Railroads are not looked upon as propagators of an esthetic cult, or derelopers of artistic taste, but few realme the debt owed to the railroads in lows for the preservation of the wild flowers of the state, says a state paper. The wide right-of-way reserved by the railroads has been the salvation of the florn of the country, and anyone traveling over the state now and seeing not yards but miles of beautiful wild flowers feels like terslering a vote of thanks to the railroads for their preservation. In a state in which a large per cent. of the soil is tillable, not much land lying out of doors, so to speak, the tendency is to strictly utilitarian use of the soil, but the right-of-way is just now the tlower garden of Lowa,

Tail away in the savings banks of New York state are $1,500,000 in dormunt accounts. Some are nearly 70 years old. None are less than 22 years ald, and during all that time the owners have never added a cent to them or takeu a penny away. John H. Rhoades, of the New York Savings Bank association, says these accounts have been a semindrum to the savings banks ever since they were first organized in 1828. Only a few years ago a law was passed and after that banks are privileged to allow no interest. The banks keep the amounts secret in order to protect themselves from the attacks of shyster

The attorney general of Virginia, who receives $2,500 a year for his services, has recently been called upon to decide the case of Mayor Bibb, of Louisa, who is disqualified on account oath. The case is one which attracts attention from the fact that it has been | evil.-H. C. Sankey. found other county and town officials in Virginia are disqualified from the same cause. The state constitution of Virginia disqualifies duelists from officeholding and duelists and the abettors of dueling from voting.

An American clergyman who has spent some time with the army in San Fernando, north of Manila, writes home that "These are very beautiful islands, on our spiritual energy. We should more pleasant to me than either Porto Rico or Cuba. Up in the hills the air is delicious; it never gets cold enough to throw our eyes around this great world give one a chill. I have found it very good for catarrh and neuralgia, both | learn and bear and endure hardness and of which I have cured by coming out win their pittance of bread by the here." The writer adds that the United States is doing as generously by the narives as any government could.

A Boston physician, Dr. Simpson, maintains that the use of artificial teeth is bad for old persons, because it enables them to cat meat. The teeth, he affirms, fall out naturally at a certain age, because nature means that at this particular time of life we should limit ourselves to a vegetable diet. Dr. Simpnon insists that Ids ideas on this point are by no means as paradoxical as they may seem to some people.

Women interested in employment for the working girls of New York have on their list of unhealthy employments that of pearlbutton making. These buttons are stamped out with a die and the dust which arises is bad for the lungs. An effort has been made to improve the gonditions, but the evil is not entirely

The diary of Andrew Walker, railroad engineer, who died recently at Terre Haute, shows that during his 50 years of active service he has guided his engine over 1,000,915 miles of track and that during all that time no train of which he was the pilot met with an aceident of a serious character.

Perhaps the most extraordinary family in the world is one living at Arkanass City, Kan. The mother has been married five times and for each husband she has had a child. The five children are living with her and each bears the name of its father.

One by one the truly great men of our country pass away. Mr. James Bradt, of Mendon, the champion pie eater of Michigan, passed away a few days ago and Capt. Nichols, of Kentucky, who proudly boasts that he has been drunk for 40 years, is reported to be in extremis.

CONSCIENCE.

Ram's Horn-What Various Writers Say of It.

Conscience is a silent guide thread, one end sunk deep in mankind's soul, the other in God's hand .- Mrs. Bernie Babcock.

Conscience-the moral sense or faculty within us, by which we judge the difference between right and wrong or the legitimate and illegitimate of our own deeds or passions.-W. L. Braman.

Conscience-a sentinel which sits enthroned in the bosom of every human being, as God's monitor of the soul, determining the ought and ought not, in the thoughts and actions of life .-Louis S. Bauman.

Conscience is the silent voice within which condemns the wrong, upholds the right, and deals out to mankind either the misery of a self-accusing mind or the joy, peace and comfort of a pure life,-Dr. E. F. Larkin.

Conscience is a natural inherency bestowed upon all sane humanity, by a heavenly Father. The judicious exise of which enables all on the sea f life to enter the safe port and receive the welcome plaudit: "Well done."-

Conscience is the sense of right and duty, acting according to knowledge. It is the function through which God and man can appeal to our hearts. It is a part of the soul from which we can never part: the phonograph which will reproduce our lives in all eternity,-P.

Conscience-the inner moral sense which approves or upbraids according as we do that which in our belief is right or wrong. Given in divine love to each individual to encourage right doing and to make it harder to do wrong. Tender, if heeded; but, disregarded, becoming more and more unfeeling.-Mrs. E. E. Volentine, Conscience—the wonderful monitor and law giver within. A God-given facfixing 22 years as the life of an account ulty which decides on the right or wrong of our thoughts, actions and affections. Faithful witness to the truth. Divincly appointed sentinel on the Christian's battle line. Who hears the tiee of conscience, hears a voice from heaven.-A. W. Akers.

Conscience—the sentry God has placed in the watch tower of our souls. It slumbers not, nor sleeps-but ever alert, ever vigilant, it challenges every passing thought, feeling and action, and with equal promptness throws open of his failure to take the anti-dueling the gates to the pure and good, or sounds the alarm at the approach of

A LIFE OF LABOR.

Heavy Demands on Our Pluck, Our Hopefulness, Our Humility and Our Spiritual Energy.

A life of grace is a life of close industry, of patient experiments. It is bound to make heavy demands on our pluck, on our hopefulness, on our humanity, nevr think it strange that it should be so if we could only turn again and about us of human labor, where men sweat of their brow without protest and without surprise. As is their lot so is ours; as is their work so is ours. As with the body of man so with the spirit. They do not flinch, or complain, or fear, or refuse-why should we? It is the work that we are given to do. It is a world of work into which we have been called, this kingdom of the spirit; it needs the like temper, the like courage, the like energy and the like hope. Take heart, then, beloved-take heart! On darkest days, when you seem to yourselves to be ever beginning again a thankless and profitless business without gaining an inch; when the religious life which had begun in such gladness has lost its glory and has turned into a grim and heavy grind; when you strive and strive and cannot attain; when you wonder why it has been made so very hard to be a Christian-look up and say: "It was to be work; why am I disheartened because it conforms to its type? God is a worker and knows what I am feeling, knows how it drags, knows where it pinches, knows where the weight tells, knows the fatigue of this dull drudgery and this rusty routine! Ah! not only knows, but is a fellow worker in it, sharing in the burden, working Himself in me both to will and to do His good pleasure, according to the mighty working of His power by which He slowly subjects all that is in me to Himself. I will work, however long and stern the strain, for in me and with me the Father worketh hitherto and the Son works also, "-Canon Holland, in Christian World Pulpit.

"Be Ye Separate."

Speaking of setting one's self apart for service, Mark Guy Pearse gives this beautiful illustration: I hear some time since of an oculist who was very fond of cricket. But he had given it up, much as he enjoyed it, for he found that it affected the dellency of his touch, and for the sake of those whom he sought to relieve be sanctified himself (set himself apart). That is what we want-that there shall come into our lives a force that prompts us always to be at our best and readiest for service, our fullest and richest to help, a tree that is always in leaf, and always in bloom, and always laden with its fruit like the orange tree where the beauty of blossom meets with its fragrance the mellow glory of the

The Life of Faith.

The life of faith is not so much an attainment as an action of the soul which by long continuance, moment by moment exercised, becomes an attitude, a habitude of mind and heart and will.-Homiletic Review.

CANCER IS DEADLY!

Results Fatally in Nine Cases Out of Ten-Cure Found at Last.

This fearful disease often first appears as a mere scratch, a pimple, or lump in the breast, too small to attract any notice, until, in many cases, the deadly disease is fully developed. Cancer can not be cured by a surgical operation, because the disease is a virulent poison in the blood, circulating throughout the system, and although the sore or ulcer—known as the Cancer—may be cut away, the poison remains in the blood, and promptly breaks out afresh, with renewed violence.

The wonderful success of S. S. S. in curing obstinate, deep-seated blood diseases which were considered incurable, induced a few despairing sufferers to try it for Cancer, after exhausting the skill of the physicians without a cure. Much to their delight S. S. S. proved equal to the disease and promptly effected a cure. The glad news spread rapidly, and it was soon demonstrated beyond doubt that a cure had at last been found for deadly Cancer. Evidence has accumulated which is incontrovertible, of which the following is a specimen:

"Cancer is hereditary in our family, my father, a sister and an aunt having died from this dreadful disease. My feelings may be imagined when the horrible disease made its appearance on my side. It was a malignant Cancer, eating inwardly in such a way as to cause great alarm. The disease seemed beyond the skill of the doctors, for their treatment did no good whatever, the Cancer growing worse all the while. Numerous remedies were used for it, but the Cancer grew steadily worse, until it seemed that I was doomed to follow the others of the family, for I know how deadly Cancer is, especially when inherited. I was advised to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), which, from the when inherited. I was advised to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), which, from the first day, forced out the poison. I continued its use until I had taken eighteen bottles, when I was cured sound and well, and have had no symptoms of the dreadful affliction, though many years have elapsed. S. S. S. is the only cure for Cancer.—Mrs. S. M. Idol, Winston, N. C.
