

Work Weakens Your Kidneys.
 Kidneys Make Impure Blood.
 blood in your body passes through your kidneys every three minutes. The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidneys. Trouble causes quick or unsteady nerves, and makes one feel as though heart trouble, because the heart is acting in pumping thick, kidney-blood through veins and arteries. It is considered that only urinary waste to be traced to the kidneys, modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning there. If you are sick you can make no mistake in coloring your kidneys. The mild, extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Root, the great kidney remedy is used. It stands the highest for its cures of the most distressing cases on its merits. Eighty in fifty-one-dollar size may have a bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, pamphlet telling you how to find have kidney or bladder trouble. This paper when writing Dr. Kilmer, Northampton, N. Y.

RULED BY CURIOSITY.
 Why Americans Seemingly Go Crazy Over Royal Visitors from Old-World Monarchies.
 Foreign critics of America and Americans find something incongruous in the almost universal curiosity of our democratic countrymen in the persons, the habits, the characters and the acts of those who inherit the right to rule, and of their wives, sons, daughters, sisters and cousins and aunts.
 One cannot deny the fact, however it may be explained, nor however contradictory to democratic principles it may be. Moreover, says the Youth's Companion, the country has just given a most conspicuous illustration of the trait. Upon one point it is easy for the amused foreign observer to err. He may fancy that he detects here a longing for royalty and a dissatisfaction with republican simplicity; but every American knows that the desire to see a lion does not imply a wish to own one.
 The trait manifests itself in many ways. The desire of the American girl traveling abroad to be present at court and the willingness of her father to provide the appropriate raiment are expressions of it. What matter if the consciousness that she will carry back to her native place a special distinction because of her bow in court costume to the queen of England or Italy does add a certain attraction to the experience?
 But as the woman who has been presented becomes each year a more familiar object, so the royal visitor bids fair to lose his "rarity value." It is now reported that the king of Belgium, the dowager queen of Italy and the crown prince of Siam, to cite only the best-founded reports, are laying plans for American tours.
 Meanwhile the king of England gives special audiences to American bankers and other monarchs of our business world. It may be that a healthy curiosity—corresponding to that which our royal visitors provoke—exists in more than one palace concerning the men whose energy and brains have won them well-nigh kingly powers of control. Indeed, it need not be feared that either the palace or the American city will suffer through gratifying so natural an instinct.

REV. JOSEPH PARKER.
 London Preacher Who Rebuked King Edward for Brewing Beer and Sabbath Breaking.
 There was a striking scene in the City temple of London, when, during the course of a sermon, Rev. Joseph Parker, D. D., administered a pointed rebuke to King Edward, which was loudly applauded by the congregation. Having alluded to public houses as "trapdoors of hell," Dr. Parker referred to the King's recent brewing of beer while visiting Lord Burton.
 "Pray for me," said the divine, "that I may speak delicately, loyally. If the king brews beer what can be wrong in the subject drinking it? What the king does is likely to be imitated by others. His majesty is more than a man and must regard all questions from a kingly point of view. If the king goes to a Sunday concert, as he did recently, he deals a deadly blow to the Englishman's Sunday. The king cannot attend a nonconformist place of worship, but he can go to a Sunday concert."
 This remark called forth cries of "Shame," and Dr. Parker continued: "If the king, who is the head of the church and defender of the faith, can violate the English Sunday, what can the people do but follow in his steps? I would rather give a great sum of gold than appear to be disloyal; but I cannot be disloyal to Christ, and it is better that these things should be said."
 Rev. Dr. Joseph Parker is a Congregationalist, and has been preaching since 1848. He is noted for his frank utterances. He once startled Christendom by calling on God to damn the sultan. "I say," he exclaimed, "God damn the sultan!"

That Cough Hangs On
 You have used all sorts of cough remedies but it does not yield; it is too deep seated. It may wear itself out in time, but it is more liable to produce la grippe, pneumonia or a serious throat affection. You need something that will give you strength and build up the body.
SCOTT'S EMULSION
 will do this when everything else fails. There is no doubt about it. It nourishes, strengthens, builds up and makes the body strong and healthy, not only to throw off this hard cough, but to fortify the system against further attacks. If you are run down or emaciated you should certainly take this nourishing food medicine.

DEHORNING CATTLE.

How to Construct a Cage in Which the Operation Can Be Performed Without Trouble.
 In response to inquiry the National Stockman republishes the subjoined description of a dehorning cage:
 Dimensions, 6 feet long, 4 feet high, 3 1/2 feet wide at top in front and 4 1/2 feet wide at top at back end; bottom or foot board a foot wide, with seven cleats 1 1/2 inch thick, a foot long, nailed across it to keep cattle from slipping; footboard 2 inches thick and rests on three 2 by 4 cross-pieces a foot long. To these are bolted upright pieces 7 feet long, 2 by 4 inches, for nailers for sides of cage. Across the top cage are used two strips 1 by 4 inches for each set of uprights, bolted one on each side of upright. The inside of this frame is boarded up with inch plank of convenient widths. The lower 2 1/2 feet should close enough to prevent animals putting their feet through the cracks.

 On left side, 3 1/2 feet from bottom, should be used a board a foot wide and a foot longer than the cage. In this bore two-inch holes four inches from sides of board. Through these put a piece of rope and tie on outside. This loop is put over the animal's nose and drawn tight by the use of a hand spike. An upright lever is used to catch the back of the head and draw it to the left side of the cage. This upright should be a strong 2 by 4 inch, long, bolted to bottom crosspiece that holds the tops of the two front uprights in place. This lever is thrown to the right when open for the animal to enter. As soon as the head passes it is pushed to the left side and fastened as tight as required by a small iron pin slipped through the crosspiece at top back of it.
 As soon as the head is fastened a handspike is slipped through the cage back of the animal and another over the neck to hold the head down. These remain in place usually without holding, the operator standing in front while taking off the horns. The smallest animal having horns up to a bull weighing 1,800 pounds has been dehorned in this sized cage. Animals weighing up to 1,200 pounds pass right through the cage when the holding lever is thrown back against the right side. Cows heavy with calf and larger animals back out of the cage.

PURE MILK SUPPLY.
 Upon It, Say Sanitary Authorities, Depends the Health of Entire Communities.
 In nothing that is bought for human food is the necessity of cleanliness and purity more manifest than in milk. Meats and vegetables are for the most part thoroughly cooked before they are eaten, fruits are peeled and nuts are shelled; but milk is more or less injured in flavor and in nutritive properties by boiling, and has no protective cover to keep it clean. It is therefore essential for the consumer to know the history of the milk he gets.
 In view of the importance of this question the provider for the family should if possible himself inspect the dairy his milk comes from, and should satisfy himself that perfect cleanliness is the rule in every stage. The cow barn should be well ventilated and sunny, the cows should be healthy and clean, the milker should have well-washed hands, and the udder should be washed before each milking.
 In many dairies and farms all these essentials are now strictly observed, and if the milk is then bottled at once and the bottle is kept sealed until delivered, one may feel reasonably certain that the milk is fit to drink. If this certainty is denied one, especially if there are young children in the family, the only recourse is sterilization. Boiling for a few minutes will kill all germs, but at the same time it kills the milk, which becomes a different fluid and, as many physicians believe, less nutritive than raw milk.
 Another and less objectionable process is what is called "Pasteurization," by which is meant keeping the milk at a temperature of about 170 degrees for 20 minutes, but never letting it come to a boil.
 Either boiling or Pasteurization will destroy the germs which cause acid fermentation or putrefaction, as well as the germs of tuberculosis; but if these changes have occurred, boiling will not annihilate the poisonous products already formed; it will not make bad milk good.
 The addition of any of the various "preservatives" to milk is only an exchange of one poison for another, and should be condemned.—Youth's Companion.
