Letter to J. N. Thompson,

MIDDLEBURGH, PA.

Dear Sir: Mr. H. H. Stephenson, Cashier of Oil City, (Pa.) Savings Bank writes: "Nine years ago I painted my house with your paint. It wore so well, I want to use it again."

That's nothing wonderful except for the fact that the soft coal region of Pennsylvania is pretty hard on paint with its oil, smoke and grime. All we see in it is that Devoe is good for nine years sometimes. There are thousands of people that know it, and millions that don't.

There's the rub! We print for the millions; we want to make paint for the millions.

Mr. Cashier, do you know that Devoe lead and zinc is worth twice as much as old-fashion painter's paint, lead and oil, and costs no more? Is 100 per cent a fair profit in your business?

Three-quarters of the people paint lead and oil mixed by hand; while the U. S. Government use lead, zinc and oil ground together by machinery—same proportions as Devoe lead and zinc. The majority never is right about anything.

Yours Truly,

F. W. DEVOE & CO.

Views have already been appointed on twenty-eight bridges. It is estimated that the next Legislature will be asked to repeal the law, as it was never intended to have the broad scope it has assumed.

MEMORIAL SERMON.

The members of Capt. G. W. Ryan Post and Rhoads lady cadets attended divine services at the Lutheran church Sunday evening.

The pastor, Rev. W. K. Diehl, was selected to deliver the annual memorial sermon and a masterly production it was. The church was filled to the door with an expectant audience and he treat they received at the hands of the pastor, was one that could not fail to please every one who heard it.

The skillful manipulation of language clothed with thoughtful suggestions, the purity and precision of diction encircled the hearts of his hearers that one and all were carried along with the speaker, inspired with the lofty ideas of the man and the soldier which was the theme of his discourse.

It was a sermon of unusual merit and won for the speaker the highest words of commendation.

Only a Katydid.

Several weeks ago Prof. Billhardt brought a piece of a rose stalk to this office. On the twig were the scales of some unknown insect. The Professor asked us to send it to State College as it was something entirely new.

We sent the twig as directed and very promptly received a reply from the horticulturist that the scales contained the eggs of a Katydid, and if the twig were put in a warm box for a few days, we would have a nice crop of Katydids.

We learned what Katydid scales looked like.
