

FRAUDS IN CUPID'S NAME.

MATRIMONIAL AGENCIES THAT SWINDLE TRUSTING INNOCENTS.

They Advertise All Sorts of Brilliant Opportunities, but Usually Introduce Unsuspecting Women to Unscrupulous Adventurers—Photographs of Handsome Swains and Beautiful Maidens Are Usual Baits, but the Originals Are Seldom in Evidence—What Can Be Done to Abolish the Evil?

Special.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—One would imagine that it was hardly necessary now-a-days to warn the public against professional marriage-mongers. Whenever the veil that covers the operations of these gentlemen has been lifted it has been made clear to the dullest comprehension that bunkum is the basis of the business and that serious swindles are its common accessories. That exposures and warnings have not stopped the supply of dupes, and these mischief-making agencies are still pocketing the savings of servant girls and the spare cash of hard-working young men who ought to know better.

The recent prosecutions for "missing word" frauds and other bogus competitions show that 20,000, or perhaps, 50,000, fools are always standing ready to part with their money. They appear to rely upon such theories as that a man who is not publicly branded as an impostor must be honest, that a man who advertises extensively must be wealthy, that whatever appears in print must be true, that an enthusiastic testimonial must be genuine and unalloyed.

None of these stupid notions will hold water for a moment. It is no easy task to reveal a rogue's character and career to the general public. The law of libel is so severe that a newspaper is generally unable to publish a sentence until it has in its possession a long chain of well-corroborated evidence. In the vast majority of cases the victims are a skillful trickster take no steps to protect others, thinking that they will thus avoid adding to the unpleasantness of publicity. They say to themselves, "We have been fooled, but why should we let the world know what fools we are?"

Victims Don't Complain. When the victimization is the outcome of their matrimonial schemes, they are more horrified than ever at the idea of attracting public comment to their ambitious aspirations. The dry goods clerk who wanted to find a lady worth $25,000 a year and the dressmaker who thought that the photograph of her pretty face had beguiled the fancy of a Wall Street broker are naturally unwilling to amuse their friends with a recital of their disappointing experiences. The agents of the marriage racket know all this beforehand, and it is at this point that a course of deception and blatant humbug may be carried on for months and years without the interference of press or police.

To place confidence in the simple display of wealth is equally senseless. Matrimonial agencies, like bogus loan offices, have often proved good mines to their unscrupulous promoters. The fees of the foolish soon suffice for splendid offices, the costliest upholstery of which causes the caller to believe that he is dealing with people in the front rank of the business world. A staff of frock-coated clerks are there to show the most sympathetic to the husband-seeking shop girl or governess. Lifelong happiness is on sale for a small fee. Who can wonder if they are dazzled by the inviting prospect and part with their hard-earned earnings in response to the honey-toned suggestions of the cunning rascals?

Cheap Game to Run. At this game a big show can be made with little expenditure. Most of the advertisements are evolved in the marriage agent's office, from the marriage agent's fertile brain. When a genuine advertisement does come in, it is probably from some forlorn maiden who has been waiting for years for a mate. The result—if there is any result—of her subscriptions to the agency will be an introduction to some worthless adventurer, who will borrow whatever money she may be possessed of and then fly away after a fresh quarry.

At these offices a part of the stock-in-trade is a collection of highly ornamental photographs—handsome fellows with curly black hair and drooping mustaches, doll-faced beauties with those charms of face and form which the photographer has touched up with such consummate skill. If the customer thinks that a choice is offered from these specimens it will prove a delusion, for the best of them are not on the books of the firm at all. The others are probably dissolute persons, with whom marriage would be a direful catastrophe.

Diamond Cut Diamond. Perhaps the most amusing element in such negotiations is the frequent introduction of one adventurer to another. Each is overjoyed at the opportunity of acquiring the fortune attributed to the other. If they wed they cannot be long in discovering how absurdly they have worked at cross purposes. Mutual hatred follows, and miserable reproaches—and appropriate punishment for their mercenary enterprises.

How are these agencies ultimately to be disestablished? It can only be done by multiplying the genuine opportunities for the young of both sexes to meet one another at sociable functions. It ought not to be difficult to get some public-spirited people to organize and superintend something similar to the institution which the Salvationists have planned. A committee of sensible women could be trusted to produce a workable scheme.

If the existing agencies were successful in the slightest degree in bringing about happy marriages, we should before now have heard of some of them. But the only marriage that ever came into prominence outside of the matrimonial agencies was that of a successful divorcee.

ROYALTIES IN VIENNA.

They Will Gather to Unveil the Statue of Emperor Frederick.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The Duke and Duchess of Connaught will go to Germany to represent the Queen at the unveiling of the statue of the Emperor Frederick at Wiesbaden, on Monday, Oct. 18. The German Emperor and Empress, the Empress Frederick, the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Baden and other royal personages will be present, and it is rumored that the Emperor and Empress of Russia are coming from Darmstadt for the function.

After the statue has been unveiled, the Emperor and Empress will give a royal banquet at the Schloss, and at night there is to be a special performance of "Der Burggraf" at the Opera House.

SHOULD WIDOWS BIKE?

New York Society Is Agitated Over the Question.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—It is a much-discussed question among feminine devotees of the cycle in the metropolis whether young widows should "bike" or not. Of course, the spectacle of a newly bereaved "lone one" speeding along at a record rate, with the emblem of woe streaming gaily in the breeze, would be a sight to shock ancient matrons with pangs.

Then, too, a wreath of snowy flowers held in the gloved hand of a pale-faced young widow has a pathetic interest for the beholder; while this same wreath strung on to the handle-bar of a machine would lose much of its artistic value.

It is said the question will be debated at the next meeting of Sorosis.

SAVED THE CORPSE.

Explosion Caused a Fire That Abruptly Ended a Wake.

DUBLIN, Oct. 14.—An extraordinary scene was witnessed early on Tuesday morning at Ballymena, County Antrim, during the progress of a "wake" in the house of a woman named Wilson. By some means a petroleum lamp exploded, setting the place on fire.

Immediately there was a wild stampede from the house. Some of the more daring spirits returned, however, a moment later, and amid considerable excitement, the corpse and an invalid girl named Johnson were lowered from an upstairs window.

The constabulary extinguished the fire before the arrival of the brigade.

CRIMEAN HERO GONE.

Sergeant Rogers of the Royal Scots Fusiliers Passes Away.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A Crimean veteran, Sergeant W. Rogers, late First Battalion Royal Scots Fusiliers, died at Bideford on Sunday. He joined the regiment in 1841, became color-sergeant in 1852, and at Sebastopol and Inkermann was attached to Captain, now Lieutenant-General, Boldero's company. This officer and his subalterns were wounded, and Rogers commanded the company till the end of the action. Their ammunition failing, the Fusiliers emptied the wounded Russians' pouches, and peppered the enemy with their own bullets.

MOTHER! There is no word so full of meaning and about which such tender and holy recollections cluster as that of "MOTHER"—she who watched over our helpless infancy and guided our first tottering step. Yet the life of every Expectant Mother is beset with danger and all effort should be made to avoid it.

Mother's Friend so assists nature in the change-taking place that the Expectant Mother is enabled to look forward without dread, suffering or gloomy forebodings, to the hour when she experiences the joy of Motherhood. Its use insures safety to the lives of both Mother and Child, and she is found stronger after than before confinement—in short, it "makes Childbirth natural and easy," as so many have said. Don't be persuaded to use anything but

MOTHER'S FRIEND

"My wife suffered more in ten minutes with either of her other two children than she did altogether with her last, having previously used four bottles of 'Mother's Friend.' It is a blessing to any one expecting to become a MOTHER," says a customer. HENDERSON DALE, Carmel, Illinois.

COL. GRUMPY.

He was a darling little boy, With sunny eyes of blue, And happy as the day was long, Unless he had to do Some task that did not please him much.

And then he was so cross, His mother thought her boy was gone, And grieved so for his loss, And said, "It was a dreadful case, That here in her own dear boy's place Was surely Colonel Grumpy!"

Her boy, she said, was good and sweet— The pearl of little boys! But Colonel Grumpy was most rude, And broke up all his toys; He tore his picture-books to bits, Cracked his slate, lost his hat, Pulled his little sister's hair, And teased the pussy-cat. She wished he'd go away, and then She'd have her own sweet boy again Instead of Colonel Grumpy!

"That Colonel Grumpy's not my boy I'm sure is very plain, And so I'd better send him off To-day in all the rain. So, Colonel Grumpy, go away In spite of wind and wet! I want my boy, who does not sulk, Nor does he scold or fret! A little sob two pleading eyes, Then clasped tight in her arms, he cries: 'Good-by, cross Colonel Grumpy!'" —Jane Campbell.

ABOUT CAMPHOR.

How the Odoriferous Drug Is Obtained from the Trees.

In the native forests in Formosa, Fukien and Japan camphor is distilled almost exclusively from the wood of the trunks, roots and larger branches.

The work is performed by hand labor, and the methods employed seem rather crude. The camphor trees are felled, and the trunks, larger limbs and sometimes the roots are cut into chips, which are placed in a wooden tub about forty inches high and twenty inches in diameter at the base, tapering toward the top like an old-fashioned churn. The tub has a tight-fitting cover, which may be removed to put in the chips. A bamboo tube extends from near the top of the tub into the condenser. This consists of two wooden tubes of different sizes, the larger one right side up kept about two-thirds full of water from a continuous stream which runs out of a hole in one side. The smaller one is inverted with its edges below the water, forming an air-tight chamber.

This air chamber is kept cool by the water falling on the top and running down over the sides. The upper part of the air chamber is sometimes filled with clean rice straw, on which the camphor crystallizes, while the oil drips down and collects on the surface of the water. In some cases the camphor and oil are allowed to collect together on the surface of the water, and are afterward separated by filtration through rice straw or by pressure. About twelve hours are required for distilling a tubful by this method. Then the chips are removed and dried for use in the furnace, and a new charge is put in. At the same time the camphor and oil are removed from the condenser. By this method twenty to forty pounds of chips are required for one pound of crude camphor.—U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A Pony as a Household Pet.

Billy Johnson is probably the only pony in the world who is a household pet.

Billy lives in South Bend, Ind. He has all the privileges usually enjoyed by a favorite dog, except that he has never warmed himself at the Johnson fireside or slept on the spare bed. But he comes into the house and prances gaily up seven flights of stairs, the click of his small hoofs pattering like hailstones on a garret roof.

Naturally Billy is the banner member of the little circus troupe which holds high carnival in the Johnson children's bedroom. "Playing circus" is their chief recreation in stormy weather, and the pony helps the dogs, cats, pigeons and babies to furnish a fascinating programme.

As Billy is only forty-eight inches high he easily stands or sits on an ordinary chair, with his front feet dangling against his breast like the hands of a lachadalsical lady. At the word of command he shakes hands, kisses his master and "plays dead" to perfection.

When the babies are put in his basket saddle he steps softly, evidently appreciating the helplessness of his precious load. But when the older boys get upon his back he jumps, kicks and bucks like a stiff-legged bronco, enjoying the fun as keenly as his rider.

One of Billy's famous tricks is to become the foundation of an animal pyramid, lying flat on the ground while Sir Eldred, a splendid St. Bernard, lies atop of him. The capotes are Penny and Dot, two tiny blooded black-and-tan dogs, weighing twenty-six ounces each.—New York World.

A clever workman in a cutlery factory in Sheffield, England, has recently made a dozen pairs of shears each so minute that they all together weigh less than half a grain. That is about the weight of a postage stamp. Each pair was perfect and would cut if sufficiently delicate material could be found. Lying on a piece of white paper, they seemed no larger than fleas.

With regard to Dr. James' Headache Powders, I have no hesitation in commending them to sufferers from headache. They relieve the pain speedily, and I have never known anyone to be harmed by their use. I have been a great sufferer from headache in my life, but have almost gotten rid of it by the constant use of hot water and fruit and by doing without coffee. The Dr. James Headache Powders have, however, greatly relieved me at times and I never allow myself to be without them, and have recommended to others freely. C. C. McCABE. For sale by W. H. ONE OF TWO WAYS.

The bladder was created for one purpose, namely, a receptacle for the urine, and such it is not liable to any form of disease except by one of two ways. The first way is from imperfect action of the kidneys. The second way is from careless local treatment of other diseases.

CHIEF CAUSE.

Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if not doctored too much is not liable to weakness or disease, except in rare cases. It is situated back of and very close to the bladder, therefore any pain, disease or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort. The error is easily made, and may be as easily avoided. To find out correctly, set your urine aside for twenty-four hours, a sediment or settling indicates kidney or bladder trouble. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy is soon realized. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At drug-gists fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail. Mention the Middleburgh, Post and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.
