GENESIS OF A HYMN.

How Ira D. bankey, the Singing Evangelist, Composed "The Ninety and Nine."

In the Ladies' Home Journal Cleveland Moffett tells how the greates of all singing evangelists, Ira D. Sankey, came to give the world a hymn that will live long after his voice is stilled. It was during Mondy and Sankey's first visit to theat Britain. As they were entering the train in Glasgow, Mr. Sankey bought a copy of a penny religious paper called The Christian Age. Looking over it, his eye fell on some verses, the first two of which read thus:

"There were ninety and nine that safely lay In the shelter of the fold."

"Mr. Moody," exclaimed Mr. Sankey, her, and until she becomes hardened "I have found the hymn that I've been

IRA D. SANKEY. (Singing Evangelist and Composer of Many Formous Hymns.)

"What is it?" asked Mr. Moody. "It is about a lost sheep."

Two days later, in Edinburgh, they held a great meeting in the Free Assembly hall. As Dr. Bonar finished, Mr. Moody leaned over the pulpit and asked the singer If he had not a solo for the occasion. The thought of the verses he had read in the penny paper came to Mr. Sankey's mind, and, opening his scrapbook, in which he had pasted the clipping, he placed it before him on the organ, and, after a moment of silent supplication, struck a full chord and began to sing. And note by note came the now famous song. He composed it as he went along. What he sang was the joy that swelled in his own soul, hope that was born, the love for those who needed help. Thus he finished the first stanza.

Then, as he paused and played a few chords, waiting to begin again, the thought came to him: "Can I sing the second stanza as I did the first? Can I remember the notes?" And concentrating his mind once more for the effort, he began to sing. So he went on through for five stanzas and after the services he put the melody in music.

OLDEST POSTMASTER.

file Name Is Roswell Beardsley and His Appointment Dates Back te 1828,

Roswell Beardsley, of North Lansing, N. Y., is unquestionably the oldest postmaster in the United States, if not in the world. He was born in 1809, and in 1828 was appointed by John Quincy Adams at the request of Wiliam H. Seward, a rising politician in Auburn, N. Y., and a law partner of the late millionaire, Nelson Beardsley, a brother of Roswell. Mr. Beardsley, now 92 years old, has held the office continuously since that time, and recently celebrated the seventy-third anniversary of his appointment. He has always given entire satisfaction to the public, never having been reprimanded for any lack of duty, and ever commanding the love and respect of all who know him. Until within a few years he has always made out his quarterly reports himself, and though now unable to perform actual labor he visits the office daily and knows what is going on.

The receipts the first year were $19.53; now they are from $200 to $300. It is therefore apparent that though regarded "well to do," if not wealthy, his money has not been made in the post office but by general store, farmng and other interests. He was invited to Washington at the last inaugural by the president-his exnerses with two attendants to be met -but was then too feeble to undertake

Cen. John S. Mosby Tells a Lincoln Anecdate Which line Never Been Printed.

Gen. John S. Mosby, the famous guerrilla, relates an incident of his visit to Washington during the war. He went there with the intention of trapping President Linealn, but his plans were circumvented at the last moment. Gen. Mosby had reached the confines of the capital and had halted on a hill overlooking the city when he met an old German woman who was going in with her morning's marketing. She displayed a pair of shears hanging from her apron. Their presence suggested a happy thought to the confederate leader. Requesting their use for a moment he carefully sheared off a lock of his abundant hair, and, placing it in a scaled envelope, asked her to see that the package was delivered in person to the president. Consent was easy, and, strange to say, the messenger carried out her pledge, handing the envelope to Lincoln, who, on opening it, read: "Here's a lock of my hair. I hope in a few days to have the privilege of carrying away your entire

GOLDEN TEXT.-The Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved.-Acts 2:17. NOTES AND COMMENTS

The lesson to be studied is Perer's sermon, Acts 2:11-10, and the results in the great increase in the number of disciples. Peter's sermon had three main divisions:

(a) Prophecy familied Vs [12].
(b) Jesus the Christ, As. East.
(c) The call to repentance, Vs. 37-49.

The first two of the we considered n the lesson of last week. This week we take up the third, the call to resentance. After recalling that a Mesiah had been promised and showing that Jesus was the Messiah, Peter howed that salvation should thencetorth come only through faith in the Isen Christ. Peter put the tr hin he strongest possible way in walch it could be put. He was speaking to many who had been present when Pilate had offered to release desus. They had eried out: "Crucity Him, give us Barrabas." Most had sympahized with the sen ment whether present to speak it or not. "Therefore," said Peter, "let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have rucified, both Lord and Christ.' "Whom ye crucified." That echoed n their ears. "Men and brethren." hey cried, "what shall we do?" Then Peter pointed out the way. Note the steps: (1) repent, (2) be baptized, (3) receive the gift of the Holy Ghost. Repentance is not mere sorrow for

in. Many a man has been sorry for his sin, but has not then put his back to it. Repentance is a turning away from sin toward God. Be baptized! This for two reasons: (1) because it is in imitation to the act of Jesus Christ, whom we are to serve, and (2) because of the remission of our sins. Christ forgives sins, and it is in His name that disciples are buptized. Emphasis should be put upour the word "remission," If you have re-"Yes; you see, she is always ailing, pented and your sins have been fornd I really need somebody to experi- given, forget them. You will have to go for forgiveness for other sins, but do not allow yourself to be burdened with the old forgiven sin, it has been Received the Gift of the Holy Ghost .-This shows the essential democracy of the kingdom of Heaven. The gift of the spirit of Christ is not alone or hose who receive it on Pentecost, but 'unto you and to your children." It means the gift of power to resist evil and to help others to resist.

The result of the sermon was the conversion of 3,000 men and women, There had been 500 followers be ore. In one day it had increased ala id. This was the beginning of the church of Christ. Jesus had been a Jew, the apostles were dews, most of the new converts, if not all, were dor less: lews, yet here was now a body of people who "continued steadfastly is the apostles' doctrine and fellowship, and in breaking of bread, and in proyers." They were still dews, for they met daily in the temple, but they were Christian Jews. Notice the "gladness and singleness of heart," verse 46. The Christian life should be full of joy. It is the complex things of this world that bring sorrow and perplexly. The Christian life is one of singleness of purpose. Therefore i is glad. Another thing worth not og is that they had "favor with all the people." Not all Christians are popular. All of the apostles suffered from persecution. Christ Himself, true, pure and hely as no other man has been, was hounded to death by His enemies. Yet it remains true that the world admires a cirtuous man. A man effice a sebing from the world-by . . . s-hind his conviction, and w - s all in the spiritual realm for he
