

The Eminent Kidney and Bladder Specialist.

The Discoverer of Swamp-Root at Work in His Laboratory.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Then the richness of the blood—the albumen—leaks out and the sufferer has Bright's Disease, the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root the new discovery is the true specific for kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It has cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases, after all other efforts have failed. At druggists in fifty-cent and dollar sizes. A sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling about Swamp-Root and its wonderful cures. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. and mention this paper.

IN COMBINATION WITH THE POST.

We give below some clubbing combinations with the POST. The rates quoted are very low.

The Farm Journal, monthly, for most five years and the Middleburg Post one year, paid in advance, $1.00.

The Farm Journal is one of the best agricultural papers published. It contains from 32 to 40 pages each month and treats of every subject of interest to the farmer, laborer and working man.

The New York Tri-Weekly Tribune and the Middleburg Post, one year, paid in advance, only $1.75.

The Tri-Weekly is published Monday, Wednesday and Friday, reaches a large proportion of subscribers on date of publication and each edition is a thoroughly up-to-date daily family newspaper for busy people.

The New York Weekly Tribune and the Middleburg Post, one year, paid in advance, only $1.25.

The Weekly Tribune is published on Thursday, and gives all important news of the nation and world, the most reliable market reports, unexcelled agricultural department, reliable general information and choice and entertaining miscellany. It is the "people's paper" for the entire United States, a national family paper for farmers and villagers.

The New York Tri-Weekly World and the Middleburg Post, one year, paid in advance, only $1.65.

The Tri-Weekly World is published on Thursday, and gives all important news of the nation and world, the most reliable market reports, unexcelled agricultural department, reliable general information and choice and entertaining miscellany. It is the "people's paper" for the entire United States, a national family paper for farmers and villagers.

The Tri-Weekly World comes three times a week, is filled with the latest news of the country and is well worth the price asked for it.

The Practical Farmer, one year, and the Middleburg Post, one year, paid in advance, $1.50. Both of these papers and the Practical Farmer Year Book and Agricultural Almanac for 1900, paid in advance, only $1.65.

The Practical Farmer is one of the best papers published, reaches weekly, contains in which there is a fund of information that is useful to the farmer. This book alone is worth the price asked for it.

The Practical Farmer Year Book and Agricultural Almanac for 1900, paid in advance, only $1.65.

The Practical Farmer Year Book and Agricultural Almanac for 1900, paid in advance, only $1.65.

The Buffalo Courier sticks a pin in the following facts: "Five hundred millions of hairpins! That is what the women of this land annually buy, beg or borrow. Now, a hairpin never wears out; it sometimes becomes pale and bent with age, but its avoirdupois is all there. What, therefore, becomes of these successive millions? During the last ten years 5,000,000,000 of hairpins have been made and sold. At present there are only about 100,000,000 in circulation. Now, where are the other 4,900,000,000? They have been sown broadcast from Maine to California, and have left not a trace behind. Of course some of them are picked up and restored to their sphere of usefulness, but most women are as shy of adopting strange hairpins as they are of accepting an unidentified toothbrush. The hairpins, therefore, go to make up the flotsam and jetsam thrown out by the tide of humanity and dumped into the waste places of the suburbs." That's what hairpins do to them.

The growth of population about the great lakes will be one of the important revelations of the present census. Six lake cities, Buffalo, Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit, Milwaukee and Chicago, have added more than 1,000,000 people since 1890, an increase of nearly 50 per cent. The increase is directly related to the growth of commerce of the great lakes, which has doubled in the last five years. The tonnage capacity of vessels passing through the canal at Sault Sainte Marie is now half as large again as that of all the vessels which enter and leave the port of New York, and two and a half times as great as the tonnage which passes through the Suez canal. The great lakes certainly cannot be called "a waste of waters." They are teeming with life and usefulness.

Here is a Georgia boy's composition on the trouble in China, given in the Atlanta Constitution: "China is a land of heathens that would rather worship a wooden god that grins at you than go to church and pay pew rent. My pa was a missionary in China. When the Boxers commenced to box they knocked him out in the first round, and he lost three fingers and a bran new hymn book with a bookmark in it. Then he came home. He has still got 2 legs and 2 arms left, though the Mission Board told him that he lost his head. He says home missions takes the cake."

Ferris' big wheel as a locomotive round house for some enterprising railroad company is the latest novel purpose proposed for the disposition of that piece of gigantic machinery. The originator of the idea would have it laid over on its side, roofed over in regulation roundhouse fashion, and yet keep to its business of turning, thus receiving 72 locomotives, if necessary, from one single track leading to its periphery. Frogs, turntables and switches would be done away with.

Twenty-one Californians, the advance guard of 500, sailed from New York a few days ago for the Argentine republic, intending to settle there. The delegation already en voyage is headed by four brothers named Ballet, from Los Angeles, each six feet tall, and each having a wife and four daughters. The colony, which has considerable cash capital, will go into cattle raising in the valley of the Plate River.

A graveyard in De Kalb county, Missouri, has a headstone with the following inscription, dictated by a sorrowing widower: "With grief I see my loving mate is took from me though took by one who has a right to call for me when he sees fit." On a tombstone at Wayland, Mass., may be seen the doubtful statement: "Here lies the body of Dr. Howard, a man who never voted. Of such is the kingdom of heaven."

"Here is a true story on one of our hardware clerks," says the Downs (Kan.) Times. "A little four-year-old girl walked into one of the hardware stores some time ago and had a bolt put in her little express wagon. When the job was completed she asked the clerk what the charges were. The clerk informed her that a kiss would pay the bill, and the little lady said: 'All right, mamma will pay you.'"

Probably at no time since the civil war have there been so few regular soldiers stationed in the United States as there are to-day. Of the 100,000 officers and men constituting our present army all but 17,000 are serving abroad, mostly in the Philippines.

Houghton county, Mich., which is in the heart of the Lake Superior copper mining region, has the highest assessed valuation of property per capita of any county in the United States. The total valuation for the county is $120,000,000.

The petrified leg of a giant has been unearthed in Pennsylvania, and the Denver Post suggests that it was pulled off in some prehistoric political campaign.

Over 3,000,000 of the American population are said to be in annual need and actually receiving some kind of charitable assistance.

The Chicago News strikes a Kentucky mountaineer: "A native of the Righteous In-mountain district of Kentucky had occasion to go on a journey recently, and before starting took out an accident policy. He chanced to be one of the victims of a railway collision, and the next morning his widow, armed with a newspaper report in which his name was mentioned among the killed, called on the agent of the insurance company and demanded the money. 'But, madam,' said the agent, 'we will have to have more definite proof before we can pay your claim.' 'More proof!' exclaimed the bereaved woman. 'Why, he's dead 'rn a door nail, I reckon.' 'Possibly, my dear madam,' answered the polite agent, 'and I am very sorry.' 'Sorry! You are sorry, are you?' 'I certainly am, madam. I sincerely sympathize with you in your sad affliction.' 'But hain't you goin' to give me the money what's comin' to me?' 'Not to-day. Your claim will have to be investigated first.' 'That's just like a good-fer-nothin' man,' angrily retorted the bereaved woman. 'You all are mighty perlit 'bout things so long as they hain't costin' you nothin', but the minnet a poor, lone female does git a chance to git holt of a leetle spendin' money, you got the gall to say you're sorry.' And the indignant female slammed the door behind her as she left the office in search of additional proof."

An enterprising New York manufacturer is shipping lamps to Bagdad, the home of Aladdin. He had made a lamp that seems to have captured the whole orient, and princes and potentates are clamoring for his goods. Missionaries were responsible for the introduction of the lamps. Many of the buyers are excited persons. The lamps go to the emperor of Siam's palace at Bangkok, to the sultan of Morocco's palace at Morocco, and to a number of caliphs at Damascus and viziers at Bagdad. These lamps burn kerosene oil, but they have no chimneys. By a mechanical device air is forced into the flame, which gives a clear white light equal to 20-candle power.

A Chicagoan just returned from a tour of the far west saw the following location notice on a mining claim in the Grand Encampment, Wyo.: "We found it and we claim it by the right of founding it. It's our'n. Its 750 feet in every direction except southwest and northeast, and there is 300 feet on each side of this writin'. Its called the Bay Horse, and we claim even the spurs, and we don't want nobody jumping on this Bay Horse—that's what's these trees is around here for and we've got the same piece of rope that we had down in old Missouri."

"If you are making choice of a physician," says a writer in the Hartford Courant, "be sure you get one if possible with a cheerful and serene countenance. A physician is not—at least, ought not to be—an executioner and a sentence of death on his face is as bad as a warrant for execution signed by the governor. As a general rule, no man has a right to tell another by word or look that he is sure to die. It may be necessary in some extreme cases; but as a rule, it is the last extreme of impertinence which one human being can offer to another."

The agricultural department of the Iowa State college at Ames has been notified by the United States department of agriculture that the butter sent by the college creamery was awarded a gold medal at the Paris exposition. Only six medals were awarded, and the competition was open to the world. The creameries competing from the United States were selected by the agricultural department at Washington, and out of the 40 who sent exhibits from this country the college creamery at Ames was among the first selected.

A peculiar incident was lately witnessed in the Bethany Presbyterian church at Trenton, N. Y. The sermon had a soporific effect upon Harry Tidd, a young druggist, and he fell asleep. While still in slumber, says a local exchange, he arose, removed his coat, vest and collar and was about to further disrobe when the women in his vicinity screamed. An usher aroused him and led him out of the church.

A sad leaf in the history of telegraphic communication is encompassed in the story that never before have there been so many messages sent to the dead as at Galveston. Thousands of dispatches have been sent to persons who were destroyed by the recent hurricane.

A Wichita (Kan.) girl who was masquerading in her brother's clothes escaped detection until she reached a wet crossing and instinctively grabbed the trousers by the pistol pocket with an upward pull as she gracefully tiptoed across the street.

A sporting authority says there are nearly 1,000 golf clubs in the United States, having a membership of about 300,000. Imagine the dust that army of sticks could raise if profitably employed in the spring-time carpet cleaning.

Blood Troubles: Cancer, Scrofula, Old Sores, Rheumatism, Contagious Blood Poison, Chronic Ulcers.

As the blood contains all the elements necessary to sustain life, it is important that it be kept free of all impurities, or it becomes a source of disease, poisoning instead of nourishing the body, and loss of health is sure to follow. Some poisons enter the blood from without, through the skin by absorption, or inoculation; others from within, as when waste products accumulate in the system and ferment, allowing disease germs to develop and be taken into the circulation. While all blood troubles have one common origin, each has some peculiarity to distinguish it from the other. Contagious Blood Poison, Scrofula, Cancer, Rheumatism, Eczema and other blood diseases can be distinguished by a certain sore, ulcer, eruption or inflammation appearing on the skin. Every blood disease shows sooner or later on the outside and on the weakest part of the body, or where it finds the least resistance. Many mistake the sore or outward sign for the real disease, and attempt a cure by the use of salves, liniments and other external applications. Valuable time is lost and no permanent benefit derived from such treatment.

BLOOD TROUBLES REQUIRE BLOOD REMEDIES; the poison must be completely and permanently eradicated—the blood reinforced, purified and cleansed, or the disease goes deeper and saps the very life. Mercury, potash and arsenic, the treatment usually prescribed in this class of diseases, are violent poisons, even when taken in small doses—never cure, but do much harm by adding another poison to the already overburdened, diseased blood.

S. S. S., Nature's own remedy, made of roots and herbs, attacks the disease in the blood, antitoxins and forces out all impurities, makes weak, thin blood rich, strong and healthy, and at the same time builds up the general health. S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known, and the only one that can reach deep-seated blood troubles. A record of 30 years of successful cures proves it to be a reliable, unfailing specific for all blood and skin troubles.

Free Medical Treatment.—Our Medical Department is in charge of skilled physicians, who have made blood and skin diseases a life study, so if you have Contagious Blood Poison, Cancer, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Eczema, an Old Sore or Ulcer, or any similar blood trouble, write them fully for advice about your case. All correspondence is conducted in strictest confidence. We make no charge for this service. Book on blood and skin diseases free.

ON THE BOULEVARDS.

The Distributing Center of All the Popular Fitting Fancies of France.

In his acute and amusing comments on the Paris of to-day, Richard Whiting, in the Century, treats of "The Life of the Boulevards."

The very paving-stones of great cities might sometimes cry out: "Let us have peace." Some of them may well complain that the foot of man makes too short work of them, considering the time and trouble it took them to grow. Those of the boulevard are surely entitled to this grievance, as they are ground to premature dust by an army everlastingly on the march. It is a stage army, for it turns on its steps, to repeat the trick of entrance and exit half a dozen times a day. The entrance, I may observe as a stage direction, is by the Rue Royale; the exit very little higher than the Boulevard des Italiens. Beyond that point the long line is simply a place of transit on lawful business, like any other street. The short stretch between the Madeleine and the Rue Richelieu forms the Grand Boulevard ancient of days.

When the New Caledonian of the future seeks his arch of the opera house to sketch the ruins of the Madeleine, he will not fail to observe that the asphalt here is ground to a finer surface than elsewhere. Its air of fatigue will be as eloquent of a too busy past as the rutted ways of Rome. The custom of ages, since these sites ceased to be open country, or open ditch, just beyond the city wall, has sent the people here for news and gossip every day. Once they came for fresh air as well; and having contracted the habit, they are loath to part with it, though now they are naturally rationed in that commodity like other inhabitants of walled cities. They seldom, however, fail to get a good blow of the winks of the spirit. The boulevard is the source or the distributing center of all the fitting fancies of France. You come here in the daytime for the sensation of the day. You get it of a surety, whatever else you may miss; and while you enjoy it, hot and hot, truth seems but a spoliator. The art of life is, after all, but an art of impressions; and this impression, while it lasts, is sure to be to your taste. The boulevard asks no more. There will be something new to-morrow; and what you have is sufficient until the day.

A Family of Sextons. The sextonship of the parish church at Chapel-en-le-Frith, Devonshire, England, has been retained in one family since 1631. The latest incumbent, Joseph Bramwell, who recently died, was buried in a vault in which lay the bodies of the eight predecessors. One of them was sexton for 52 years.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

His Specialty. Wiggles—What! That miserly-looking old chap a collector of engraving? He doesn't look as if he would ever spend a cent for anything. Waggles—Yes. The kind he likes best are those on $20 bills.—Somerville Journal.

No Credit. You said to get out of debt The hardest thing may be; But I find to get into debt A harder one for me.—Harlem Life.

An Occult Influence. "The fortune-teller told me that some powerful influence was standing between me and success in life." "Do you suspect anyone?" "I can't decide whether it's the baby or the cook!"—Chicago Record.

At the Restaurant. First Man (excitedly)—Our restaurant is on fire. Second Man (calmly)—Come, then, hurry up and perhaps at last we may be able to get something hot.—Pearson's Weekly.

An Unfailing Test. Foreign Visitor—Is that college a really fine educational institution? American (proudly)—Is it? I should say it was. They've got the most idiotic college yell to be heard in the whole country, sir—yes, sir.—N. Y. Weekly.
