CHURNING BY WIND.

There Is No Good Excuse for Doing This Work by Hand in These Days of Machinery.

Churning by wind saves labor; whether the windmill be factory made galvanized iron or some five-dollar homemade go-devil affair matters not. The cut shows the lower portion of a windmill's framework, the power being transmitted by the rod connected with the top of the well. A drive-wheel turned by the windmill, a clutch or ratchet, and a pulley wheel on the churn are the machinery used,

CHURNING BY WINDMILL POWER.

My drive wheel is a silent clutch wheel, but those who have none can use an old mower wheel, as illustratlever is boxed leosely to the shaft and connected with the pumping rod, The speed can be changed by having two or more holes in the lever. This device changes the reciprocal motion into circular by means of old eastings which can be found on every farm. It will not do to use a piston on a windmill for such a purpose, as it is liable to stop on the "dead eenter," then when the wind freshens the result would be to smash things unless some one were there to start it. past the center. But with the ratchet appliance it needs no watching. The momentum of the heavy iron wheel keeps up motion during the down churning by hand and letting the potators. Buttermilk is very beneficial in many kinds of stomach troubles, and is healthful for everyone.

Don't expect your milch cow to furnish her quota of milk and butter if she be left to hustle with the rest of the stock. If she is to do her best she must be fed regularly and well, and must be protected from the cold storms and sudden changes of winter. Winter milking don't pay unless the cow is well treated.

Dehorned cattle are more peaceable, easier to fatten, more contented, and can be cared for easier than cattle with horns. While the operation may be painful it is not as cruel as allowing large cattle with horns to harass the smaller animals. The stock owner will save many times the amount of money it will cost him to have his animals dehorned, in feed

e Reasons Why Private Dairying Should Not Be Allowed to Pass Away.

A correspondent of the Michigan Farmer puts up a strong argument for the private dairy instead of patronizing the creamery. He says it would cost him about $300 a year to send the milk from his 20 cows to the creamery and pay for making it into butter. It costs some people more than that, as they have to keep an extra man, extra team and extra wagon; also find fuel to heat water for cleaning cans and for heating the skim-milk for calves and pigs. Instead of this he spends about two hours a day, or 600 hours in a year, taking care of his milk and making butter, which is equal at above rates to 50 cents an hour for his time. All his utensils, aside from the separator, cost him less than $15, have been in use ten years and are good for 25 years more. Most of the creamery patrons receive about 14 cents net a pound for their butter, which he thinks is pretty poor business. He acknowledges that in the general market creamery butter is quoted higher than dalry butter, but a large percentage of dairy butter is sold to private customers at a better price than creamery butter, and he thinks three-fourths of the private families in Grand Rapids was dairy butter, and most of them do so because they prefer it to creamery butter. We are glad there is one who thinks that private dairies can compete successfully with the creamed, with a ratchet wheel on the shaft,

BLOOD POISON.

In some cases the external signs of Contagious Blood Poison are so slight that the victim is firmly within the grasp of the monster before the true nature of the disease is known. In other cases the blood is quickly filled with this poisonous virus and the is known. In other cases the blood is quickly filled with this poisonous virus and the swellen glands, mucus patches in the mouth, sores on scalp, ulcers on tongue, sore throat, eruptions on skin, copper colored splotches, and falling hair and eyebrows leave no room for doubt, as these are all unmistakable signs of Contagious Blood Poison.

Mercury and potash make wrecks, not cures, and those who have been dosed with these drugs are never after free from aches and pain. S. S. Mr. H. L. Myers, 100 Mulberry St., Newark, N. J. says: "I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, which was in spots at first, but afterwards apread all over my body. These soon broke out into sores, and it is easy to imagine the suffering I endured. Before I become consinced that the do. tors could do me no good I had spent a bundred dollars, which was really thrown away. I then tried various patent medicines, but they did not reach the disease. When I had bushed my first bottle of S. S. I was greatly improved, and was delighted with the result. The large, red splotched on my chest began to grow paten and smaller, and before long disappeared entirely. I regumed my lost weight, became stronger, and my appetite improved. I was soon entirely well, and my skin as clear as a piece of glass." Send for our Home Treatment Book, which contains valuable information about
