

Not Up to Date.
 "O, the disgrace of it all," wept the unhappy wife of the defaulting bank employe.
 "Alas! Alas!" moaned her friends, not knowing what else to say.
 "O, the disgrace!" continued the sorrowing woman. "To think Henry only got away with $8,000, when everybody else is taking all the way from a hundred thousand to a million."
 Now, when it was too late, she realized her mistake in marrying an old-fashioned man.—Baltimore American.

His System.
 The Young One—Dad, give me a pointer about married life. How do you get on so well with mother?
 The Old One—Easy enough, my boy. First, I have cultivated a habit of never understanding her. Second, I am a good listener. And third, I never allow her to have anything she doesn't want.—Brooklyn Life.

Reserve.
 Share with others what makes you smile. But carry your griefs alone.
 Nine out of ten will listen a while, and then set bored to the bone.—Chicago Record.

HIS ETIQUETTE.

Mrs. De Mon—I gave you my card yesterday; why did you not call for the clothing I promised you?
 Procrastination Bill—Beg pardon, ma'am, but yesterday was Monday and de card said: "At home Thursdays."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Reconciliations.
 Man loves his life with ardor great; He soon forgets each transient pain. We have our fallings out with Fate—And then we make it up again.—Washington Star.

Causes the Gout.
 Rich Patient—What is the cause of gout, doctor?
 Doctor—Excessive eating and drinking will produce gout. Mental worry will also cause it.
 Patient—My, my! Well, I must stop worrying over my excessive eating and drinking.—N. Y. Weekly.

Quite True, Quite True!
 Walking Lady (late for rehearsal)—I'm so sorry to be late. I do hope you haven't all been waiting for me?
 Stage Manager (folly)—My dear Mrs. Chalmers, incompetence is the sin of heaven; but attention to business may be cultivated.—Cleveland Dealer.

His Diagnosis.
 Teacher—Suppose you had one pound of candy and gave two-thirds to your little sister and one-fourth to your little brother, what would you do yourself?
 Scholar—Well, I guess I'd have the sales or something so's I wouldn't much like eating!—Puck.

No Two Alike.
 Mrs. Sargent (knowingly)—It is said that the Lord never made two men alike.
 Sargent (tartly)—Of course He didn't, or you would never hear of a man getting married twice.—Harlem

Conversation and Talk.
 Yes," he said reflectively, "conversation is a lost art."
 "Lost art!" she cried. "Why, you ought to hear us at our whist club." "I was speaking of conversation," he said; "not merely talk."—Chicago

Unfortunate Interruption.
 Young Stone—I spoke to the chemist, he advised me that I should consult a doctor (interrupting)—Oh, he gave some idiotic advice, I suppose.
 Stone—He advised me to see you!—Bita.

Halcyon Days.
 "What are the halcyon days?" "They are the ones a fellow looks back to with pleasure because he has forgotten what tough luck he was having at the time."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Isolation.
 Uncle Rube—That goes the most popular man in this village.
 Stranger—What's the trouble with Uncle Rube—Wal, he don't go to the fish and he won't go fishin'.—Puck.

Explained.
 "Say, Muggsy, wat's a status anyhow?" "Why, dat's when you've got a jay down an' are sittin' on him."—Philadelphia North American.

What He Did.
 "Stuckian—He called me a liar."
 New Yorker—And what did you do?
 Stuckian—I went to the funeral.
 Trot Free Press.

Told by the Cards.
 "Don't you believe a person's fortune can be told by cards?" "Well, I can tell that anybody must be a fool if their cards are printed in ink or engraved."—Stray Stories.

All Are Exceptions.
 "Now, as a general rule, women are more sensible than men."
 "My dear boy, there is no general rule for women."—Brooklyn
