JAPAN IS UP TO DATE.

Rich of the Country Growing Richer and the Poor Poorer.

Baron Hisaya Iwasaki Says His Nation is Ready to Profit by Example of Other Nations in Solution of Industrial Problems.

Baron Hisaya Iwasaki, who is said to be one of the wealthiest of the minkado's subjects, has just sailed for England from New York with two of his brothers and three other fellow-countrymen. In discussing the condition of Japan, he said that in his native land the rich were growing richer and the poor growing poorer.

"Have you any poor in Japan?" he was asked.

"We have," he answered, "and they are continually increasing in numbers. The rich are growing richer and the poor poorer, although the change is gradual. It is due to the introduction of the new industrial system."

The baron said he was glad to see the new system introduced, but he did not like the accompanying disparity between the rich and the poor. When asked if anybody had hit on a remedy, he said:

"That will have to be found by political economists, won't it?" Then he added, with a smile:

"Do you think you have solved the problem here? Perhaps the only real remedy is socialistic. We shall be glad to see you put one into effect and then we may follow your example."

Right Rev. John McKim, Episcopal missionary bishop of Tokio, Japan, has arrived in New York on his way to the general convention of his church, which is to be held in San Francisco early in the fall. Bishop McKim, speaking of the religious conditions in Japan at the present time, said:

"The religious awakening, of which we in Japan have heard so much, can hardly be regarded as of permanent benefit. Some years ago there was a similar one, but its effects soon died out. The Japanese are a very excitable race; they are quickly brought to a religious white heat, cooling off again almost as quickly. As a rule, after a revival movement, the percentage of those falling away from Christianity is greater than before.

"The Japanese, too, are a very indifferent race in regard to religious matters generally. Nominally, they are almost all Buddhists, with perhaps a sprinkling of Shintoists, but it can be safely said that Japan has no national church.

"Success in missionary effort depends largely upon the proper organization of the system of management. For that reason Methodist workers in Japan are more successful than the Baptists. Congregationalists are not now making the progress that was made by that body some years ago. Congregationalist policy seems to be one of disintegration, and many of its converts become rationalists. Our church appears to be making more headway and what appears to be more permanent progress than any other body."

PACIFIC OCEAN TURNS RED.

A Most Remarkable Phenomenon is Witnessed Along the California Coast.

Following the earthquake shocks that visited the California coast peculiar phenomena have developed in the Pacific ocean. Within a distance of 65 miles along the Los Angeles county shore line the waters, heretofore clear and of the usual greenish color, have become a terra cotta red. This color line extends off shore for several miles, and is so distasteful to the fish family that they have gone far into the ocean to seek clearer waters. At night this colored sea water gives off a phosphorescent light that enables one to read average print.

At certain points along the beach the water has turned into sweet water that can be drunk. No theory is advanced except that in the Pacific, off the coast, the earthquake opened a fissure that forces fresh water and colored matter to the surface, and the latter is drifting to the shore. A tidal wave followed the earthquake.

Army Filling Up at Rapid Rate.

Enlistments in the army are at an unprecedented rate, much to the gratification of artillery officers, who are anxious to have the maximum strength of their crops attained at an early date. The last week there were 403 enlistments, the previous weekly average being less than 200. This enabled the war department to complete the third increment of artillery increase and make the promotions among the commissioned officers. The surplus enlistments with the additional transfers this week gives 417 men on the fourth increment of 1,502 men.

All the infantry regiments are now recruited to their strength and all cavalry regiments except the Thirteenth are full. This enables the recruiting officers to throw all the recruits to the artillery.

Six-Masted Vessels. In the modern six-masted sailing vessels the first three masts are called by odd names—fore, main and mizzen—and the fourth, fifth and sixth are called the spanker-mast, the jigger-mast and the driver-mast.

Culture of Daffodils. The culture of daffodils has become quite an industry in the southern part of Lincolnshire, England.

SCIENCE GOSSIP.

The average man does not know there is more than one kind of sparrow. It would amaze him to hear that there are 17 kinds, namely, the chipping, English, European, house, field, fox, grasshopper, Henslow, Lincoln, Savanna, Long, swamp, tree, v-sper, white-crowned, white-throated, and yellow-winged.

Some of the vast changes which the face of the earth has undergone are indicated by the recent discovery in the small lakes scattered among the extinct volcanoes of Auvergne in France of the survival of certain forms of marine animals. Salt plains exist there whose deposits were formed before volcanic forces upheaved the surrounding rocks and created mountain peaks and craters.

The oyster at the commencement of its career is so small that 2,000,000 would only occupy a square inch. In six months each individual oyster is large enough to cover a quarter and in 12 months a half dollar. The oyster is its own architect and the shell grows as the fish grows inside, being never too small. It at once bears its age upon its back, and it is very easy to tell the age of an oyster by looking at its shell, as that of horses by looking at their teeth.

It has been asserted that insects are particularly attracted by the colors of certain flowers. Felix Plateau, after investigating the conduct of insects in their visits to various flowers, concludes that while they may perceive colors and thus be enabled to distinguish at a distance between flowers and leaves, yet they show no preferences among the different colors. Blue, red, yellow, white are indifferent to them. He thinks that the odor of flowers affects insects more than their colors do.

Fossil oysters have been seen of which each shell was nine inches thick, whence they may be guessed to be more than 900 years old. One million to two million oysters are produced by a single parent, and their scarcity may be accounted for by the fact that man is not the only oyster-eating animal. The starfish loves the oyster and preys upon it unceasingly. A variety of whelk is also very fond of young oysters, to get at which it bores right through the shell and sucks the fish up through the hole thus made.

RIGHT UP TO DATE.

(Benson's Plaster is Pain's Master.)

These are days of records and of the beating of records, Benson's Plaster, for quickness of action and thoroughness of cure, has no records to best except its own. Benson's Plaster, always the best, always the leader, is today better than ever. It sticks to the skin but never sticks in its tracks. It marches on.

The people not only want to be cured but cured quickly—and Benson's Plaster does it. Coughs, colds, lumbago, asthma, bronchitis, liver and kidney complaints, and other ills approachable by an external remedy, yield to Benson's as few do to any other. Neither Belladonna, Strengthening or Casticum plasters are to be compared with Benson's. People who have once tested the merits of Benson's Plaster have no use for any other external remedy.

More than 5,000 physicians and druggists (and a thousand times as many non-professional persons) have called Benson's Plaster one of the few (3) home remedies that can be trusted.

Fifty-five highest awards have been made to it in competition with the best known plasters of Europe and America. Better proof of its merits is inconceivable. Be sure to get the genuine.

For sale by all druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States, on receipt of 25c each.

Sanbury & Johnson, Mfg. Chemists, N.Y.

A SONG-WRITING PRINCE.

Duleep Singh, Whose Grandfather Owned the Kohinoor Diamond a Musical Enthusiast.

Prince Duleep Singh, by right of succession entitled to the throne of the Maharajah Runjeet Singh, is a song composer of more than ordinary merit. He inherited the talent from his father, who left among his papers the manuscript of an opera which Prince Duleep Singh has declared his intention of having scored for orchestra and presented at Covent Garden, London says the Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

The prince, who leads the life of an English country gentleman at Hockley wood hall, Norfolk, and who is captain in a volunteer regiment was educated at Eton and Cambridge, and married, some three years ago, the youngest daughter of the earl of Coventry.

His annual pension from the British government is £50,000, about $250,000. He belongs to several fashionable clubs, and for two years was honorary aide de camp to Lieut. Gen. Buller, when that gentleman was in command at Halifax, N. S.

The famous Kohinoor diamond, now one of the English crown jewels, was the property of his grandfather, Runjeet Singh. This extraordinary personage, whose sole legacy from his father was a troop of cavalry, acquired the vast territory bounded by the Indus and the Sutlej, and became owner of Cashmere to the snowy ranges and beyond. His treasure in cash, jewels and horses and elephants was estimated at $50,000,000.

Prince Duleep Singh, frank and democratic in manner, is a musical enthusiast, and travels up to London for every concert of importance. During the past winter he has been engaged on another volume of songs, now nearly completed. There is nothing of the oriental in his music, which savors of the French school.
