THE SAFEST PLACE IN SUNBURY TO BUY CLOTHING Now.

France, according to the reports of our consuls, manufactures annually 143,299,000 pounds of candy. Of this, Chicago is a Gandy Center. 66,138,000 pounds are classed as bonbons, and 77,161,000 as chocolate. Contrary to general belief, only ten per cent. of the candy product of France is exported, fully 90 per cent. being eaten almost as fast as it is manufactured by the French people. The sales in December, 1901, and January, 1902, alone amounted to $19,300,000, this representing one-half the home consumption for a year. Great Britain produces 160,000,000 pounds of candy annually, and exports the greater part of it. Germany produces about 139,000,000 pounds annually, and sends abroad more and more confectionery each year. In France the chief centers of candy manufacture are Paris, Bordeaux, and Lyons. In the United States, more candy is manufactured in Chicago than in any other city except New York. The several candy factories in the windy city are among the largest in the world, use about 100,000 barrels of sugar every year, and turn out annually about 75,000,000 pounds of candy, valued at $15,000,000. The heavy output of Chicago candy factories, according to the Inter Ocean, has greatly increased the confectionery product of the United States in the last ten years. The census reported a confectionery product of $25,007,033 in the United States in 1890, and a product of $25,997,101 in 1890. By 1900 this had increased to $150,000,000. The most of this American candy is eaten at home, as our exports of candy and confectionery for the nine months ended March, 1902, amounted to only $37,000, and our imports of foreign candies were very light. The truth is that Chicago manufactures annually one-half as much candy as all of France, and that the United States manufactures more candy than France, Germany and England together.

American Medicine sounds a warning note that should be carefully heeded. For years, the dangers of Hypnotism. It says, one has repeatedly noticed in the newspapers accounts of the evil results of hypnotism induced "for fun" or for profit by ignorant amusees, traveling showmen and quacks. Just recently there have been two most pitiful illustrations. In one, a boy was put into a morbid psychic condition by a wandering mountebank and became highly insane, perhaps permanently. In another, if we may trust the daily papers, an entire family in Illinois, a man, his wife and five children, were rendered comatose by an "amateur hypnotist," who had succeeded in awakening only two of the children in four days, the others being still asleep. There should evidently be laws against such criminal folly by ignorant people, who know nothing of medicine, and less of psychology. No physician doubts the strange reality of hypnotism; indeed, for the little good it has done or useful purpose served, it appears to be such a dangerous agency that only the most careful scientists should experiment with it. There is, undoubtedly, a world of mysteries about mental activity that remain to be cleared up, but nothing can be gained by giving them over to ignorance and charlatanism to exploit. Our progress is slow enough when the conscientious expert studies them. By the way, these morbid human vivisection experiments of the careless "amateur scientists" and ignorant mesmerists, are without concern for the anti-vivisectionist. Why? They are cruel and harmful. If they were done in a laboratory and by scientific men, if the illustrations we have described had been conducted in this way, what a furor there would be!

American kid leathers are growing in favor abroad, especially in Australia. Recently one of the largest morocco manufacturers in Lynn, Mass., made a shipment to that country of 3,500 dozen skins, which shipment is said to be the largest ever made from there for foreign parts. It is not so very long ago when the best kid shoes were made from skins imported from France. Now France is buying large quantities of kid from this country.

A lecturer on the mistakes of history says that Ethan Allen did not utter at the taking of Fort Ticonderoga the ringing phrase associated with the event in the mind of every schoolboy. Instead of informing the British commander that he demanded the surrender of the stronghold "in the name of the great Jehovah and the continental congress," he shouted: "Come out of that, you old rat!"

Women seem to make pretty good lawyers. Two of them, according to the New York World, have sued a wealthy woman client for bills of over $9,000 each.

The only thing more unsightly than a billboard, remarks the Kansas City Star, is an unobstructed view of the premises behind it.

A company has been organized in Michigan to produce sugar from corn.

Recognition at Last. "You are the most hateful, detestable, abominable villain I have ever met!" exclaimed the indignant woman.

"You fill me with gratitude, madam," replied the gloomy traveler, whose disagreeable manners had offended her. "I have been a stage villain for 20 years, and yours is the first kind word I have ever heard."—Chicago Tribune.

LABOR IS AHEAD

Penrose's Committee on Immigration Has Important Hearing.

KEEP THE CHEAP LABOR OUT

That is a Demand Which It is Proposed to Meet By Measures Now Pending Before the United States Congress.

(Special Correspondence.) Philadelphia, June 10.—Every workman, every employer of labor, every wage earner and every capitalist must necessarily be interested in the legislation which is now before congress calling for the restriction of immigration.

Senator Boies Penrose, as chairman of the committee on immigration of the United States senate, presided over an interesting meeting of that committee a few days ago, when the Shattuck bill regulating the entrance of immigrants into this country and seeking to bar objectionable persons, was reviewed and a hearing was given representatives of workmen's organizations and other organizations interested in the restriction of immigration.

Senator Penrose has been a leader in the movement for the restriction of immigration, and he is confident that there will be remedial legislation passed before the end of this session of congress.

Charles H. Litchman, who was one of the organizers of the Knights of Labor, and who has been interested in labor organizations for many years, was one of the star witnesses before Senator Penrose's committee. Mr. Litchman spoke of the great need of curtailing the number of immigrants coming to this country from Southern Italy, Austria-Hungary and Poland. He said he recognized the fact that this country has grown to its present prosperous condition largely through the labor, the industry and the enterprise of immigrants who came here 30 or 40 years ago.

Since 1890, however, he said, fully five millions of immigrants have landed in this country, four millions of whom should never have been permitted to set foot on these shores.

He said that in recent years the undesirable immigrants have been settling in the large cities of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Illinois, and that there is serious danger to the peace of the country and to life and property of our citizens from the people huddled in these settlements.

He said the Knights of Labor had begun the agitation against the indiscriminate admission of immigrants by bringing about the passage of the law prohibiting the importation of labor under contract.

LABOR MUST BE CONSIDERED.

This was a good move, but by far a more important measure today would be one to keep from this country the hordes of undesirable foreigners who are coming into competition with American labor and endangering the institutions of the country.

He spoke of the combinations of capital into trusts and the amalgamation of labor throughout the country, and with these two great contending forces it was eminently proper that the demands of labor should be recognized by congress, so that capital should not have an unfair advantage through the importation of cheap labor.

He demanded that not only should there be restrictions at the great seaports of the country, but that there should be a more efficient service on the Canadian border, where thousands of immigrants who have been stopped at New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, ultimately find their way into this country.

Senator Penrose frequently interrupted Mr. Litchman and showed keen interest in the subject and a desire to have the committee fully enlightened as to existing conditions, so that he could have the hearty co-operation of his colleagues in pressing for the passage of the bill.

Senator Penrose expressed the opinion that a majority of the congressmen will be favorable to the bill, but that there will undoubtedly be objections to some of its provisions.

EDUCATIONAL TEST.

The educational test, which requires an immigrant to be able to read part of the constitution of the United States in some language before he or she shall be admitted to this country, was generally favored by those who appeared before Senator Penrose's committee.

The general thought was that this restriction would bar out a large percentage of the most undesirable classes of immigrants.

There is one provision of the bill which a number of the congressmen are opposing. It is that introduced by Senator Penrose himself. It prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquors within the enclosures where immigrants are detained pending examination for their fitness to enter the country.

Even the chief immigrant inspector, Mr. Williams, from New York, opposed Senator Penrose in this particular. He informed the senator that he saw no reason why the sale of beer should be prohibited there and allowed in New York city. He told of instances in which mothers gave their children beer instead of milk from bottles.

Senator Penrose wanted to know if it were not true that while liquor was being freely sold, it was difficult to purchase milk at the New York station. To this the reply was made the while that had been complained of some time before, the matter had been remedied.

Senator Penrose has received several thousand letters of commendation for his action in introducing this clause for the prohibition of the sale of liquor at immigrant stations. They come from members of the Women's Christian Temperance Unions and similar organizations throughout the country.

HARRISBURG IS GAY

Thousands of Marching Republicans Attend State Convention.

AND HARMONY WILL PREVAIL

There is Every Reason to Believe the Nominee Will Be Triumphantly Elected by Large Majorities in November Next.

(Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, June 10.—The city is thronged with Republicans in attendance upon the state convention, which will be held here tomorrow.

Each candidate is backed by thousands of boomers and they are all full of confidence.

The city is gaily decorated with bunting and the streets are filled with marching hosts, with banners flying and all bedecked with badges indicating their respective favorites.

The Elkinites are pretty generally located about the Hotel Lochiel, while the supporters of Judge Pennypacker, and especially the Philadelphia delegations, are at the commonwealth.

The state committee meets this afternoon to make up the temporary roll and tonight the platform makers will have a conference to complete their labors preparatory to submitting a draft of the platform to the committee on resolutions in the morning.

The convention leaders of all shades of opinion on the governorship are a unit in their purpose to make the Pennsylvania platform typical of the state, and the importance of the party organization the greatest in the country, and the most influential in the national Republican party.

The administration of President Roosevelt will, of course, be cordially indorsed. The policy of the president in recognizing the independence of Cuba will be pointed to as another evidence of the integrity of the American nation and of how the American people keep their word.

It will be pointed out that the policy of the Republican party will be to give the same degree of independence to the inhabitants of the Philippines as soon as they shall show their ability to govern themselves.

The conduct of the American arms at home and abroad will be praised, and the present prosperity of the country will be attributed to the success of the Republican party.

Conditions of today with those of under Democratic rule will no doubt be contrasted and continued prosperity will be assured to the people.

The great problem for the control of organized capital will without doubt be touched upon. There will naturally be a strong indorsement of the action of the Roosevelt administration in its proceedings against the beef trust.

TO REMEMBER M'KINLEY.

The memory of President McKinley will not be forgotten. A plank has been prepared which, if adopted by the convention, will fittingly express the sense of sorrow and regret of the citizens of Pennsylvania over the loss of President McKinley, who was so dear to the hearts of the Republicans of Pennsylvania.

There are a dozen or more subjects which have been proposed for reference in the platform, but it will not be until after the leaders get together and carefully go over the whole subject that an accurate forecast can be given.

It is believed that the convention will be harmonious. Up to date the best of good feeling has prevailed and there is no good reason why the work of the convention should not pass off quietly and with the outcome assuring the triumphant election of the entire Republican ticket.

The Democratic state convention will be held at Erie on the 25th inst.

There is a big row brewing among the members of the minority party.

Some of the workers want Pattison to run for governor and many say they do not want him, as he had his share of honors from the Democratic party and they believe in handing the honors around.

There is a strong element in favor of Guthrie, of Allegheny, and others favor former Judge Gordon, of Philadelphia, who is today stronger with the Democrats of Philadelphia than is Pattison, in the opinion of some of the leaders in the Democratic party.

The Gordon element have no time for Pattison and Pattison men have no time for Gordon, so between the two there is liable to be some hot fighting at the coming state convention.

Twice Rejected.

Wederly—Was that your sister I saw with you last evening?

Singleton—Yes; one of them.

Wederly—Why, I wasn't aware that you had more than one.

Singleton—I have three. One by birth and two by annexation.—Chicago Daily News.

Soaked in Rum.

"What's a wreck, pop?"
"A wreck, my son, is a disaster on the water."
"Not always, pop; there's old Red-nose; he's a wreck, but water had nothing to do with it."—Yonker's Statesman.
