

Foul-Smelling Catarrh.

Catarrh is one of the most obstinate diseases, and hence the most difficult to get rid of.

There is but one way to cure it. The disease is in the blood, and all the sprays, washes and inhaled mixtures in the world can have no permanent effect whatever upon it. Swift's Specific cures Catarrh permanently, for it is the only remedy which can reach the disease and force it from the blood.

Mr. B. P. McAllister, of Harrodsburg, Ky., had Catarrh for years. He writes: "I could see no improvement whatever, although I was constantly treated with sprays and washes, and different inhaled remedies. In fact, I could feel that each winter I was worse than the year previous."

Finally, it was brought to my notice that Catarrh was a blood disease, and after thinking over the matter, I saw it was unreasonable to expect to be cured by remedies which only reached the surface. I then decided to try S. S. S., and after a few bottles were used, I noticed a perceptible improvement. Continuing the remedy, the disease was forced out of my system, and a complete cure was the result. I believe that all who have this dreadful disease should try their local treatment, which has never done them any good, and take S. S. S., a remedy that can reach the disease and cure it. To continue the wrong treatment for Catarrh is to continue to suffer. Swift's Specific is a real blood remedy, and cures obstinate, deep-seated diseases, which other remedies have no effect whatever upon. It promptly reaches Catarrh, and never fails to cure even the most aggravated cases.

Rights of the Minority.

Writing upon the "Principles of Taxation" in Appleton's Popular Science Monthly, Hon. D. A. Wells has this to say concerning the power of congress to impose taxes: "The members of the convention that framed the constitution of the United States had the very questions before them that have already been in issue before the American people, and may at no distant day be again presented for their serious consideration. It was inequalities in methods and facilities for the raising of revenue among the states of the confederation for the support of the federal government that threatened the existence of the confederation and necessitated the assemblage of the constitutional convention. And the members of this convention, taught by experience, incorporated in their work the provisions respecting the exercise of the power of taxation, the meaning and validity of which are now called in question. And in so doing they gave to the people of the United States an instrument of which one great feature, if not its chief feature, and one not recognized as it ought to be, is that it guards the rights of minorities as no other governmental instrument devised by mortal man ever has done. As long as this great feature is preserved intact and the nation adds to it another principle, that every question of doubt concerning it shall be always determined in a way to strengthen it, the perpetuity of the present government is assured. But if now the supreme court invalidates this great feature by nullifying the mandate of the constitution, and thereby practically removes all limitations on the power of congress to impose taxes, sanctions discriminating taxation and disregards the rights of minorities, the hour when the government enters upon the path of decadence will have struck."

Gen. Edward E. Bryant, of Madison, tells a story that fits in at the present time very nicely, says the Chicago Times-Herald: There was a pious man in the crew of an ironclad. He had been told one evening that in all probability the next day would witness a great battle. When he prayed that night he put special stress upon the plea that the vessel upon which himself and his comrades were serving might escape disaster, saying, among other things: "O Lord, shield us from the shells and other projectiles of the enemy, but if any shells and solid shot do come to our vessel, pray Thee that they may be distributed as prize money is distributed, mostly among the officers."

"It is laughable," writes a Chicago war correspondent, to hear our boys trying to use the nautical phraseology. Amid the excitement of going to sea the other day, while the tugs and boats were plying about, one fellow amid several dozen up in the rigging shouted out: "There comes our boat with the mail. Downstairs with you, you lobsters! They speak of the ports as 'windows,' and going up on deck as going 'upstairs.' In speaking of distances at sea, instead of using cable lengths, they talk of so many 'blocks,' as if they were still in the heart of old Chicago, in Madison or State street."

At New Haven, W. Va., there are so many people named Isaac Roush that to avoid confusion they are thus designated: Big Ike, Gentleman Ike, Spectacle Ike, Ike on the Hill, Ike in the Hollow, Rosa's Ike, Little Ike, Soldier Ike, Lazy Ike, Thirteenth Virginia Ike, Pifer Ike, Aunt Cassy's Ike, Drummer Ike, Fourth Virginia Ike, Hartford Ike, Dum-It Ike, Kanawha Ike, Sally's Ike, Helliky Ike, Trotter Ike, Fiddler Ike, Ten-Mile Ike, Mart's Ike and Aunt Detsy's Ike.

A New Jersey justice of the peace arrested by a constable for riding a bicycle on a sidewalk was arraigned in his own court. He fined himself one dollar and costs. The costs are $2.75. Of this amount the constable gets 80 cents and the justice $1.95. The prisoner paid himself as justice the $3.75, of which amount the town got one dollar and the constable 80 cents. He then slipped the remainder in his pocket as his fee for trying himself.

Puerto Rico is unusually well watered for a small island. Forty-six streams appear on the map, and some are navigable for a short distance by small merchant vessels. Venomous snakes and insects are few. The greatest animal pest is an army of immense rats, which are especially destructive in the sugar cane fields. There are numerous harbors in Puerto Rico where a military expedition might be conveniently landed.

A "charitable" Chicago association has lately been discussing the question: "Shall the poor have butter?" It might better have been devising means to get it for them—along with good, nutritious bread.

Decoy patients are part of what physicians have to avoid nowadays. The "sick one" sometimes proves to be well, and assists in robbing the unsuspecting Aesculapius.

America has eight towns named Madrid, three of which are thinking of changing their names to something less palatially and aggressively Castilian.

A Washing Agent.

Peddler—Please, mum, I'm selling' a polish to clean silver.

Housekeeper (sharply)—Don't want none.

Peddler—Very sorry, mum, but I see the neighbors was right. They said there was no use calling here 'cause you didn't have no silver.

Housekeeper (wildly)—Gimme six boxes.—N. Y. Weekly.

Purely Aesthetic.

"Weren't you rather surprised at Amy accepting that 80-year-old Mr. Scrimmins?"

"Oh, well, she says she took him because he matched her complexion."

"Her complexion?"

"Yes; old gold, you know."—Harlem Life.

Acknowledged the Debt.

"I do not claim," said the thoughtful member of the club, "that the influence of fashion is entirely harmful. We must admit that we owe the milliner and dressmaker something."

"Goodness, yes!" exclaimed the usually frivolous member, shuddering.

"My account can't be less than $150."—Brooklyn Life.

All Good Money.

Friend—I hear you have met with misfortune.

Bobson (sadly)—Indeed I have. Lost $500 cash and bonds; negotiable bonds, too—good as gold every one of them. It's a terrible blow!

Friend—But I hear your wife eloped with another man.

Bobson—Yes; but she's the one that took the money.—N. Y. Weekly.

His Proportions.

"Going out to take a spin with Freddy Slim, are you?" said his cousin.

"That's what he has brought the tandem around for," replied Miss Quickstep. "I have never seen him in knickerbockers before, and I'm afraid I'll have to do all the pushing."—Chicago Tribune.

Not New.

"Here is a batch of bicycle jokes," said the contributor.

As the editor read them the look of sadness on his face deepened and the gloom of his countenance became darker.

"They will not do," he sighed. "They are all 1897 models."—N. Y. World.

There Are Others.

Akins—What do you suppose makes Newhub look so sad and dejected so soon after his marriage?

Grimshaw—They said the bride was a very sweet girl; perhaps she has fermented by this time.—Puck.

Ahi

He—Why did you join that woman's secret society? It won't do you any good.

She—Perhaps not; but its emblem makes such a pretty brooch.—Brooklyn Life.

Fights in His Mind.

"What's a civilian?"

"A civilian is a man who stays at home and thinks up ways for the army commanders to run the war."—Chicago Record.

An Expensive Opponent.

Flasherly—I hate to play poker with that doctor.

Dasherly—Why's that, old man?

Flasherly—He wants two dollars every time he's called.—N. Y. Journal.

Going One Better.

"Mrs. Squeems gave silver candlesticks as souvenirs at her luncheon."

"I suppose now you want to have a luncheon and give away piano-lamps."—Chicago Record.

The Country Preacher.

He labored long and patiently to free this world from sin.

And after years of ceaseless toil A sharper took him in.

—Harlem Life.

NOT A PLEASURE.

The Major—Well, my little man, so you are going out for pleasure?

Bobbie—O, no; we are going to see grandpa.—Moonshine.

Artistic Trade-Marks.

"The slim girl yonder is an art student, isn't she?"

"I think so; her hair is touzled and her skirt sags in the back."—Chicago Record.

Cause for Surprise.

'Twas the first time Rachel had seen a lawnmower in use. "My!" she exclaimed, "who ever heard before of cutting grass with a carpet-sweeper?"—Judge.

Those Talkative Barbers.

Barber—Shall I go over your face twice?

Customer—No, I guess one will do; I don't want to strain your voice.—Judge.

Her Exception.

"He is flippant. He can't be serious if he tries."

"Yes he can. He is very serious when he tries to be funny."—Harlem Life.

The Very Best.

Teacher—Well, Johnny, who was the best man that ever lived?

Johnny—Please, sir, it was mamma's first husband, sir.—Tit-Bits.

Arrested for Bigamy.

Judge—What is your name?

Woman—That's for you to find out, your honor.—N. Y. Journal.

MILITARY EXPEDITIONS.

Difficulties Which Were Involved in Sending the Troops to Manila.

It was on the first day of May that Admiral Dewey destroyed the Spanish ships and defenses in Manila bay. Twenty-four days later the first detachment of troops sent to reinforce him sailed from San Francisco.

There were some expressions of impatience because of this delay, and also because more troops were not sent. But those who criticize the government on this account, says the Youth's Companion, can have little idea of the difficulties involved in sending a large military expedition such a distance.

From San Francisco to Manila is about 7,600 miles. The voyage, under favorable conditions, takes about four weeks. Ships had to be chartered and made ready in haste, to convey not the troops only, but their weapons, field artillery as well as rifles, horses and their sustenance, tents, bedding, hospital stores and miscellaneous equipments, together with rations for the whole force sufficient for the voyage and for some time after.

It was necessary also to carry out large quantities of ammunition and supplies for Admiral Dewey's squadron, for ships carrying on operations 7,600 miles from their base of supplies need many things.

To secure the ships and prepare them for such a voyage, and to accumulate and get on board of them all the needed supplies in a little more than three weeks, was really a remarkable achievement.

CONVICTED HIMSELF.

An Argument That Convicted the Judge That the Professor Was Guilty.

"What's this?" exclaimed the justice of the peace in Arenac county; "do I understand, professor, that you was hissed an' 'bombardeed with eggs an' veg' tables while you was a-playin' the 'Star-Spangled Banner'?"

"That's what I say, judge. Spain'ards couldn't have abused me no worse. I was about the worst-lookin' object you ever see when I reached the brush and crawled inter a holler log."

"What have you fellows to say 'bout this high treason?" shouted the court, as he fingered a Dewey button and looked daggers, says the Detroit Free Press.

"I represent these gentlemen," said a bright young lawyer. "All we ask is that this 'professor' play one of his selections for your honor. We offer it in evidence."

Not a dozen squeaking, screaming, teeth-filling notes had been tortured from the violin before the court yelled: "Halt! Do you call that infernal racket fiddlin'? Is that the way you mess up the glor'us anthem in this here glorious nation? I fine you three dollars an' costs for contempt of court, disturbin' the peace, maintainin' a nuisance and insultin' the flag. Now you kiver groun' lively till you git outen this jurydiction." Then some good-hearted citizen pointed the nearest way to the railroad.

IT IS "GOTHAM" OUT OF TOWN.

But to People Who Live There It Is the "Biggest City in the United States."

Here are a few remarks by a merchant who came to New York from the southwest ten years ago: "When I was a boy, and long after I had quit acting like one, I nearly always heard New York called 'Gotham.' A New York man was a 'Gothamite.' We read in our home paper of 'happenings in Gotham.' When a man went from our country to this city he said he had gone to 'Gotham.' I remember an incident in my school. The teacher had a habit of asking questions that were not in the book, and one day he sprung this: 'Which is the largest city in the United States?' The boy at whom this was fired replied 'Gotham.' The old teacher looked over his spectacles and said:

"Yes, you are another one. I wish the fathers of some of you boys would tell you when they read Washington Irving that he was no friend of the school teacher. It takes half my time to undo what Irving did in the historical line. The largest city in the United States is New York, and if any of you boys ever go there you will find it out."

"The dear old pedagogue was a native of the Empire state. I meet many people in the course of a year and I rarely hear the word 'Gotham.' I am inclined to think New Yorkers never thanked Irving for applying it to their city."

China Is Crowded.

The crowding of China by other nations continues. A recent attack by a Chinese mob upon the Japanese consulate at Shashi has given Japan a pretext for securing concessions on the Peiho, together with a guarantee that no part of the province of Fukien, which lies on the mainland opposite Formosa, shall ever be ceded to a foreign power. France has demanded from China a money indemnity and certain railway concessions in the province of Kwangsi, as compensation for the murder of a French priest; and Russia, without waiting for any special pretext, is reported to be insisting on a lease of Kin-Chau, the city near Port Arthur which the Russian commander not long ago attempted to occupy, claiming it as a part of the Port Arthur concession. Great Britain has secured an important extension of the boundaries of Hong-Kong.

Pretty Old and Still Hot.

Lord Kelvin puts the age of the sun at 100,000,000 years. At its present rate of combustion the sun will last for 7,000,000 to 10,000,000 of years before burning out.
