Before we begin to live this life, fear and anger must be eliminated. These are two great forces of evil, depression, ill health and ill success.

There is something more than sentiment in this. It is a fact of science that anger is poison. Rage infects the entire system. Any physician will testify to this. Fear operates in the same way.

Good health depends largely upon good temper and freedom from fear, and success depends upon good health and hopeful minds. It may be laid down as axiomatic that, giving good health, every man obtains the measure of success of which he is worthy. Without good health no amount of natural ability or acquired learning can win for him what belongs to him.

Get rid of anger and fear.

Do Not Worry.

Let your soul never be disturbed, ignore what worry is. If an affair does not succeed as well as you expected, you must rejoice before God at everything He is pleased to do. The things that appear most important to nature are only trifles in the estimation of a christian, because nothing has any importance for him except what God wishes. Trouble and worry are for hell; the children of God ought not to know them. Work in all peace and tranquility; do your utmost according to the nature of the things by which you are surrounded, and to the circumstances in which you find yourself; leave the rest to the care of God's Providence. If He is pleased to crown your labors with success, rejoice before Him and give Him most humble thanks; if on the other hand, everything goes wrong, bless Him still with your whole soul. A christian who acts thus always passes his life in peace, in joy and happiness. At the end of this miserable life, which is of little account, there will come a happiness of which I will not undertake to speak to you for fear of not doing so worthily.—Ex.
