tion, etc. Phillip was disappointed, but FARMER COPE IS he kept his temper.

"Well, brethren," he said, "what can we do to help the solution of these questions? Is the church of America to have no share in the greatest problem of human life that agitates the world today? Is it not true that the people in this town regard the church as an insignificant organization, unable to help at the very point of human crisis, and the preachers as a lot of weak, impractical men, with no knowledge of the real state of affairs? Are we not divided over our denominational differences when we ought to be united in one common work for the saving of the whole man? I do not have any faith in the plan proposed to give our benevolence or to district the town and visit the poor. All those things are well enough in their place. But matters are in such shape here now and all over the country that we must do something larger than that. We must do as Christ would do if he were here. What would be do? Would be give anything less than his whole life to it? Would be not give himself? The church as an institution is facing the greatest opportunity it ever saw. If we do not seize it on the largest possible scale, we shall miserably fail of doing our duty." Saturday night he was out calling a little while, but he came home early. It was the first Sunday of the month on the morrow, and he had not fully prepared his sermon. He was behind with it. As he came in his wife met him with a look of news on her face. "Guess who is here?" she said in a whisper. "The Brother Man," replied Philip quickly.

"Yes, but you never can guess what has happened. He is in there with William. And the Brother Man-Philip, it seems like a chapter out of a novel-the Brother Man has discovered that William is his only son, who cursed his father and deserted him when he gave away his property. They are in there together. I could not keep the Brother Man out."

Philip and Sarah stepped to the door of the little room, which was open, and

The Brother Man was kneeling at the side of the bed praying, and his son was listening, with one hand tight clasped in his father's and the tears rolling over his pale face.

HARD AT WORK

Governor Stone's New Appointee Arrests Violators of the Oleo Law.

M'KINLEY IS A STALWART.

The President Recognises the Regular Republican Organization in the Appointment of Holland as United States District Attorney-Pennsylvania Shares in Prosperity.

(Special Correspondence.) Philadelphia, July 17.-Farmer Cope whom Governor Stone appointed at the head of the dairy and food department of Pennsylvania, has been making a great record in the short time he has filled this important post. He has made the political enemies of the Stone administration admit that he is strictly enforcing the law, and he has demonstrated his ability to take care of himself despite the unfair and malicious attacks which the Wanamaker subsidized newspapers are making upon the administration.

An object lesson showing what is being done in this department was given in this city last week when a big array of dealers were before Magistrate Stratton charged with violating the laws in relation to the sale of "oleo." The warrants for these arrests were sworn out by Farmer Cope's agents and he had his own attorney on hand to see that the prosecutions were pressed without fear or favor. Professor Genth, who made a careful examination of all samples submitted to him by Farmer Cope, was there to testify as to the result of his analysis. The magistrate held several of the accused in bail for court as the result of the testimony submitted, and in other cases the accused waived hearings, and the cases will be sent to court for early trial.

ADMISSIONS FROM OPPONENTS.

Some of the men who for political reasons were enlisted in the campaign of misrepresentation of the administration of the pure food laws by the officials of the Stone administration have admitted that under Farmer Cope's administration there is a determined and successful effort being made to faithfully administer the laws and to hunt down and prosecute all violators of the law.

M'KINLEY IS A STALWART.

The appointment by President Mc-Kinley of James B. Holland as United States attorney for the eastern district of Pennsylvania last week was very gratifying to the stalwart Republican element of this state. Mr. Holland has for several years been recognized as a stalwart leader of Montgomery county and he has given personal attention to the management of the party organization there. For his party services in the past he was named as naval officer of this port early in the present administration. When the term of District Attorney Beck expired Mr. Holland was suggested for appointment as his successor. Tremendous pressure was at once brought upon the president to prevent Mr. Holland's appoint-The insurgent and gold ment. Democratic influences were brought to bear for the reappointment of Mr. Beck, who had renounced the Democratic party. Mr. Holland was recommended by Col. Quay. In this connection it is fair to state that since President McKinley has been in the White House there has not been a single important Pennsylvanta appointment which has not been made upon the recommendation of Messrs. Quay and Penrose or the Republican member of the house of representatives in the district to which the office was assigned. The president from the outset has evinced a determination to stand by the regular Republican organization, and he will no doubt continue the policy throughout his administration.

It is quite probable that State Senator Walter T. Merrick, of Tioga, will be named to succeed Mr. Holland as naval officer. Senator Merrick has been a consistent stalwart member of the legislature, and he is backed by the leaders of the Republican organization of the state.

PENNSYLVANIA SHARES IN PROS-PERITY.

Philadelphia is feeling a gratifying effect of the present Republican admin-istration of the affairs of the country. She is sharing in the big boom of the export trade, and in this respect has surpassed some of her less fortunate sister cities. There was a gain of $3,000,000 in the value of the grain exports over the figures of the preceding year. The increase in exports was largely represented by corn shipments. These exports amounted to 35,729,662, bushels, as against 26,261,408 for the preceding year. The increase in the exports of oats was even more marked. These figures jumped over 6,000,000 to

Philadelphia has a splendid elevator system, and the activty of her members of the board of trade in pressing for business has enabled the Quaker City to get her full share of the Mc-Kinley prosperity in the grain trade. Pennsylvania's iron and steel industries are thriving under Republican rule, as was clearly shown in the annual report of the Bethlehem Steel company, made public last week, which gave a net income of $2,122,000, an increase of $977,000 over the earnings of the Rethlehem Iron company during the year ending April 30, 1899. ORGANIZATION IS NECESSARY.

Pennsylvania's great Republican majorities are only obtained through systematic, careful and untiring labor in drilling the army of committeemen upon whose shoulders the responsibility of the party organization in their respective localities rests and in educating the voters, and especially the young men who propose to cast their first ballot, as to the issues involved in the election

President McKinley, in a very comprehensive and thorough address in reply to the committee on notification, presented the salient points of the Re-

The president has a happy faculty of stating a case with moderation, but with convincing force. His review of the last three and a half years was a model in this direction. The total gross earnings of railroads were $238,000,000 larger in the past year than in 1855. Rallroads make their money out of the industries of the mass of the people. Consequently the people had $228,000,000 more to spend in the third McKinley year than in the third year of Cleveland.
