POPULAR IN CHICAGO.

Porch Parties of Two Which Invar inbly Lead to Love-Making and Eventually to the Altar.

"Oh, Jack!"

That is all the neighbors hear of the porch party-Chicago's newest, dearest summer fad. What they see of it is what the moon chooses to reveal, plus the line of carriages and the strip of carpet to the curb.

From Gross Point to the Indiana line the front porches of the city, says the Chicago American, are proving so many approaches to the altar of Love. Cushions, a rug or two, the tardy moonlight streaming down over the houses opposite-these are the setting and the properties of the comedy. Maidens whose lot is cast in a flat or apartment house whirl away to the summer gardens for an ice and a breath of air. But the girl who owns a set of steps in fee simple or by lease murmurs "no" to the invitation of her caller, drops down on the steps beside him when he has finished squeezing the lemons and hums the honeysuckle song while he is hunting for the right quotation. After that it depends on the size of his salary whether they wait a month or a year. Crafty bachelors who know of the porch party seek the chairs on the larding, for the man who takes to the steps is lost. Bores and ineligibles swallow their root beer in the mausoleum of the back parler. An invitation to sit on the steps is equivalent to a rating in the family Bradstreet, and the young man who draws the golf cushion ranks with the double A's. Confirmed cynics rail at the groups in the shadows, chanting "Spoon, spoon, spoon," to a certain popular air as they drift down the street. But both Romeo of Halsted street and Romeo of Drexel boulevard catch the same disease, and Minnie O'Connor and Miss Vivian are one in the knowledge that the porch party wins a solitaire every time.

TREE THAT TURNS TO STONE.

After Being Cut, the Wood Gradually Hardens and in a Few Years Petrifies,

Mr. W. E. Porter has now discovered a tree in Mexico, called by the natives the "chijol," which is of a most re- from the outside. markable nature, reports the New York Herald.

If all that is alleged of this phenomenal tree is correct it will some day revolutionize the stone trade. The "chijol," or the "stone tree," as Mr. Porter designates it, is of enormous proportions, both in circumference and height. It has quite a number of branches spreading out widely and carrying leaves of a yellowish-green color, something like the myrtle. The wod is extremely fine and in a green state is easily worked, and is not given to either warping or split-

The wonderful part about it is that after being cut the wood gets gradually harder, and in the course of a few years it is absolutely petrified. whether left in the open air or buried in the ground.

From this wood houses can be built that would in a few years become completely fireproof and would last as though built of stone. As the wood does not, even in its completely petrified state, change either its color or its finely grained surface, it offers indeed great possibilities for new and artistic embellishments in the style of our buildings, both interiorly and exterlorly, besides the advantage of its being fireproof.

Looks Suspicious. Is it a sign, or is it not, And one that needs attention due, That, when the cashier buys a yacht He means to be a skipper, too?

A large proportion of the failures in Ife are to be found in the ranks of the chronic leaners. Everywhere we go we meet earnest, conscientious workers who are amazed that they do not get on faster. They wax eloquent over their fancied wrongs, the injustice that confines them to inferior grades, while persons with no more education, ability or perseverance than they possess are advanced over their heads. To the casaal observer, writes O. S. Marden, in Success, they seem to have cause for grievance; but when we analyze these people we find what the trouble really is. They are incapable of independent action. They dare not make the slightest move without assistance from some outside source, the advice or spinion of some one on whose judgment they are wont to rely. They have no confidence in themselves-do not trust their own powers. They have never learned to stand squarely on their feet, to think their own thoughts and make their own decisions. They have leaned upon somebody from childhood, all through the formative period of character building, until a habit of leaning is chronic. Any facalty which is unused for a long time loses its power. It is a law of nature that we must use or lose. If a man ceases to exercise his muscles they soon become weak and flabby. The same inexorable law governs man's mental powers. So the men and women who have never learned the fundamental lesson of self-reliance, who have never used their God-given faculties in reasoning with themselves, making their own decisions and in being their own final court of appeal, grow up weaklings, parasites. God intended them to stand alone, to draw upon His inexhaustible power without stint. He meant them to be oaks, but they have become vines. Not realizing that all growth is from within, they

Repairing Neatly

Never thought of such sign for a medicine did you? Well, it's a good sign for Scott's Emulsion. The body has to be repaired like other things and Scott's Emulsion is the medicine that does it.

These poor bodies wear out from worry, from over-work, from disease. They get thin and weak. Some of the new ones are not well made-and all of the old ones are racked from long usage.

Scott's Emulsion fixes all kinds. It does the work both inside and out. It makes soft bones hard, thin blood red, weak lungs strong, hollow places full. Only the best materials are used in the patching and the patches don't show through the new glow of health.

No one has to wait his turn. You can do it yourself-you
