BURIED AT ARLINGTON.

The nation's last tender offices in honor of her soldier dead brought from distant battlefields and camps for muster in the silent army sleeping on the sunny slopes of the National Cemetery at Arlington Heights were performed on Thursday last. By special order of the President all of the Government Departments were closed and flags upon all of the Government buildings were placed at half mast. The church and state represented by those highest in authority gathered at the grave-side and with bared heads listened to the solemn words that consigned the mortal remains of the fallen heroes to their final rest.

Never since the close of the civil war has another so impressive a scene been presented within the great cemetery. Three hundred and thirty-six bodies of officers and enlisted men, but 70 per cent of which were identified, were consigned to their last resting places at one time. The bodies had been brought from Cuba and Porto Rico, Congress having by special act appropriated the money necessary. Each body was incased within a hermetically sealed metallic casket. The long rows of graves had been prepared for their reception and before the hour of service arrived the caskets, each shrouded in a national flag, were placed each over its open grave in readiness to be lowered. The ceremonies were solemn, grand and imposing. The files of U. S. troops in their bright uniforms, the muffled drums' sad beat, the impressive remarks made by the clergy, the volleys fired over the graves, and the final sounding of "taps" which consigned the heroes to their last, long rest, all contributed to the feeling of sadness which pervaded the vast multitude that filled every available space within hearing distance.

As the dead were the nation's heroes the funeral was a distinctly a national tribute. Besides the Chief Executive of the nation all the members of his Cabinet excepting Sec. Alger, who is in the West Indies, were present.

For the first time in the history of Arlington Cemetery a large number of men were buried in its soil whose war record was established by fighting in foreign lands.

The Sign of the Raleigh.

Anti-expansionists need not flatter themselves with a notion that the thrill felt by all New York, and by all the country, at the return of the Raleigh was simply because that ship shared in the winning of a sea fight. Compared to the broader results of Dewey's victory the battle of Manila is a mere flash in the pan.

The Raleigh is welcomed as a sign of the extension of the prestige, power and dominion of the United States in a quarter of the world where American power, prestige and dominion were most to be desired at this time. The political results of what the Raleigh did overshadow her actual deed. Of that fact the American people as a whole are profoundly and keenly conscious. And they rejoice at it.

Welcome to the Raleigh! Returning here the first from Dewey's fleet, she represents not only one of the most brilliant victories, but one of the most momentous events in the history of the United States, and, considering the state of the great international struggle for existence, one of the most fortunate.

To Stop the Lying.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature to require fishermen to swear to the weight of fish caught and pay a tax on same. This bill is aimed at the man who exaggerates as to the weight of the fish he catches, but would not affect the man whose biggest fish always escapes from his hook.

Licking All Around.

Some unknown patriot gets off the following: "I've licked a dozen stamps to-day for telegrams I sent; I licked and stuck one on a bill, with which I paid my rent. I licked a stamp to paste upon a note which I renewed, and then I licked another to make the mortgage good. I've licked these stamps to show that I respect my country's will, and now I'd like to lick the man who introduced the bill."

Watch Your Change.

The Lewistown Free Press says: We are reliably informed that an attempt is to be made to flood our neighborhood with counterfeit money. Our informant tells us that $3,000 in counterfeit currency arrived at this place in one package, and that a consignment of counterfeit dollars and half dollars has also been received.

F. C. BOWERSOX,
County Supt.

Middleburgh, April 11, 1899. 3t.

I was reading an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the Worcester Enterprise recently, which leads me to write this. I can truthfully say I never used any remedy equal to it for colic and diarrhoea. I have never had to use more than one or two doses to cure the worst case with myself or children.—W. A. STRAUD, Popomoke City, Md. For sale by all Druggists.

Wabash Separates Man and Wife.

From the Chicago Inter-Ocean.
WABASH, Ind., April 12.—In the Wabash Circuit Court to-day Walter M. Hammond, son of a prominent citizen, filed a suit for divorce against his wife, Bertha, on peculiar grounds. Mrs. Hammond was a Toledo (O.) girl and they were married in 1896. They lived together until 1897, when Mrs. Hammond declared that she could not endure to live in Wabash, and gave Mr. Hammond the alternative of moving out or consenting to a separation. She averred that she loved him and that her domestic life was as happy as she could wish it, but she didn't want to live in Wabash. Hammond was firm, and she packed up and returned to her parents. The two years necessary to constitute a case of abandonment have just expired, hence the action. There are no other grounds alleged.

Robbed An Old Lady.

Provincetown, Mass., was recently set in an uproar by the report that one of its citizens, Mrs. Thankful Chapman, 74 years old and a native of the town, had been the victim of a bold and aggressive robber. Several unsuccessful attempts were made to discover the perpetrator of the crime and recover the stolen property, but it was several weeks before his identity was fully established. In the meantime his victim was suffering greatly both in body and mind and it was feared she would not survive the shock. In speaking of her condition at the time Mrs. Chapman says:

"I suffered extreme nervousness for some time; could not sleep; but would lie night after night tossing and rolling about until I would become completely worn out. At spells my mind was greatly confused, and sometimes a numbness would settle down over me and I could not move. Then I began taking Dr. Miles' Nerve and the very first night I slept like a babe. I got better from that day on, and am now enjoying excellent health."

Dr. Miles' Nerve is grip's greatest enemy. It drives out the poisonous germs, replenishes the nervous forces, overcomes the excessive waste of the system and replaces all that disease has robbed of. It feeds and cures.

A trial package of Dr. Miles' favorite treatment for the grip, consisting of Dr. Miles' Nerve, Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills, will be sent absolutely free to any person sending name and address on a postal card, requesting the samples and mentioning the name of the Post. Address, Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Indiana.

Drink Grain-O.

after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grade of coffee and costs about as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is the genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25c.
