

LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN NEARBY

VILLAGES OF SNYDER COUNTY

PREPARED EXPRESSLY FOR THE POST

BY ITS CORPS OF CORRESPONDENTS

DUNDORE.

They say that the reason we give away so much good advice is because we have no use for it ourselves.

The corn husking rally in Wagner's field surpassed all ever seen in our township.

'Squire Sechrist's pumpkin at Dundore's store defies competition, it weighs 64 lbs. and is of fine quality.

George Kratzer lost a valuable horse under very suspicious circumstances.

Ed. Witmer and Norton Hendricks are the favorite butchers this season.

George Campbell is improving, but yet confined to his room.

H. F. Witmer is selling coal for lime burning.

Our coal diggers have suspended operations for this season.

Our public schools, the boast of our country, ought to do good work for the next ninety days, and the patronage ought to be liberal.

Thanksgiving is here, and we ought to be thankful for all blessings and one of them is the POST.

The overseers of the poor of Union, Penn and Washington twps. and Selingsgrove ought to consolidate and have one poor house for the four districts and save money by it.

J. H. Wise is supplying the shoe factory at Selingsgrove with coal.

James A. Wise wants to buy a road horse.

Jacob Kerstetter bought some real estate of Henry Hoover of Herndon.

Those turkeys that escaped Thanksgiving should remember that New Year is not far off.

N. T. Dundore is selling Christmas candy at prices within the reach of all.

George Campbell killed a porker that weighed 435 lbs.

J. W. Himmelfreich of Lewisburg was in town on business.

Joseph H. Middlesworth wife and little boy spent Saturday and Sunday with H. C. Ulsh and family.

There is a great deal of mining props, lumber, etc., shipped from this place.

Why is it that the farmers and land owners allow hunters from a distance to come here almost daily with a lot of dogs, and over run their land and have all the game especially quail shot and taken away? We see them boarding the trains with whole strings of them. This should not be tolerated as those little innocent birds are a great protection to the farmers' crops. We would not care to raise our voice if they were hunters of the neighborhood, but to the strange hunters we have the objection. Farmers let us arouse and put a stop to his wholesale slaughter of insectivorous game on our premises by foreign hunters. We pay the taxes and we should say who may or may not hunt upon our farms and wood lands.

UNION TOWNSHIP.

Oliver Aucker, after working all summer at Riverside, came home to spend the winter.

Master C. Yeager of Yeagertown is visiting his grand-mother, Mrs. Sarah Mitchell.

Inclement Weather Brings Coughs, Colds and Catarrh.

Inclement weather begins when autumn ends. The great objection to our climate is that it alternates between the heat of the tropics and the rigors of the Arctic.

The system becomes relaxed by the effects of the heat, and the first cold snap of winter sows the seed of thousands of cases of chronic catarrh which in a large per cent. of cases will end fatally.

Congressman Horace G. Snover, of Port Austin, Mich., writes from House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"I have found Peruna a very efficient and speedy remedy for a persistent and annoying cough resulting from catarrhal trouble."—Horace G. Snover.

President Wm. Ubelaker Uses Peruna as a Safeguard Against Inclement Weather.

Wm. Ubelaker, President of the Lake View Lodge of Foresters, writes from 337 North Clark St., Chicago, Ill., the following letter:

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.: Gentlemen—For years past when I have been exposed to wet or inclement weather, my chest would hurt me and I would have serious indigestion, and I would be laid up for a day or two, causing inconvenience and pain.

One of my lodge friends advised me to try Peruna, as it had helped him, and I found that a bottle cured me.

If I feel badly now I at once take two or three doses, and I find it keeps me in fine health. Peruna is worthy of every one's confidence.—WM. UBELAKER.

It is only just ordinary good, common sense to provide against inclement weather. If you have the slightest cold, cough, sneezing, or any other indication that you are "under the weather," a few doses of Peruna will put you right.

Mrs. Lavina E. Walker, who holds the highest state office of the Ladies of the Illinois G. A. R., which is Department Chaplain, writes the following letter:

WESTERN SPRINGS, ILL. The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.: Gentlemen—"You have my sincere gratitude for placing before suffering women a medicine which has proven such a blessing as Peruna has.

"I have used it myself when much worn out, and found most gratifying results, and a number of the women of our Order suffering with weakness peculiar to women, have been wonderfully helped and cured by Peruna."—Lavina E. Walker. Address The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, O., for a free copy of Dr. Hartman's latest book on catarrh.

MRS. LAVINA WALKER.

Might Be Worse.

She—I think that doctor is just as mean as he can be!

He—What's he done?

"Vaccinated me on the right arm, and I can't use it at all."

"It might be worse."

"I can't see how."

"He might have vaccinated you on the tongue."—Yonkers Statesman.

Very Progressive.

"Is Van Allen a progressive young man?"

"Very."

"I don't believe it. Where is he when the rest of us are laboring over our ledgers?"

"Playing progressive encher with the janitor."—Chicago Daily News.

Accepted the Challenge.

Crimsonbank—He tried to snare me. Yeast—Indeed!

"Yes; and I dared him to do his worst."

"Well?"

"He did; he went home and wrote me some poetry."—Yonkers Statesman.

Realistic Performance.

Papa—Not quarreling, I hope, children?

Tommy—Oh, no. We're just having tableaux.

Papa—What does this one represent?

Tommy—Mamma asking you for a check.—Tit-Bits.

Her Brother Said It.

He—Most people take me for a very serious person, Miss Mallyprop. Now, I presume you would never guess that I am full of humorous conceits.

Miss Mallyprop—I would not, myself; but my brother has told me how very conceited you are.—Leslie's Weekly.

On the Safe Side.

"So Holleritt is going to Europe to finish his vocal studies?"

"Yes; I guess he began to think, from the way the neighbors were acting, that if he stayed here he would see his finish too soon."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Retort Courteous.

"Your colors are very strong," remarked a fashionable lady to an artist who was painting a portrait.

"Yes, madam," replied the artist, glancing at her complexion, "we undoubtedly patronize the same dealer."—Chicago Daily News.

Only One Theory.

"How in the world did she ever come to marry a man with one leg?"

"I don't know, unless it can be traced to her strong liking for damaged goods that come cheap."—Chicago Times-Herald.

The Scale of Shrinkage.

"Why don't you wear all-wool underwear?"

"My dear sir, no man can afford to wear all-wool underwear unless he has five sons growing up."—Chicago Record.

Accounting for It.

"How is it that the weather prophets are so often wrong about the weather?"

"Well, they can't be always non-committal."—Puck.

A Chance to Do Better.

Julius—Would you like to give your life over again?

Edgar—No; but I'd like to spend over again all the money I've spent.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Why Behind the Times.

Mrs. Gnd—She's awfully bad form! Mrs. Doreas—Dreadful. She once brought her baby with her when she attended a mothers' meeting.—Town Topics.

Ready to Use.
