To the Republican Voters of Snyder

County: Having been urged personally and by letter by farmers, business men, laboring men and other representative Republicans to stand for the nomination for Assembly, I desire to thank all my friends for their encouragement and assurances of support, but I could not, under the circumstances, consent to enter a canyass in the dead of winter, when many of my personal friends on account of age be kept away from the polls.

I know that my friends earnestly desired me to become a candidate, and I regret that our party management of recent years has been influenced by factional feuds and framed, in its primary work, more by a selfish than by a popular interest. I have always, so far as I perronally have been concerned, been opposed to early primary nominations for the reason that aside from preventing many voters on account of old age or long distance and inclement weather, from getting to the polls, they simply mean, in the first instance, "political speculation" benefit a few ulick of Kline's Grove, for killing men at the expense of the majority, If I understnd the public sentiment correctly, I am positive that the people themselves will, at a distant time, insist on an alteration of the rules so as to make a mid-winter nomination a political impossibility.

I am at any time ready to strike a blow at that prejudice which takes from the voter and the tax-payer any part of his right to participate in public affairs and I stand prepared to assist my friends anywhere and at any time to restore our party practice to that good old method which will guarantee to every man a fair field and no favors. Every citizen and every tax-payer should have an equal right with every other citizen and every other tax-payer in public as well as private matters and as a citizen and tax-payer of Snyder County, I desire to assure my friends that no public or private call will be treated lightly by me when I am accorded a just and fair opportunity to serve them. Yours respectfully,

CHAS. MILLER.

Something New and Good.

Among the many new flowers and vegetables for this year is one that is sure to give satisfaction.

There has long been a demand for a Table Beet with deep bronzed foliage and also a deep blood flesh.

The Early Deep Scarlet Teunisball combines these two qualities. The leaves are purple, the root round, almost a solid deep scarlet. Early as the Eclipse, larger, equally tender and of a deeper and more uniform red; altogether the best developed of any type of Red Turnip Beet. Every Gardner should have it.

In the catalogue of D. Landreth & Sons, 21 S. 6th St., Philadelphia, Pa., will be found a full description of this variety, with hundreds of other leading and good varieties that can be depended upon.

Mention the Post when writing for catalogue and you will save 10 per cent. on seeds purchased.

HON. WESLEY R. ANDREWS,

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11, 1902.

Ever since the announcement by the friends of Hon, Wesley R. Andrews, f Crawford County, that they proposed to use all honorable means at their most aggressive fight for the district disposal to give him the nomination for Governor next June, enthusiasm has prinction. I am no man's candidate been kindled throughout the State and many who had before looked with kindly feelings on the candidacy of other aspirant. There he me the at directed toward securing for Snyder sive champions of Mr. Andrews. He is the recipient of the most encoun

County what she has never had, -a reports bot a from individuals and the press. It is evident that those having the welfare of the Republican party at heart want no repetition of the Delamater episode, for disguse the fact as you may there is greater cause for apprehension than is publicly admitted. A gang of interested politiciaes may succeed in forcing the nomination of an objectionable candidate, but the average voter thinks for himself when it comes All druggists refund the money if it to casting the ballot and not infrequently when the election returns come in, fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature the nomines finds himself in the gold and very badly left.

the nominee finds himself in the cold and very badly left. It does not pay to foist the creature of any self-constituted leaders upon the party under the guise of "the people's candidate," for the people have pretty well learned to recognize who is of them as compared to those pliable statesmen who discover that they belong to the hard fisted bourgeois only on occasions when they have an axe to grind. American people will not always

Mr. Andrews is a safe man to whom you can pin your faith. His self-immolation has made him admired by all parties and respected by all factions. They have implicit confidence in his integrity. His official pulchritude is without flaw or blemish. There is no position in the State that his talents do not fit him for with a high degree of excellence. His impartiality and tact are predominant traits in his character. He is at all times fair and caudid, His ready absorption of facts, power of analysis and skill in classification constitute in him a most forceful combination; and his influence though quiet is none the less potential, thus enabling him to readily overcome obstacles that would daunt even a stronger man.

To no class is Wesley R. Andrews more popular than to the old soldier, and what he has done for the grizzled veteran would fill a volume of ample proportions. When the great hosts of the Grand Army of the Republic assemble at the national capital next fall, when old acquaintances will be renewed and new ones formed, no Pennsylvanian will be more sought after by the defenders of the Keystone State than will be Comrade Andrews; and to them will be extended no heartier welcome than that from their fellow soldier and companion of the weary march and the battle field.

Around the Pan.

"The reader may make up his mind to be pleasantly overwhelmed by the opulence and vivacity of "Around the Pan," published by the Nutshell Publishing Company, 1059 Third Avenue,

New York. The wonders begin with the frontispiece picture of President McKinley, drawn in a single line beginning at a point in the check bone and going round and round in a constantly widening circle, with waverings and downbearings of the pen in the proper places to secure detaching and shading. We are told that this portrait "is considered the most unique work of its kind in the world," and if the a me degrees of uniqueness we are willing to believe that this is most the thing of which there are no duplicates. Of course there is text in addition , the color plates. Another feature is a large pictures, and we should be surp is d list of elegant premiums offered for or- indeed to hear from any purchase, the opinion that he had not got his money's worth ($2.00)."
