

The Eminent Kidney and Bladder Specialist.

The Discoverer of Swamp-Root at Work in his Laboratory.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—hearth disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Then the richness of the blood—the albumen—leaks out and the sufferer has Bright's Disease, the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the new discovery is the true specific for kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It has cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases, after all other efforts have failed. A sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling about Swamp-Root and its wonderful cures. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. and mention this paper.

ADVANCED "REFORMERS"

McClure and Gordon, Representative Leaders of Union Party. WHAT THEY SAY OF EACH OTHER

Citizens of Pennsylvania Now Have An Opportunity to Learn Something of the Leadership of the Anti-Republican Campaign.

Republicans of Pennsylvania who are reading daily the attacks upon the leaders of their party organization and upon their candidates for state and local offices in what are known as the "yellow" newspapers should not be misled.

The inspiration of many of these assaults comes from men whose reputations are such as to make them unworthy of consideration and to stamp any statements that may come from them as utterly unworthy of belief.

The organization of the latest vehicle of defamation of Republicans, the Union party, has been traced to the same men who have for years been seeking to disrupt the Republican organization for their own selfish purposes.

The managers of the Union party all look to Wanamaker for their financial backing and for much of the newspaper support which their movement has gotten.

But two of the most conspicuous figures in this raid upon the Republican organization, which is regarded as but the initial move for the campaign for the United States senatorship of next year, are Colonel A. K. McClure and former Judge James Gay Gordon, of Philadelphia. These men were bitter personal and political enemies for many years, but they are now working for the same political results, through the Wanamaker influence, with which they are both now identified.

Gordon is one of the closest advisors of Wanamaker, as is also McClure.

MCCLURE THE BIG LEADER.

McClure is chairman of the committee "on relations of city and state" of the Union party, and was the directing manager of the recent state convention of the Union party, held in Philadelphia, and at which Judge Yerkes was nominated for the supreme bench and E. A. Coray was named for state treasurer.

It was Colonel McClure who placed in nomination for the chairmanship of the state committee of the Union party Frank M. Ritter, an intense partisan of Wanamaker.

Former Judge Gordon is running the Democratic annex of the Union party, and it was through him that Colonel Guffey was persuaded to ignore the demands of the Democrats of the state for a straight ticket and form a fusion ticket with the Union party in the present state campaign.

While Gordon was on the bench in Philadelphia he was the subject of constant criticism from Colonel McClure, and when he resigned Colonel McClure boldly declared that had he not resigned proceedings would have been begun to impeach him.

LETTER TO JUSTICE MITCHELL.

Both McClure and Gordon have gone on record with estimates of each other.

The following, from a letter written by Judge Gordon to Justice Williams, of the supreme court, on account of an interview credited to Justice Williams at the time of Gordon's sudden resignation from the bench, will give the voters of Pennsylvania an idea of what Gordon thinks of McClure:

1420 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, December 2, 1898.

My Dear Justice Williams:

I have seen the report in last Sunday's papers of an interview had with you by some newspaper correspondent, at Sharon, in this state, in which you are quoted as saying among other things touching the subject of my resignation from the judgeship:

"I do not think it was prompted by the idea that he could not maintain expenses, but I am of the opinion that he will be Wanamaker's candidate for the United States senate to succeed M. S. Quay."

I was very much surprised when I read this, for I did not conceive it possible that you would go out of your way to cast doubt on the frankness and sincerity of my public statement as to the nature and reasons for my resignation. I have waited now some days in the hope that I would see some communication from you disavowing the publication, but as I have not, I assume that you are correctly reported. Of course, I can make no objection as to your guessing at my political future, or your indulging in any prophesies you choose upon that subject. You merely run the risk of every one who puts on the prophet's mantle or having your vaticinations made ridiculous by time, but there can be no criticism of such harmless indulgence of the fancy to the fullest extent. When, however, you raise a question as to the truthfulness of my statement and intimate that I have been guilty of at least some equivocation, it seems to me I have a right to protest against my friend's unjust suspicions.

WHY HE RESIGNED.

When I said I resigned solely in order to return to the practice of law, and because I found the salary of the judicial office inadequate for the maintenance of my family and making at the same time proper provision for their future in case of my death, I told the simple truth. It was the absolute truth and contains no statement of equivocation or suppression or dishonesty in any respect whatever. Neither was there anything sordid in my act. I notified Governor Hastinaround a member of his cabinet, or my intended resignation two weeks before the election. At that time it was my purpose to send my resignation to Harrisburg on the succeeding day, and the governor was so informed. I was persuaded, however, to withhold my action until after the election, but during all this time and up to the time of the appointment of my successor, a period of a full month, the governor and his cabinet knew of my firm resolve, as did a score of other gentlemen of prominence with whom I had consulted. By resigning, I merely consummated the desire of many years.

The malicious falsehoods which were circulated, attributing other reasons for my act, and insinuating that it had been coerced or induced by fear, or that I apprehended impeachment in the next legislature by the friends of Senator Quay, because of some supposed relation of mine to that gentleman's arrest and prosecution, are all inventions, pure and simple, without shadow or color of truth, and had their origin in one quarter, namely, The Philadelphia Times and its editor, Alexander K. McClure. What stings me is that you, my friend, should apparently join him in casting doubt upon the truthfulness of the reasons which I assigned for my resignation. The last man in the world whom I expect to see hunting in couples with A. K. McClure is Mr. Justice Williams.

It is but a few years ago that you were the subject of the most villainous defamation at the hands of this man and his journal. I very much doubt whether history records more vindictive assaults upon the probity of a judge than then appeared against you in the columns of McClure's paper. You were called a lobbyist, and were charged with acting in concert with public plunderers in legislative matters, and corruptly deciding in their favor in your judicial office. He loudly and persistently demanded your impeachment, and day after day the coarse and reeking rhetoric of a depraved mind was exhausted in heaping upon you epithets of abuse and charging you with most degrading prostitution of your office. All this was done because you had decided a case differently from what he desired.

"A BASH AND DESPERATE MAN."

Your long life of righteous living, your splendid judicial record, your position as an elder in the church, and as a man of generally exemplary citizenship, served nothing to shield you from the vituperative libels of this base and desperate man. I well remember that my heart was wrung with sympathy for you, so that I wrote you a letter earnestly expressing my feelings with protestations of my warm friendship and unflinching admiration, and at the same time I offered to serve you against your accuser in any way I could. Sometime afterward I met you upon the street, when you were good enough to thank me for my letter, and with manly reserve, but touching pathos, told me how bitterly you had suffered from the persistent vilification of which you had been the silent victim.

You surely must yet remember all this with keenness, and though your Christian ethics may have taught you to forgive or ignore your malicious defamer, still you cannot have forgotten altogether the smart of the wounds he inflicted upon your sensitive nature. Why, then, do you permit yourself to join him against me by casting doubt upon my frankness, if not veracity?

Don't you know the habit of this man to assail all judges who do not decide his own cases or those of his fellow slanderers to suit his interests? Have you forgotten the gentle, patient and pure minded Allison—how he was defamed by this same McClure in the most opprobrious terms for a like offense with yours and mine, namely, the failure to decide in accordance with his views and wishes? Do you not remember Pierce, the benevolent, unostentatious and pious Pierce, upon whom was showered the most degrading epithets by this man, and for the same reason? Do you not recall how they were both accused of being the tools of the Pilgrim Club, and of public thieves, and controlled by vile forces—these men who were the idols of the bar and of the public in their day for high minded judicial rectitude? And there is Thayer—facile princeps of the judges of this generation—do you not remember how he, too, was assailed with venomous and dastardly malice, day after day, by McClure in his servile organ, because the Judge presided impartially in a trial for criminal libel, where Mr. McClure was defendant—a trial where the jury stood eleven for conviction to one for acquittal, and that one an employee or close kinsman of an employee in the Times office, thus depriving the jail of its just occupant, and the law of its proper vindication?

I put you in remembrance of those things now in order that I may emphasize the bad company you are in, when you, without knowledge, and merely in the sport of fancy, permit yourself to say that you do not think the reason I assigned for my resignation was a true one. I know you would not think of giving this man personal recognition or of associating with him anywhere else, and you probably have inadvertently strayed into his company now. I feel absolutely certain you would not make him your confidant, or give the countenance of your pure life to his character or habits, past or present.

OF COURSE, YOU KNOW BY TRADITION HOW CORRUPT HIS PUBLIC LIFE WAS WHEN HE HELD OFFICIAL STATION IN THE LEG-

SLATURE. THE WELL-FORMED PENNSYLVANIAN IS HONORANT OF THAT CHAPTER OF SHAME FOR OUR STATE WHEN HE WAS THE HEAD OF A BAND OF BRIBE TAKERS WHO EXACTED TRIBUTE OF ALL LEGISLATION THAT PASSED THE ASSEMBLY. HIS CHARACTER AS A LIBELER OF THOSE WHOM HE CANNOT CONTROL FOR HIS OWN CORRUPT GAIN HAS BEEN BEFORE THE TRIBUNAL OF WHICH YOU ARE AN HONORED MEMBER, AND IS PERFECTLY WELL KNOWN TO YOU. INDEED THE NOTORIOUS IGNOMINY OF HIS LIFE IS SUCH THAT EVEN THE SECLUSION OF A SEAT ON THE SUPREME COURT WOULD NOT PERMIT YOU TO BE IN IGNORANCE OF HIS DEPRAVED REPUTATION.

You probably do not know, however, that those vices most men put by them in their youth he has continued to his impotent old age. You may not be acquainted with the fact and others who are seduced into partaking of his degrading hospitality may not be, that over $35,000 upon a judgment, payment of which he withholds in fraud he is a defaulting debtor to the People's bank of this city in the sum of the suffering stockholders of that institution. But even if you did know of the existence of this unpaid judgment held by the People's bank (and of a number of others of record to be seen of all men), you probably did not know that while he is thus defaulting, that plundered institution of its just dues, he still nightly squanders his money over the gambling table, lives in ostentatious luxury, and is devoted to wine and dine public functionaries, judicial and others, who are so foolish or ignorant as to be lulled by companionship.

I am, my dear Judge Williams, hurt that you should lend yourself and your good name to giving some respectability and plausibility to this revolting man's assaults upon me. My relations with you have always been so pleasant and your esteem for me was always so gratifying a compliment that I feel I must let you know I was pained by your reported utterance.

Most sincerely yours,
JAMES JAY GORDON.

GORDON WRITES OF MCCLURE.

The following from the Philadelphia Times of November 26, 1898: Judge Gordon last night, in reply to a question as to whether or not he had resigned from the bench to escape impeachment, and in answer to criticisms of his official course as a member of the judiciary, said to a reporter for the Philadelphia Press:

"In due time I shall have a statement to make respecting the editor of the Times, A. K. McClure, and his relationship to certain notorious schemes of public plunder and corruption in this city—past, pending and prospective. My presence upon the bench was a constant menace and an obstruction to him and his confederates in corruption, and this was a persistent vilification of me for many years. His recent falsehoods respecting my retirement from the bench are born of his resentment and malice and total want of truthfulness or principle. I SHALL DEVOTE SOME OF MY SPARE TIME, NOW THAT I AM OFF THE BENCH, TO AN EXPOSURE OF THE DEPRAVITY, DISHONESTY AND CORRUPTION OF THIS MAN, WHO IS BEYOND COMPARISON THE MOST DISREPUTABLE CHARACTER NOW LIVING AND BEFORE THE PUBLIC GAZE IN THIS STATE.

THE MAYORALTY NOMINATION.

"He is to my certain and specific knowledge now endeavoring to have a person of his choice nominated by the Republican party of this city for mayor in order that he may have a willing agent in that office to approve certain iniquitous municipal legislation which he is and has been endeavoring and will continue to endeavor to have passed by the councils. One of my gravest offenses to him was when I had the happy fortune in the performance of my judicial duty to defeat one of the schemes in which he was interested, and to expose the corrupt methods that were being employed in its support."

"A McClure mayor of our city is a calamity which I feel sure will never be inflicted upon the people, once they have their eyes opened to the facts, and I will take particular pleasure in seeing that they are not left in ignorance. I assure my friends, whether they know me personally or have been my friends without such acquaintance, that I will renew every one of the statements I now make. But they must have just a little patience, and trust me to select the fit time and occasion."

MR. MCCLURE'S REPLY.

Mr. McClure, in reply to Judge Gordon's remarks, said:

"It is absolutely untrue that I have any candidate for mayor or have advised the nomination of any person. It is absolutely untrue that Judge Gordon has ever defeated any speculative scheme in which I was interested in councils or elsewhere, for the reason that I have never been interested in any scheme of any kind to urge upon the city authorities."

"Judge Gordon in making these statements is either a knave or fool, and I challenge him to show that I have ever been interested in any measure, corrupt or otherwise, before city councils. If I have accused him unjustly my editorial of yesterday was atrociously libelous, and I challenge him to a judicial investigation of the grave statements therein made."

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS is commended by Statesmen, Professional men and thousands of others prominent in the world's activities, for its fine discrimination in sifting the actual news from conflicting reports and the presentation of current events in their just proportion. They comment on its freedom from daily-paper sensationalism. All men and women who want to know what the world is doing find it an intellectual necessity, to judge from the letters received from hundreds. Its editors are comprehensive, and labor saving to the busy man or woman. Its timely contributions on important topics are by the best-informed writers. Its reviews of other magazines give the best of their best work. It is profusely illustrated.

These letters will enable all thoughtful men and women to judge of its value to them:
