

ROYAL

The Absolutely Pure

is the baking powder of general use, its sale exceeding that of all other baking powders combined.

Royal Baking Powder has not its counterpart at home or abroad. Its qualities, which make the bread more healthful and the cake of finer appearance and flavor, are peculiar to itself and are not constituent in other leavening agents.

Great efforts are made to sell alum baking powders under the plea that they are so many cents a pound cheaper than Royal. The admission that they are cheaper made is an admission that they are inferior. But alum powders contain a corrosive poison and should not be used in food, no matter how cheap.

A MIGHTY FORCE FOR M'KINLEY.

Young Republicans of Pennsylvania Will Labor at the Polls on Tuesday Next.

TO WORK FOR THE WHOLE TICKET

Thousands of Club Men Are Appealed to That the Democracy Shall Have No Opportunity to Rejoice When the Returns Come In.

Republicans everywhere throughout Pennsylvania are preparing for next Tuesday's election, so that they may perform a solemn duty to their families, to state and to their country to vote the whole Republican ticket.

There are many thousands of active, progressive young men who will not be content with merely casting their ballots for McKinley and Roosevelt and the entire Republican ticket, but they propose to labor all day to get others to the polls to do likewise.

CLUB MEN ACTIVE.

In an address just issued to members of Republican clubs J. Hampton Moore, president of the State League of Republican Clubs, gives this timely notice:

"In the approaching election for president of the United States the forces of the Pennsylvania State League of Republican Clubs are expected to play a most important part. The recent convention held in Philadelphia demonstrated the enthusiasm and earnestness of the workers of the league, and justified the expectation that excellent results would be forthcoming in the interest of McKinley and Roosevelt, and the whole Republican ticket.

"It is not my purpose as president of the league to enlarge upon the advantages of the Republican party policy. All good citizens should be united upon this point. It is my duty, however, to issue this final call to all Republican club members of the state to put their best foot forward in the fight which is to be determined on Nov. 6.

"Shall McKinley or Bryan rule this country? That is the question. If you are for McKinley, work for him; vote for him; urge your neighbors and friends to work and vote for him. Permit no citizen who is interested in the commercial and business life of the community to fall in his full duty as a citizen. Make him come out to vote; see that his vote is counted, and see that it is counted upon the right side.

"What you do for McKinley and Roosevelt do also for your own state candidates. Give your loyal support to E. B. Hardenbergh, the Republican nominee for auditor general, and to Galusha A. Grow and Robert H. Foerderer, the Republican nominees for congressmen-at-large. They are worthy and deserving men, who are entitled to and should receive the full Republican vote.

NOTE THE WHOLE TICKET.

"Do not be deceived in any of your congressional districts. Stand for the regular Republican nominees. If the president of the United States is to be William McKinley see that a congressman is elected who will support him. Mr. McKinley is the head and front of the Republican organization of the United States. His support comes from the organization of the Republican party in the various states. Pennsylvania, the greatest of the Republican states, should be stalwart in its support, and should not elect a single congressman who is not in thorough sympathy with the Republican party, and with the president, who is its inspiration and fountain head.

"It is a safe rule to stand for the regularity of nominations. The State League stands not only for the maintenance of Republican principles, but it stands for the rule of the majority. Wherever a congressional candidate has been regularly nominated he should receive the support of all the members of the State League.

SHOULD BE NO WAVERING.

"The loss of one congressman in Pennsylvania may turn the next house of representatives. The president of the United States, the chairman of the national executive committee and the chairman of the national congressional committee have each urged that there be no wavering on the part of the Republicans of Pennsylvania.

"Let us hope that the expectations of the leaders of the party in state and nation may be realized, and that the State League may be able, after the returns are in, to claim the honor of having swelled the majority to upwards of THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND VOTES.

"The only danger that confronts the party is inaction and apathy. The State League has never heretofore failed to do its part. Its enthusiasm has been a welcome factor in this campaign. Let us hope the result will justify its labor.

"Remember from now until Nov. 6 the important question for you, your neighbors and friends is

"M'KINLEY AND CONFIDENCE, BRYAN AND UNCERTAINTY. Which?"

PUT THE CROSS IN THE REPUBLICAN CIRCLE.

The regular Republican nominees, from President McKinley down, should receive every Republican vote. Differences of opinion should be laid on the shelf, at least until the next primary elections, and Republicans of all shades of thought and feeling should go to the polls on election day to mark the circle at the head of the Republican column.

AID AND COMFORT SHOULD NOT BE GIVEN THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY BY VOTING FOR ANY PART OF THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET OR BY SCRATCHING ANY PART OF THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

When a woman makes up her mind to get into the charmed circle of society there is nothing climbing the social ladder, nor on the cart beneath that will check her effort. A story in illustration of this persistence of the fair ones is told by a well-known leader in Washington society, says the Chicago Chronicle. In high officialdom is a little lady, dainty as a spring crocus, who was a member of the inner circle long before she became a part of officialdom. On one of her last reception days she was chatting with cabinet women when the servant announced the arrival of a woman who is struggling to get into things as never a social climber struggled before. The hostess knew her by sight merely and had never so much as had a bowing acquaintance with her, but official people are used to seeing strangers at their receptions and the lady of the house bowed with her usual graciousness. The climber's quick eye took in the situation. She saw the two cabinet women and she knew they saw her. She rose to the occasion in masterly fashion. "My dear Mrs. Blank," she said, gushingly, clasping her hostess' hand warmly, "I was so sorry not to have been at home when you called on Friday. It was so sweet of you to come so soon and I do hope you'll come in very often, informally, that way." And before the hostess had recovered from her surprise the climber had passed on, well content, for she had appeared in the presence of two cabinet women as the intimate friend of a lady who had never set foot on her doorstep.

On June 1 many thousands of men officially known as enumerators began to take the twelfth census of the United States. During the month they will be expected to visit every home. They will ask many questions. Not one of these questions is unnecessary, and, rightly regarded, none is impertinent. Every accurate answer will help to carry out the purpose of the census, which is to determine and record the social condition and industrial standing of the people of this country. Truth-telling cannot possibly have embarrassing results. The information given the enumerator will not be used as a basis of taxation nor communicated to any assessor; and if the enumerator makes any facts public he will be liable to a heavy penalty. The enumerators will undoubtedly try to do their work discreetly and well, for they are reputable citizens, carefully chosen. The government gives them all the aid it can, in the form of instructions so comprehensive that they fill a pamphlet of 64 pages. But the success of the census really depends upon the intelligent cooperation of the people. Receive the enumerator courteously, urges Youth's Companion, answer his questions frankly and in no way hamper or delay him. He is the agent of a great governmental enterprise which should interest and must benefit every citizen of the United States.
