Michael Sarvey, of Riverside, is visiting friends at this place.

Butchering has been the peoples' main occupation for several weeks. Some of the heavy weights and light weights were as follows: E. H. Young killed a hog that weighed 395 pounds. B. F. Hummel a beef that weighed 506 pounds and a hog weighed 74 lbs.

Farmer Long finished cutting corn November 25.

Doubtless.

Jasper—Why is it that so many American children are so badly brought up?

Jumpuppe—Probably it is because they are not kept down enough.—Town Topics.

Simply Preposterous.

"Oh, Mrs. Miggs, what a dreadful black eye! I do hope you haven't been fighting?"

"Fightin', miss? Me? Sure, 'ow could I be fightin' with me 'usband dead this two years?"—Tit-Bits.

An Odious Comparison.

Madge—Isn't Miss Autumn aging rapidly?

Marjorie—Yes, indeed. She will soon have as many wrinkles as her French bull-dog.—Judge.

No Reason to Expect It.

"Have you read my new book?" asked the self-satisfied author.

"Certainly not," was the ready reply. "Why should I? What have you ever done for me?"—Chicago Post.

A woman can't vote and a woman can't throw

A brick or a stone very high. But a weak little woman of thirty or so Can bring a young man or his grandfather low By merely a drop of the eye.—Chicago Times-Herald.

AN INSTANCE OF ADDITION.

"She is always looking out for No. 1."
"No, since she became a widow she's been looking out for No. 2."—Journal Amusant.

The Usual Way.

During the courtship he sued For the maiden's hand with vim; But after the marriage her hand Had to sew on buttons for him.—Chicago Daily News.

What He Made.

"He started out to make a name for himself."
"And did he succeed?"
"Well, hardly. He made a number for himself instead."
"How do you mean?"
"He's in the penitentiary."—Chicago Post.

Was Afraid He Had.

Mrs. Crimsonbeak—Did you ever kill a deer, John?
Mr. Crimsonbeak—I'm not sure. The other day, when we went picnicking to the park, I thoughtlessly gave a piece of one of your crullers to one of the deers there. I didn't wait to see the result.—Yonkers Statesman.

Filled In to Fill Up.

Dashaway—I have an idea that Mrs. Von Blumer invited us to dinner at the last moment in place of some fellows who couldn't come.
Stuffer—That's all right. She invited us to fill in, and we came to fill up.—Town Topics.

Meteorological Hen.

Twynn—I hear that the weather man has been taken to the hospital.
Triplet—That is true. The shock was too much for him.
"What shock?"
"One of his forecasts came true."—Tit-Bits.

A Danger to Shun.

"Did that girl give any reason for refusing you?"
"Yes; she said I looked too much like a man who was bent on having his own way about everything."—Indianapolis Journal.

Same Old Game.

Mrs. Stuckup—Shall we have a maseuse of what?
Country Cousin—What's that?
Mrs. Stuckup—Don't you know. A maseuse is a rubber, dear—French, you know.—Ally Sloper.

Her Anxious Pleint.

He—I want to say a good word for your friend Jack. He is a man after my own heart.
She—That's very nice of you, but I wish I could feel the same assurance.—Boston Courier.

Pity and Beauty

The most beautiful thing in the world is the baby, all dimples and joy. The most pitiful thing is that same baby, thin and in pain. And the mother does not know that a little fat makes all the difference.

Dimples and joy have gone, and left hollows and fear; the fat, that was comfort and color and curve—all but pity and love—is gone.

The little one gets no fat from her food. There is something wrong; it is either her food or food-mill. She has had no fat for weeks; is living on what she had stored in that plump little body of hers; and that is gone. She is starving for fat; it is death, be quick!

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the fat she can take; it will save her.

He—Already another new dress? And I've been losing so much money in my business!
She—Just for that reason, dear! You told me not to let anybody notice that you're in trouble.—Fliegende Haetter

Same Old Thing.
There's no fresh wisdom, but from day to day Man thinks the same old thoughts in some new way.—Chicago Record.

Brutal Bard.
"Ah! Mr. Frankley, your sonnets are so beautiful!" sighed Miss Gushley. "You are surely 'the great poet.'"
"That's what!" replied Frankley, who had been dragged to this pink tea against his will. "You can't get up an argument with me on that subject."—Catholic Standard and Times.
