To ASA H. KANTZ, Respondent in the above

read the most original in the west-ern papers. They have no such re-spect for the living or the dead in some of the western communities as we in this part of the world. Per-haps this arises from the fact that the west is a new section, and that conditions have not become settled there yet, but the situation exists nevertheless. The weekly newspa-pers take all sorts of liberties even with the dead. For instance, I know a reporter on a western weekly, who was asked to write a funeral netice Proposing an amondment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth. Section 1. At an inquest held recently in Providence, R. I., it was learned that death had resulted from touching an incandescent lamp which seemed to be out of order. Experts testified that in small towns where the current was sent through a small wire the houseconverter might become deranged, when the wires would receive the entire 2,000-volt current, instead of the 104 volts intended for the house. This is said not to be possible in the larger rities, where a current of low voltage is distributed by means of copper cables, and a converter is not neces-
