflow of the effete population of the Old World. Colonel Stone is a man of energy and activity, has his eyes open to the doings and tendencies of the times. He does not owe his position to wealth or any adventitious circumstances. He has earned his position by hard, rugged effort, and is not allied to any special interest. He is one of the people, and has a kindred touch to the varied interests of the many. I will not dilate further upon his services as a soldier.

From the disturbed, unsettled state of the political field in Pennsylvania the labor interests and the working men should be given a candidate in harmony with their feelings. That is where the votes come from. The Republican party must be responsive to the wants of the mass of the people if action: Free men, free labor lands. The sooner the party gets back to this starting place the better for the people of this nation. The strug-gie about a financial standard is trivial compared with the vital and great questions which lie in the near future, such as the freedom of labor; of indiof the many."

Just as long as a newspaper leaves certain people alone, or else pats them on the back and endorses everything they do, that newspaper is all right. But as soon as the newspaper strokes the fur the wrong way, then that newspaper is all wrong, and should be boycotted and driven out of the community. Just what the people think a newspaper is for can't be estimated. A newspaper that gives all the news without fear or favor, is one that is of benefit to the community, and PRACTICAL BRICK MAKER, the newspaper that is fearless in its advocacy of what is right is the best
